Castro Power Reduced As Top Red Takes Job

INTERPRETIVE:

'One-Man Rule' Ending

BY FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
(UPI-Latin-American Editor)

Replacement of Fidel Castro as head of Cuba's all-powerful land reform institute presages open Communist assumption of rule in Cuba and a partial political eclipse of the premier.

This does not mean Castro will disappear from the Cuban political picture. It means his one-man rule of Cuba has ended. Henceforth, all state decisions will be made on a collective basis.

Castro himself forecast this political eclipse. In recent speeches he publicly proclaimed belief policy decisions under state socialism could not be taken by one man. Today's announcement was a logical sequence in that political credo.

The development also lent support to those who interpreted his fervent "I am a Marxist-Leninist" announcements of last December as intended to integrate himself with the hard-core Red hierarchy. It also indicated they did not listen.

HAVANA (UPI)—A veteran Communist, Carlos Rafael-Rodriguez, was named today to succeed Premier Fidel Castro as president of the all-powerful National Land Reform Institute.

The announcement, made discreetly through a cabinet statement in morning newspapers, created a sensation. Much of Castro's power in Cuba has stemmed from the all-embracing authority vested in him as head of the institute.

The institute, described as a state within a state, controls the Cuban economic machine. Its decisions cannot be challenged. Its powers are exempt from constitutional restrictions.

There was no immediate indication whether the move represented an open government takeover by the Communists or whether it constituted recognition of Rodriguez' work in transforming the Cuban economy from a capitalist to a socialist base.

IN TOP FIVE
Rodriguez is one of the top five members of the Cuban Communist hierarchy in Cuba.

The brief cabinet statement, made without prior fanfare, did not even mention that Rodriguez was taking over a Castro job. The premier has been president of the institute since its organization in 1959, after enactment of Cuba's controversial land reform law.

U.S. HOLDINGS SEIZED
The institute under Castro has ordered and carried out the confiscation of several billion dollars of Cuban and foreign private investment in land and properties. An estimated $1.25 billion in holdings have been confiscated from U.S. corporations or U.S. citizens.

Rodriguez was last seen in public at Punta del Este where he was credited with the overall planning of Cuba's strategy at the Inter-American conference. He has been an open Communist party member since the mid-1930's.

Editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy, Rodriguez also is a professor of culture at Havana University, a leader in the Cuban version of the cominform, the integrated revolutionary organizations, and a director of the National Planning Commission.

Rodriguez has been a recent target of rebel assassination attempts. He had his most narrow escape from death last September in a roadside ambush on a highway between Matanzas and Havana. He escaped but one of his assailants was slain by bodyguards.

Cuban Walkout From OAS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cuba walked out of the Organization of American States today, saying it was not interested in remaining in the inter-American system.

The Cuban walkout came moments after the president of the OAS council, Alberto Zuleta Angel of Colombia, had recommended that the Punta del Este resolution ousting Cuba from the system be sent to the council's general committee for urgent study.

Cuban delegate Carlos M. Lechuga, who walked out, said the Punta del Este resolution was illegal and that "we are going to retire anyway, we don't want to remain in this organization."

Oran Moslems Riot After Bomb Attack

Too Early For Summit —JFK, Mac

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan today turned down Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal for a March summit conference, but held the door open to a top-level meeting on disarmament before June 1.

Immediately after delivery of United States and British notes in Moscow, Kennedy told a press conference that "of course I would go to the summit" if such action offered real hope of getting an effective disarmament treaty.

The president said his general view is that "we should climb the summit after preparation at a lower level." An 18-nation disarmament meeting is scheduled to start at Geneva March 14; a report to the United Nations is due by June 1.

In the message he said he is "quite ready to participate personally" when a summit session might help reach an agreement.

But at the outset of negotiations—due to begin at Geneva March 14—the participation of government chiefs "might set back, rather than advance, the prospects for disarmament," the U.S. president said.

Kennedy suggested, however, that a review of progress by the heads of government might be needed before June 1, the date set by the U.N. for a first report on the arms talks.

WANTS SPALWORK

A similar message sent by Macmillan suggested that a summit conference should be held after some progress in negotiation is made by foreign ministers. He urged that Khrushchev agree to have foreign ministers open the Geneva talks. Kennedy made the same appeal.

This was the third message in one week exchanged between Moscow and the Western capitals on how to start the Geneva meeting one month from today.

Meanwhile, the official Soviet press indicated that Khrushchev will attend the opening of the 18-nation disarmament talks.

Soviet Position Remains Same

GENEVA (Reuters)—The leaders of the American and British delegations to the nuclear test-ban conference which broke up in failure last month conferred here for two hours today with Soviet delegation leader Semyon Tsarapkin.

Western sources said no change in the Soviet position emerged from the talks, held at Tsarapkin's invitation.

French Police Open Fire

(Times News Services)

ALGIERS — French troops and riot police fired on rioting Algerian Moslem mobs trying to invade the European sector of Oran today after 44 dawn bomb attacks by terrorists in the Arab quarters.

The security forces also used concussion and tear gas grenades during the series of clashes in the west Algerian port city, a stronghold of the extremist Secret Army Organization which has sworn to keep Algeria French. The bombings were blamed on the OAS.

Shortly after noon, the police chief clamped a strict curfew on the Arab sectors of the city. Only security forces were permitted to move into the districts where intermittent bursts of machine gun fire and exploding grenades could be heard far into the afternoon.

Police said nine Algerians were killed and eight wounded in the shootings. An army lieutenant was killed and another lieutenant and four soldiers injured.

The casualties brought the day's toll in Oran and Algiers alone to 15 dead and 23 wounded, and the unofficial 1962 toll to 808 dead and 1,420 wounded.

Officials said they believed the secret army staged its "plastic offensive" as an advance warning to Moslems, who were rumored to be planning demonstrations in Oran Thursday.

MOON FIREMAN

Moslems poured into the streets of Oran's Moslem quarter when the plastic bombs exploded. When firemen arrived to fight blazes in Moslem homes, their way was blocked by crowds of demonstrators egged on by screaming women.

Telephone communications between Algiers and France were cut for several hours when Europeans went on strike.

The strike by the city's anti-Gaule Europeans began Tuesday to protest the arrest of two members of the secret army earlier this week.

REPORT ON TALKS
Meanwhile, French officials and Algerian nationalists were expected to report to their governments today on the progress of secret negotiations aimed at settling the Algerian war.

The talks were reported today to have reached a show-down phase.

French officials disclosed that Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe and Algerian rebel leaders had reached a crisis in talks at an undisclosed hideout, said to be somewhere in France near the Swiss border.

'High Priority' For Technical Education Plan

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

A catalogue of new school policies for this year based on recommendations of the Chant Royal Commission was outlined Tuesday in the legislature by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

"Emphasis is on technical and vocational education, which he said the government has given 'high priority'."

Plans in this field include:

• A tender call in April for a $3,300,000 B.C. Institute of Technology at Burnaby, and appointment of a principal.

• Additions to Burnaby Vocational School worth $1,700,000.

• A $750,000 building to be added to Nanaimo Vocational School with a tender call in the spring.

• A September opening of a new vocational school at Prince George, worth $2,000,000.

• A construction start "early this year" on new schools worth $2,000,000 in the Kootenay and Okanagan areas.

• Legislation at this session providing vocational program in secondary schools.

The education department is spending a total of $4,905,630, excluding the cost of the buildings, on its tech-voc program, said Mr. Peterson.

Further recommendations of the Chant commission which will go into effect in schools include:

• Legislation changing the present classification of schools from elementary, junior high and senior high units to "elementary" and "secondary," with the split at Grade VIII.

• New "occupational" classes in Grade VIII for students better suited to this type of training than further concentrated academic courses.

• Cuts in the pupil-teacher ratio, allowing provincial salary grants on the basis of one teacher for 38 pupils instead of 39.

• Permanent teaching certificates will not be granted until three years of training are completed beyond Grade XII.

• Sweeping curriculum changes are gradually being introduced in all grades.

• A "study of aims" for public schools—a basic policy statement—is being prepared.

• A thorough survey of school libraries will be made by the B.C. Library Association.

Mr. Peterson said Cecil Roper, a business administration teacher at University of British Columbia, will be principal of the new institute of technology, which will house 1,500 students.

It will offer 17 programs of two years' study beyond university entrance level.

Police Use Tear Gas On Children

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Southern Rhodesian police today tossed tear gas for the second successive day at Negro children demonstrating against allegedly inadequate classroom space.

The incidents took place at nearby Highfield Negro Township. Some 400 schoolchildren gathered around the school and when a police car went to the scene, police said, it was stoned. Some school windows were smashed by stones.

Police dispersed the children with tear gas, as they had in a similar protest Tuesday night.

K. Gutu, secretary of the Highfield management board, said that more than 1,000 children in the township between the age of four and 15 are without school places.

Cuban Seeks Asylum

OTTAWA (UPI)—The immigration department said today a co-pilot who jumped his Cubana Airlines plane at Gander, Nfld., today, has asked for transit privileges in order to join his wife in Bogota, Colombia, and that they probably would be granted. It appears Dick Wilson is not going to be a kissing mayor, joining the ranks of Toronto's Nathan Phillips.

Speaking to a group Tuesday the mayor described his first month in office and outlined a few of his duties, one being a $60 presentation to Victoria's first 1962 baby.

"When someone asked me if I was going to kiss it," related the mayor, "I would be surprised how fast I developed a sniffle."

Later the same day Mr. Wilson was visited by Miss Canada and Miss Western Air Lines (a former Miss California).

"But," sighed the mayor, "there were a lot of younger fellows in the office to do the honors with them."

Canada Exports Jump To Communist Lands

OTTAWA (CP) — Increased exports to Communist countries, chiefly Communist China, accounted for just over half of the gain in all exports of Canadian products during the first 10 months of last year.

Shipments to 11 Communist countries during the period totalled $212,823,525, more than four times the $52,515,425 in exports during January, October of 1960, it was shown in figures tabled in the Commons this week.

The increase of $160,278,100 compares with the rise of $316,327,700 in exports of domestic products to all countries. These total shipments advanced 7.2 per cent to $4,688,997,036 from $4,372,669,327.

A large proportion of the export increase to Communist countries resulted from the heavy wheat and barley shipments to Red China. Exports to that country in January, October soared to $114,916,725 from $8,587,549.

There also were sizable gains in exports to Cuba, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Speaking to the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association annual meeting, the minister, who has often expressed a fondness for high-speed travel, said: "I'll never be satisfied until we can go from here to there without wasting any time."

The minister, who uses a plane often in department business, said he recently had a good trip back here from Hong Kong.

"We left Friday night and were back Friday morning," he said. "But we still had to sit for eight hours in that plane doing nothing."

"B.C. will need an ever-increasing supply of competent and skilled workmen if the products of our industry are to compete on the world market," said Mr. Peterson.

The semi-skilled and unskilled labor force is rapidly diminishing, he said. Now 24 per cent of the total labor force, in 10 years it will comprise only 12 per cent.

OTTAWA PAYS

The federal government pays 75 per cent of construction costs of vocational programs and 50 per cent of the programs themselves for adults.

Mr. Peterson said the construction grants will be cut to 50 per cent after March 31, 1963, but that he was pressing Ottawa strongly to extend the deadline.

To help special committees revising the entire public school curriculum, Mr. Peterson said the education department plans to hire two "outstanding persons" to act as consultants.

FIVE-YEAR TASK

It will take at least five years to complete the curriculum changes, which will be introduced yearly. This year the Grade VIII curriculum is revised, next year it will be Grade IX.

The new Grade VIII, occupational — or vocational — program will start next September, and about 10 per cent of B.C.'s students will be channelled into it.

Decision on which pupils will take it will come after a new series of Grade VII examinations this June.

It will be aimed specifically at students who are clearly better suited to early vocational training than continuing specialized academic work.

COMPULSORY FRENCH

Included in the new Grade VIII academic program is compulsory French. Industrial arts and home economics will still be compulsory but class time reduced.

English language and mathematics courses will be revised this year. General science, literature and social studies will be changed later.

Mr. Peterson said teacher-pupil ratio reduction might not seem much. "It was 40 in 1960 and reduced to 39 in 1961." But "progressive" reductions will be made in future.

In addition to cutting to 38 the ratio on which salary grants are based, the government is cutting from 71 to 69 the ratio required for a third teacher to be added to two-room schools.

Mr. Peterson turned to debt and Liberal criticisms of massive contingent liabilities. "If they were in power which of these guarantees would be included in the direct debt of the province?"

"We wouldn't go around suggesting we were debt-free," replied Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane.

"Where's the deception; where's the deception?" roared Mr. Peterson. "You're the ones deceiving the public."

He returned to Mr. Strachan. "Which ones would you include?"

"JUST NOD"

Mr. Strachan said he wanted to answer the question. Speaker Hugh Shantz said he shouldn't.

"You don't have to speak, just nod your head," taunted Mr. Peterson, as he read out the guaranteed liabilities for the Toll Authority, municipalities, B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric.

Mr. Strachan remained silent but Liberal leader Perrault answered each one with, "It's a deception."

"All they can call out is 'deception,'" said Mr. Peterson. "They won't go through these individually and say they're direct debt of the province. The fact is we're clear of direct debt."

THOUSANDS OF JOBS

He said that the majority of the guarantees were for power resources "the greatest single potential we have in the province today."

"How many jobs will they provide?" asked Mr. Perrault. "Tens of thousands — directly and indirectly," called back Premier Bennett.

Mr. Peterson accused Mr. Strachan of being against the Peace River power project. "That's a lie," answered the opposition leader.

"Even though he didn't say it, he has demonstrated his policy is against the Peace River project," replied Mr. Peterson.

He added that Mr. Strachan to the High Arrow dam on the Columbia River as well. "There they are now — the no-river policy."

No Dam Party Challenged By Peterson

By FRANK RUTTER Times Legislative Reporter

The B.C. government hit back at its critics Tuesday in the hottest cross-debate of the year's legislative session.

The man who did the job was Education Minister Leslie Peterson in a searing counter-attack on budget, debt, power and education policies.

For half an hour the legislature was in bedlam as cries of "deception" and "lies" flew across the floor.

Mr. Peterson, at his fiercest: Said there was no deception in his government's budget, and all provinces, including NDP-CCF Saskatchewan, over-estimated expenditures.

Challenged the Opposition to admit provincial guarantees for debts of Crown agencies were direct debt.

Called the NDP the "No Dam Party" because it had a "no-river" power policy. Denied that Social Credit propaganda was deliberately packed with school textbooks and that it had been found by a high school principal.

Mr. Peterson started off on the budget, which Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Monday called "a massive deception" because it underestimated revenue and overestimated expenditure.

"MASTER OF THE ART" The minister read from Saskatchewan's public accounts a list of underestimating, including $3,850,000 for public works, $1,000,000 for agriculture, $2,247,000 for highways and $1,115,000 for health.

"If the leader of the Opposition wants to talk about massive deception, I say that his party is master of the art," he said.

Then Mr. Peterson turned to debt and Liberal criticisms of massive contingent liabilities. "If they were in power which of these guarantees would be included in the direct debt of the province?"

"We wouldn't go around suggesting we were debt-free," replied Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane.

"Where's the deception; where's the deception?" roared Mr. Peterson. "You're the ones deceiving the public."

He returned to Mr. Strachan. "Which ones would you include?"

You're Playing for Stakes By Buying Meat in Victoria

By JOHN MIKA

Recent reports of widespread sale of contaminated meat in Ontario have touched off concern across the nation. Efforts in Greater Victoria have resumed to obtain inspection of locally-slaughtered meat. This four-part series outlines the scope of the local problem and some of its other aspects.

One out of every 10 pounds of meat eaten by greater Victorians is a pure gamble on the honesty of strangers.

That's how many people regard the roughly 50,000 pounds of uninspected meat sold every week in this area.

It represents somewhat more than 10 per cent of the weekly meat sale including about 450,000 inspected pounds.

It's purchased by hard-earned cash at good prices. But there's no guarantee that it is even fit for dog food, much less human consumption.

The bulk of this meat, most of it raised and slaughtered locally, is believed to be of good quality. But there's no meat inspection to see that it is.

Some of it could be diseased, tainted, totally unwholesome and still get on the market because there is no machinery for preventing its sale to unsuspecting customers.

It is possible for unwholesome meat to look all right to the layman — even to the expert if he doesn't make a thorough inspection at the right time.

Several persons close to the situation believe that a certain amount of bad meat is being sold here.

One man in the meat industry said he has seen meat offered for sale "that you could hold up and actually see through it was that bad."

An inspector would have rejected it for dog food and consigned it for "tankage" — rendering into soap. Yet it was being peddled for re-sale to humans.

How many Victoria families ate some of it?

A farmer has a legitimate way of salvaging the loss of an animal that dies of disease or old age. Mink farmers will pay 5 cents a pound for carcasses.

But are there any farmers unscrupulous enough to carve up the carcass and then sell it to retailers for the consumer market at 25 cents a pound?

Let's hope not — because there is no inspection here to stop it.

(In Ontario recently an organized ring was uncovered doing this.)

And, closer to home, a few years ago Surrey health officials was prevented only by a local bylaw's technicalities from prosecuting an outfit that was found offering contaminated meat for the human market. Finally, it condemned 800 tons of frozen meat and 2,000 pounds of meat paste for use only as fox farm feed.

Even the most scrupulous farmer or cattle dealer might unwittingly sell a diseased animal if it had no obvious symptoms. Only inspection by a trained vet can guard against this.

Locally-slaughtered meat sometimes is seen being transported, unwrapped and uncovered, in open trucks along dusty city streets. But there is no inspection to see if it becomes tainted by dirt.

There are more than a score of things that can condemn part or all of a carcass under the provincial meat inspection regulations. These range from tuberculosis in the animal to immaturity.

The supermarket chains and most institutions won't touch any meat that has not passed inspection for these defects.

Yet 10 per cent of all meat consumed here never is officially examined to make sure that it shouldn't be condemned for one or more of the defects.

It's true that cooking will kill bacteria in the meat, and therefore prevent spread of disease to humans.

Even rotten meat is usually safe after cooking.

"But people pay for wholesome meat and they should be assured they aren't paying good money for food they wouldn't serve to their dog," said one official. "That's what inspection is for."

Ex-Canada Boxing Champ Charged in Swindle Case

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two men, one of them claiming to be a former Canadian heavyweight professional boxer, have been arrested in what police described as a swindle of more than $9,000 from a 73-year-old widow.

The men were identified as James A. Parker, 33, who gave a Niagara Falls, Ont., address, and Peter R. Barresi, 25, of Buffalo. Parker was charged with first-degree grand larceny and conspiracy. Barresi was charged with conspiracy.

A third man is being sought, police said.

Parker told police he once fought under the name of James J. Parker and had been matched with world light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore in Toronto in a non-title bout in 1956.

The victim of the alleged swindle was Mrs. Carolyn M. Fox of Buffalo.

The two men were arrested Tuesday in a bank parking lot by police assigned to protect Mrs. Fox.

She told police that last month the two men came to her home and, posing as police counterfeit experts, informed her that she had made some recent payments in counterfeit money. She said they ordered her to turn over all the money she had in her home so it could be checked. She said she gave them $3,180 in cash.

A few days later, she told police, the men returned to her home and asked for more money in the investigation. She said she wrote three cheques totalling $16,000. When they left, she said, she became suspicious and called police.

The Compact Theory

THE COURAGE AND JUDGMENT of Mr. T. C. Douglas, a public man respected throughout the nation, is now tested in Quebec.

There the French Canadian wing of the New Democratic Party has revived the "compact" theory of Confederation and pushed it to an ultimate extreme. According to the Quebec followers of Mr. Douglas, Canada is composed of two nations — the French Canadians and the rest of the population. Confederation, we are asked to believe, is a pact between these two nations and cannot be altered in any respect without Quebec's consent.

Thus (as an Ottawa dispatch on this page explains) we have a refinement of the compact theory, as always proclaimed by the late Mr. Duplessis. This theory holds that Confederation was a compact between the four original provinces, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, unalterable without the consent of all. Now the New Democrats of Quebec say Confederation is a two-sided agreement between French-speaking and English-speaking Canadians.

Of course it is neither. Anyone who has read the Confederation debates knows that the union between the original provinces was permanent, could be amended, and was frequently amended by agreed process but could not be dissolved.

But Mr. Douglas' French Canadian friends say that the Quebec "nation" has the right to determine under what conditions it will continue to participate in Confederation. If that were true Canada would not be a nation but a loose alliance between the two nations — or ten, if the other nine provinces asserted the same rights. And if this doctrine were once accepted there would soon be no nation at all. The English-speaking people of Canada should not be confused by a local ramp in the New Democratic Party. Only a small minority of the French Canadian people has ever believed that Confederation is subject to repeal. Movements affirming this theory come and go from time to time but they have never been able to control Quebec's representation in Parliament.

On the other hand, the people of Quebec should remember that the permanent unity of Canada is not a doctrine supported only by English-speaking Canadians. No statesmen have more firmly asserted it than the great French Canadians — La Fontaine, Cartier, Laurier, Lapointe and, in recent times, Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Today, Mr. Lesage, the able premier of Quebec, is prepared to move the whole Canadian constitution from the British to the Canadian Parliament for future amendment by agreed process and he will not say that, under full Canadian control, it can be subject to repeal or amendment at the demand of any province. If that were so the constitution should be left where it is safe, in London.

Contemporary Quebec apparently believes that it has certain grievances and, if so, they should be given the most careful consideration by the government, by Parliament and by the nation as a whole. For the harmonious relationship between the two major racial groups of Canada is always one of the nation's supreme concerns; also its greatest success in a world convulsed by racialism.

But the doctrine of the Quebec New Democrats would undermine and finally destroy all the healing work of two centuries. Mr. Douglas may lose some supporters in Quebec if he repudiates this doctrine but he will lose much more support elsewhere if he fails to repudiate it.

The Basic Need

NOW THAT THE ORGANIZED fighting in Algeria has subsided, international observers see South Viet Nam as the scene of the "biggest war" fought today. It is still on a guerrilla basis, but combined killings have mounted to 1,000 a month or more, and the number of armed men committed to the intermittent battle increases weekly.

An estimated 15,000 Communist fighters now operate from three bases in South Viet Nam. Most of them are said to be former residents of that country who went north at the time of the partition into Communist north and democratic south. There they received guerrilla training which they are putting to deadly effect against the troops of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

With the latter forces now serve 2,500 United States "advisers," three of whom have already lost their lives in the jungles or rice paddies. More no doubt will be sent to the scene. President Kennedy, indeed, has ordered a whole new program of guerrilla training for American armed forces. The struggle in South Viet Nam could easily erupt into a major conflict.

That possibility depends mainly on the extent to which the Communist forces push their efforts. For the United States sees South Viet Nam as a pivotal point in the future of southeastern Asia. If Communism sweeps the country, it can be only a matter of time before it puts increasing pressure on the other governments in that part of the world. The United States is willing to accept a neutral Laos, since that appears to be the best bargain obtainable. But South Viet Nam could hardly remain neutral under continuing infiltration and agitation from the north. It must either fight and remain non-Communist, or surrender and come under the leftist banner.

The United States will go to the verge of formal war, and perhaps beyond, to prevent the latter alternative. But there must be more to the effort than merely provision of war supplies, or even troops.

Observers on the spot report that Communist agents present to the backward village people a promise and a hope of better living conditions. Because of this, they have an estimated 20 per cent of the population actively on their side. Forty per cent remain undecided, and the remaining 40 per cent are rather passively for the government.

To combat the Communist penetration more than armaments is needed. Democracy must offer the peasants a better life too — a better economic deal and a freer political future. This President Ngo Dinh Diem appears reluctant to do. His promised reforms have not been fundamental; they have not been enough to rally the people against the creeping aggression from the north.

Reform should be the first concern of United States aid to South Viet Nam. It could mean a far smaller ultimate expenditure of lives and money.

St. Joseph's Asks for Help

THE CITIZENS OF THIS community should need little instruction on the fine service rendered by St. Joseph's Hospital for about a century. Without the impressive statistics which have been assembled to indicate the scope of the hospital's work, Victorians know from their own experience, or that of friends, the high standards the institution has maintained.

Now, for the first time in approximately 100 years, the hospital is going to the public for financial help to expand its facilities and modernize much of the older sections.

The directors of the campaign — which seeks contributions of $350,000 from private individuals to add to $300,000 it requests from municipal governments and $400,000 to be raised by the Sisters of St. Ann — underscore the fact that St. Joseph's is a public institution and an essential one in the life of this region. Though founded by a religious order, 84 per cent of the patients treated there are non-Catholic.

The financial objectives listed above do not, of course, represent the full costs of modernization and new building. The present estimate for the complete work is set at approximately $2,700,000. The bulk of that sum will come from provincial and federal governments.

The results of the work, in addition to providing more beds to meet the pressing needs of a growing population, will increase the efficiency of the hospital and thereby effect savings in operation. These savings will permit improved service to patients.

The campaign is now under way. Organizers hope to have the approach to the public completed by the end of March and construction started by April.

A hospital which has done so much for Greater Victoria for so long is asking the people of Greater Victoria to do something for it — and for themselves in the provision of better facilities for those who need hospital care.

'Canada is Composed of Two Nations'

By MAURICE WESTERN

SOME New Democratic chickens hatched at the founding convention in Ottawa last August, are coming home to roost. In a gesture to French Canada, which was consistently cool to the old CCF, the New Democrats deleted the word "national" in favor of "federal" throughout their constitution.

Western

They affirmed their belief in a "federal" system which alone insures the united development of the two nations which originally associated to form the Canadian partnership, as well as that of other ethnic groups which later made Canada their home.

In another section Canada is referred to as a "nation" but the paragraph also contains this passage: "We are indeed aware that those who have their roots in the French-speaking community frequently and legitimately use the word 'nation' to describe French Canada itself."

Well Justified

These resolutions aroused much controversy at the founding convention and caused one of the veteran CCF intellectuals, Dr. Eugene Forsey, to dissociate himself subsequently from the NDP.

It now appears that some of Dr. Forsey's apprehensions were well justified. The Quebec wing of the NDP, disturbed by certain recent statements of Mr. Douglas about amendment of Canada's Constitution, has attempted to spell out the implications of the Ottawa resolutions.

A three-point formula has been put forward by the provisional committee of the NDP of Quebec. These are the propositions:

(1) There exists in Canada a French-

Canadian nation which, as such, has a right to self-determination, and which thus has the right to determine under what conditions it will participate in any confederation.

(2) The committee believes in the pact theory of confederation—Canada is composed of two nations.

(3) Canada's political history has made Quebec the spokesman for the French-Canadian nation. As a consequence, Quebec cannot abandon certain of its rights without jeopardizing the very existence of the French-Canadian nation.

Self-determination obviously involves a choice. The NDP is being asked to assert, not only that French Canada has the right to specify the terms on which it will continue to participate in Confederation, but also that it has the right of secession.

Secede First

This goes a long way towards the position of Dr. Chaput and his separatists. Dr. Chaput does not rule out a future association of Quebec with Canada. His argument is that Quebec must secede first in order to be able to negotiate on a plane of equality.

As to the second proposition, the Quebec committee sharply distinguishes between its pact theory, now fashionable among Quebec nationalists, and the old compact theory, which seems to have fallen out of fashion.

The latter held that Confederation was the result of a treaty among the four original provinces, which could thus be modified only by unanimous consent. The pact theory considers Confederation as an agreement between two races. According to the Quebec wing, this concept is now "more important to the French-Canadian nation" than the idea of a provincial compact formerly upheld by Mr. Duplessis and his followers.

No one can very well deny that Quebec has long regarded herself as the voice of French Canada. The conclusion drawn from this by the Quebec NDP committee would seem, however, to promise much trouble for Mr. Douglas.

The national leader has always argued for a flexible amendment procedure. He would entrench the educational and linguistic guarantees and, in addition, the amending procedure itself once it has been agreed upon. But he holds, as he said in a recent speech, that the Constitution "must recognize the voice of the majority as the voice of the nation with regard to non-fundamental powers."

Net Result

It was apparently this statement which led the Quebec committee to formulate its three propositions.

The net result is that the committee has adopted in relation to the practical workings of Confederation a position not obviously different from that of Quebec autonomists. As the leader of French Canada, Quebec must jealously guard her rights as the condition of French-Canadian survival. It was precisely this attitude which made Mr. Duplessis so difficult a bargainer in federal-provincial conferences.

By endorsing self-determination, however, the committee has gone much farther. In effect, it would transform Canada from a confederation into a league of sovereign states. Mr. Mathieu, the committee chairman, in expressing his gratification with the formula, observed that "the worst is still to come" because "we must now make the national body accept it."

His reference, presumably, was to the "federal" body which is to be told that the formula, approved in Quebec, flows logically from the resolution approved in Ottawa. The logic will certainly appeal to the separatists, although it may be welcomed with less warmth by Mr. Douglas as national leader.

A CENTURY OF GROWTH

Over There Where the Mountains Rise

By B. A. TOBIN

TO most Victorians Port Angeles is a low-lying smudge of smoke in the daytime, or a sparkling string of lights along the far shore at night. If we think of it at all, it's the place where the Strait ferry goes to or comes from. As a sight, from 20 miles away, it is completely dwarfed by the grandeur of the Olympic Mountains; as a town it is overlooked in favor of Seattle; as a part of the history of the Northwest it is lost in the more immediate wealth of our own story on this side of the water-boundary.

Tobin

So it comes as something of a surprise to be reminded, as we are from time to time, that behind that daytime smoke screen and that nighttime string of diamonds there is also history being made.

A handy book furnishes the reminder: today. Written by John McCallum and Lorraine Wilcox Ross, it provides a historical sketch, interesting anecdotes and some thriving modern descriptions of the community over there behind Ediz Hook. It is a community that has grown to 15,000 in the century of its existence, and its story is breezy with the frontier virility and the saltchuck-and-fir-forest environment that have been ours.

Where Is Ours?

This is the centennial year of Port Angeles, and this book, the authors say, is their way of wishing the city many happy returns. It is just the sort of book we should have had for our centennial year. Why didn't we?

With the title of "Port Angeles, U.S.A." and published by Wood and Reber, Inc., Seattle, the 197-page volume takes us back to our own origins, when Captain Vancouver sailed up the Strait in 1792 and bestowed names on the waters and lands he found.

But long before the young Royal Navy captain brought his Discovery and Chatham into these parts, a Spaniard had noted the sandspit-protected harbor and named it Porto de Nuestra Señora de Los Angeles.

Unlike Victoria, Port Angeles lacks either a Spanish or an English flavor. It was American right from its start in Civil War times and still boasts the title of America's "Second National City."

But there are similarities. The still-young Port Angeles had a sort of Amor de Cosmos-type character who like de Cosmos was born Smith, but didn't change it. He was in continual hot water with officialdom but contributed much to the early growth of the community.

Again like Victoria, Port Angeles felt the competition of other centres arising down the coast, and like us, too, it found its first wealth in its abundant timber resources and the shipping that came to its wharves.

Port Angeles, too, have in later years witnessed a struggle between the logging interests and the conservationists. The prize has been the right to cut into the vast wealth of Olympic National Park, which covers most of the peninsula. So far the conservationists have won.

The story of growth and change is told, and with it are some excellent excerpts from pioneers' journals which describe Indian burials, potlatches and other customs and the early white settlement on the sandy beach. Such memories are a far cry from the giant wood industries which now line the shore and send up streaks of wind-driven smoke against the sky-high backdrop of the snow-capped peaks.

When the international boundary was drawn, Port Angeles got the mountains and we got the incomparable view. We also got, as this book shows, some friendly and industrious neighbors whose school hands add welcome color and music to our May 24 parades.

Perhaps our two cities should get to know each other a little better than they do after a hundred years of sharing the Strait.

Pending Calamity

We have heard most convincing arguments at the hearings for the Water Rights licence in Nakusp, that the High Arrow Lake Dam project is: immoral, harmful, deplorable as a business, selling Canada out to the States, destructive and senseless.

Immoral because one generation has no right to destroy the work and toil of all the preceding ones.

Harmful because a body has never gained by losing a healthy part like an eye or an arm. Neither can Canada gain by losing a fertile valley so precious in B.C. where there is only three per cent of arable land.

We are used to bowing to the almighty dollar, but is there any business in this project for Canada? Americans laugh at us good humoredly, agree that Canada is making a deplorable deal, and admit frankly that if this continues we soon won't be able to call Canada our own.

Destructive because it would irrevocably wipe out 40,080 acres of productive land, and destroy the homes of 8,000 people. After having gone half round the world we landed here and found at last something to love and care for again. We did hope that death would overtake us, happy in our full regalia, our working clothes, tending and improving our soil and home. Shall we be asked to behave like vandals—dismember, rob and destroy the home and work we take pride in?

Senseless, because in view of the atomic power development, the whole project will be obsolete before completion or shortly after, leaving only the costly burden of upkeep of an enormous dam, a white elephant.

Why squander public money for ruining and then refunding us? We do not want any of it. On the contrary we wish to go on contributing to the public fund by paying taxes from all this area.

It would be a comfort to know that at least somebody in Canada is gaining, while we all are losing, but who is gaining, and is it in proportion to this big sacrifice we are compelled to make, one so thoroughly maddening through its wasteful senselessness?

Men in power who would have the fortune and foresight of stopping this pending calamity, could be sure of the greatest public sympathy, admiration and popularity.

'Indecent Haste'

The old adage, "Haste makes waste," could apply to the present controversy concerned with amalgamation. Most people, I believe, recognize that inevitably some form of amalgamation or metropolitan government will be necessary in "due course."

The indecent haste on the part of Messrs. Wilson and Murphy to force this issue down the throats of councils has met the fate it deserves. Perhaps now, this weighty problem with all its ramifications, will get the cool, deliberate, unemotional consideration that it warrants.

As for Mr. Murphy and his alleged statement regarding his plurality of votes in relation to the councilmen who opposed him, it would appear that Mr. Murphy seeks to clothe himself in this regard in a cloak of approbation which would be ill-fitting and place him in an unseemly posture.

Mr. Murphy might well consider that the same electors who gave him his plurality, also supported the councilmen who opposed him. Furthermore, a vote for Mr. Murphy does not necessarily imply that this also was a vote for amalgamation. Finally, the worthy reeve should refresh his memory with Part 4 of the Municipal Act, and contemplate that he is only one of a team of seven who have been elected to conduct the affairs of the Municipality of Saanich.

With faltering pen I proffer love to thee,
Chaste as the hawthorn bud

Devotion, deathless as eternity, Recorded for thy heart's remembering.
Affirm I pray, thy true esteem for me.
In accents sweet,
"twere heavenly anodyne,
Love's elixir of endless ecstasy,
Ah, lovely lady, be my Valentine.

Sheathe the accursed lipstick

Behold the wretch your wives

The while I plight this dreary

Here is my heart
(pray make a note of it)
Inconstant Baby, be my Valentine.

How Do They Pick Textbooks?

UNTIL John Meredith explained to local teachers the other day that textbooks in British Columbia schools were not as Americanized as the Chant Commission suggested, I'd never got around to wondering how the texts were chosen.

When I was a schoolboy, you received some textbooks free from your teacher. You bought others. And it seemed to parents that somebody was building a racket by changing books to boost sales in local book stores.

How they were picked, nobody seemed to know. Maybe, the authorities lined up a bunch of volumes on a shelf and went "eenie-meenie-minee-mo." If they did, they made sure, of course, that the Readers contained "The Charge of the Light Brigade" and Wordsworth's "Daffodils."

The experts today explain that in earlier times book selection was traditional. They don't explain the tradition—and when you analyze the thing, "eenie-meenie" is sort of traditional too.

At all events they do it differently now.

As I understand it, a committee of experts drawn from the ranks of teachers and university people meets and decides what is to be taught in a certain course, why and how.

Once that is decided, the committee calls in the publishers and invites them to submit volumes they consider suitable to the general outline they have received on the course. That usually produces 50 or 60 books.

Then the experts set up certain yardsticks to measure the books. They seek to establish what attitude the author brings to his subject, the scope of his book, how, far it goes. The point here is that you don't prescribe a book for a certain course if it only covers half the ground, or if it skips over four times as much ground as is required.

The experts look at the organization of the subject as presented in the book; how useful it is in the classroom; how much drill and practice material it contains, whether or not it will provoke interest and encourage extra reading, how difficult it is in relation to the age and abilities of the pupils.

These questions are weighted in importance and preliminary evaluations are made. A process of elimination sets in and the number of books is narrowed down to half a dozen or thereabouts.

Then comes a more intensive re-evaluation, with various experts taking the opportunity to discuss and argue the merits of certain volumes. Eventually the field is reduced to two or three books and finally a choice is made.

The final decision takes into account point of view, which can't be too narrowly nationalistic, but should use examples and illustrations of principles phrased in Canadian terms. Bias is avoided in subjects concerning politics and a decent balance established.

Canadian publishers, I'm told, are showing more and more awareness of the work the selection committee is doing. They should. Textbooks are big business—about $2.25 million in the province last year.

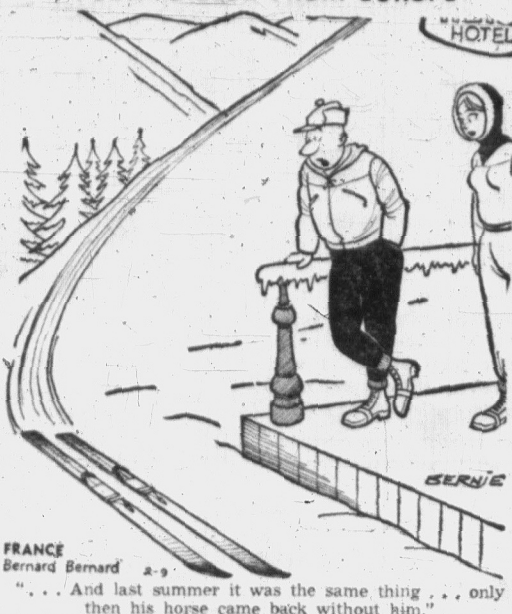

This system of selection has been developing for the last eight or 10 years. It isn't perfect, but it's improving.

Eventually, some of the more thoughtful people in the business believe, it may be possible for informed committee members to lay out a course, figure out what material should be included and then draft an outline of texts which publishers might submit to competent authors for the creation of books exactly tailored to the needs.

Whatever they do, I hope they keep the "Charge of the Light Brigade" and the "Daffodils." How else could a grandfather communicate with his young grandchild if the grandchild had neither ridden vicariously "into the jaws of Death, into the mouth of Hell," or wandered "lonely as a cloud that floats on high."

And Grandpa is too old to memorize "heppy as the grawas is green" or that fundamentalist stanza, "Miss Twye."

OR WILL IT BE OCTOBER?

Ottawa Experts Try Again: June Picked for Election

OTTAWA (CP) — Speculation on a pre-Easter election date faded rapidly Tuesday night amid growing indications that the government intends to carry on the work of the current session of Parliament in its normal pattern.

Bets now are being made among parliamentarians that the general election, expected some time this year, will be held in June.

Another large body of opinion still is unshaken in its belief that the election will not be until October.

Tuesday developments in the popular Ottawa game of forecasting the election date were these:

1. Informed sources said the government probably will move today or Thursday for the formal establishment of Commons committees.

2. An unusually large number of Conservative party campaign workers has been seen on Parliament Hill, including retiring B.C. provincial leader Deane Finlayson and Arthur Burns, who masterminded the Conservative travel arrangements in previous campaigns. Word, however, is that they are working in terms of a post-Easter or autumn election.

3. Time is rapidly running out for the government to get royal assent this weekend, if it wants it, on the $10 old age pension increase and other pension legislation, increased veterans' benefits, and bills authorizing construction of new railway lines. The railway bills must be approved by a committee which has not yet been set up. Dissolution must come this weekend for an April 16 election.

4. It was also learned authoritatively that Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Opposition Leader Pearson spoke briefly in private Monday, but the subject of the election date was not raised by either man. They discussed the Kremlin's latest move in suggesting a heads-of-government meeting on disarmament, the kind of bipartisan discussion that is frequently held between the two party leaders.

5. Mr. Diefenbaker is continuing to accept engagements for the next two months—and of the kind that he would not be expected to accept if he planned a general election. Latest word was that he has agreed to open the Sportsmen's Show at Fort William April 25.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Famous Smells of England

LONDON—The Earl of Arran, an entertaining writer of these parts, has been discussing the loss—through injury in a car accident—of his sense of smell.

This has disadvantages in that, for instance, he can't have gas in the house and would be easy prey to a murderer who chose that means.

But the compensations are that he can visit Naples or a slaughterhouse without discomfort, and it doesn't matter to him if somebody isn't using Lifebuoy.

"From what I can remember of the business," he concludes, "I'm not really missing much, because the bad smells of life outnumber the good."

I had never considered that, but giving it some thought I'd say he's dead right, as far as England is concerned at any rate. Smells on the debit side rush to mind.

The enjoyment of eating fish and chips only just manages to outweigh the stench of the fryers who produce them.

Entering a subway station you're met smack in the face by the surge of hot air coming up from below, heavy-laden with odors and stale tobacco smoke.

England's big railway stations present you with an effluvia that has the filter-hairs in your nose working overtime and broken down into its components it is made up mainly of acrid train smoke, fumes from the mobile tea urns and from the crates of fish in transit.

The tea urn is one of England's worst nasal offenders, especially in combination with tea-towels draped over it to dry, as in cafeterias and working-men's "caffs."

Diesel fumes from London's buses and cabs, hanging heavy in the air in winter-time, are what provide the really weighty texture to this city's notorious fogs.

Fumes from the coke braziers of night watchmen guarding road-works are so overpowering that there must be a bucket of water there to dispel them or the poor fellows would keel over.

But what's on the credit side of English smells? They don't come so readily to mind, except perhaps these:

Newly cut grass in the parks and playing fields, a wonderful smell because it's strongest in spring and that means summer is under way at long last.

Linseed oil, because of its association with preparing cricket bats for days in the sun.

Roasting chestnuts, another smell of pleasant association because to an Englishman that means Christmas.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

A Project for the 'Very Keen'

Many lovely, interesting and unusual plants can be grown to flower during summer if we care to take the necessary steps to get them started indoors during February.

Probably only very keen gardeners will do this, for it needs planning and consideration. There must be sufficient light, and warmth during the weeks and considerable space by the time the various plants are nearing the final stages of preparation.

It is quite possible to have the whither types of gladioli blooming outdoors by June 1 in a sunny location and well-drained soil. Begonias can be put into their flowering places outdoors by the end of May with buds and flowers, and acidantheras (fragrant Abyssinian sword-lily) and tigridias (Mexican shell-flower), will bloom by July 1, if they get an early start indoors.

The gladioli and tuberous begonias will make roots and top growth if partially bedded down in damp peat moss or terralite (horticultural vermiculite). If a layer of screened compost is first put into the tray or flat, and then covered with the well-dampened peat moss, or the terralite, there will be a small amount of food for the plant roots as they reach that area.

When well rooted at 65-70 deg. F., the begonia tubers should be potted individually, and kept growing in a light place with a little less warmth than was used for rooting.

The gladioli will do with a cooler rooting place—about 55-60 deg. F. will be fine—and they can then gradually be cooled off after rooting to around 45 deg. by placing them in a cold frame for a week or so. By late April, the rooted corms may be planted in the garden to bloom much earlier than those put into the ground in the usual way.

Tigridias and acidantheras are both worth the extra time and care needed to pot them up now and start them into growth in a warm place. Using pots seven to nine inches in diameter will ensure plenty of rooting space, and several corms can be put into each pot. By early May, after a week or so hardening off in a cold frame, the contents can be transferred intact to a sunny position in the garden, where they will give much pleasure to you and every one who sees their beauty.

These methods are especially worth a try for gardens where the soil is inclined to be of heavy texture which is slow to warm in spring.

RED CHINA SEEKING MORE WHEAT

Times Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA — Communist China has indicated interest in taking more wheat from Canada but the Canadian government is waiting to see how the Chinese government meets its present payments on wheat already bought from Canada, agriculture authorities said here today.

At the peak period of sales it is estimated that the Chinese government owed Canada close to $90,000,000.

The Chinese are scheduled to start making their payments commencing the end of this month.

Federal government agricultural officials denied reports that China has purchased a new additional quantity of wheat and barley.

Pill-Munching Becomes Top Ailment

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—That great modern medical discovery—the pill—is threatening to become the most common cause of illness in Denmark.

A study of patients admitted to a medical ward in a hospital here showed that misuse of medicine was second only to heart diseases on the list of causes.

Other Danish doctors have reported cases of patients who walk about in "a constant daze of intoxication," caused by munching a mixture of all types of headache pills, sedatives and sleeping tablets.

One case was reported of a patient sent to the hospital 25 times for misusing medicines.

Pill-munching also has left its mark in the Danish law courts.

The Supreme Court soon must decide an appeal by a man deprived of his driving licence because he took eight tranquilizers before starting to drive. The defendant disputes a lower court decision that the dose made him unfit to drive.

In 1958, Danes consumed more than 65 tons of pep pills, 24 tons of tranquilizers and an unknown quantity of other tablets of different types.

The Danish Medical Journal puts the consumption of sedatives by Denmark's 4,500,000 people at about 100 tons a year and the total is rising.

HINTS OF REFORM

'Intoxicating' Air in Senate

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Evidently the venerable house of "sober second thought" has found nothing so intoxicating in years as the broad hints of government reform in the Senate itself.

Attendance in the red chamber has been unusually high. House officials said Tuesday night. Since the government announced Jan. 18 that "a measure relating to the Senate" is coming up, 60 or more of the 94 senators have been in their seats daily. One day the count was a rare 76.

Tuesday, three senators produced speeches that eclipsed in interest—if not import—the affairs of the Commons, where members were chiefly concerned with branch-line rail-roading in Alberta and Quebec.

Senator Josie Quait (PC-Quebec) blasted Liberals and the CCF. New Democratic Party alike for distorting the government's sound policies and debating Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's "policy of delay."

First course will start April 2, and the government hopes to train 200 people this year. Planning is underway by the education department, Greater Victoria School Board, and the National Employment Service.

The day-school courses will last nine days for waitresses and five days for maids.

Further details of space and facilities will be announced later, said Mr. Peterson.

"Authorities in the service industries foresee the possibility of a shortage of trained help in the coming season," said Mr. Peterson.

A large increase in tourist traffic is anticipated, particularly in Victoria, and possibly other parts of the province.

Surveys made in the restaurant and hotel business show a big demand for new staff is expected before Easter, with a peak load in early June.

just and unfounded criticism" of Mr. Diefenbaker was creating doubt and fear in the minds of immigrants.

Senator David Croll (L-Ontario) presented a bill that would force those in the consumer credit business to spell out the cost of credit in detail giving a lump sum and simple annual interest. He said many unsuspecting Canadians are being "sliced up like a piece of cheese" by some unscrupulous lenders.

Debate on his bill will continue later.

In the Commons second reading or approval in principle was given a government bill authorizing a 23-mile CNR branch line in northwestern Alberta. A resolution preparatory to a bill was passed for another 57-mile line in Quebec's Gaspé.

WINS POINT
On the Alberta project, the opposition won a point with Transport Minister Balcer. He had promised Monday to send the bill to the Commons railway committee but said Tuesday it wouldn't be done, due to urgency. He gave in when Liberal and CCF MPs warned they would fight such a move.

In the daily hour for private members' bill, H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) tried to win Conservative support for a bill to levy heavy penalties on industries polluting inter-provincial waters. It was the same bill that Mr. Diefenbaker offered unsuccessfully in 1956, while in opposition.

Mr. Herridge got support—but not passage of the bill. It was "talked out" and fell to the bottom of a list of 50 other such measures. Meanwhile, as some MPs noted, the polluted Ottawa River kept flowing past Parliament Hill's back door.

WIFE, FRIEND QUESTIONED IN BOMBING

TORONTO (CP)—Police overnight questioned Mrs. Walter Yetman for 17 hours and spent 15 hours with a man described as her friend as they sought to solve the car-bombing which killed her husband Tuesday.

Tall, slender Mary Ann Yetman was released at 1 a.m. to go home to her children.

However, the friend, Ado (Peter) Kriviel, 37-year-old truck driver-mechanic, was held and charged on three counts of forgery and uttering false documents.

Active Is the Word for 55-Year-Old Johnny Longden

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Hunter, trout fisherman, a fair golfer and a shrewd investor, that's John Longden today on his 55th birthday.

The hobbies of this millionaire jockey—the winningest and possibly the wealthiest rider of all time—don't set him apart from some other rich men.

But few persons will argue that the physical demands of Longden's calling are great for a man of his years. Active is the word for Johnny. Even when he gets a day off.

A newspaper man trying to reach him for a pre-birthday interview Tuesday was informed Longden had driven up to the snow in the mountains.

"I took some hay to the deer at Crystal Lake," John said. "There isn't too much forage for them in winter."

Longden, born in England and raised in Taber, Alta., has 5,573 winners to his credit and still rides almost daily.

True, he averages three to four mounts instead of the six to eight he used to ride. And he sleeps an extra hour in the morning.

"I'm up and out at 6 o'clock now," Longden said. "I spend an hour or so in the sweat box as I take off one to three pounds every riding day."

Johnny's winners have brought their owners $21,000,000. As the jockey, he gets 10 per cent.

Johnny, who rides most often these days at 114 pounds, eats a breakfast of eggs, dry toast and cereal. He skips lunch, then treats himself to steak or a roast at supper.

He's a regular at west coast tracks and this doesn't give him much free time.

"I have to just take off when I want a rest or vacation. In the fall I go to British Columbia for big game hunting and in the spring I go fishing at Crowley Lake in the high Sierras."

Longden has a swimming pool at the family home in Arcadia and this helps him keep in shape. He also has a 30-acre ranch at nearby Riverside.

There was considerable enthusiasm in Longden's eighth pitched voice when he described the Bar JL Ranch and one of its current tenants, Four-and-Twenty, owned by Alberta Ranches.

Longden, who believes Count Fleet was the greatest horse he ever rode, has a growing fondness for Four-and-Twenty.

The horse is trained by Johnny's 31-year-old son, Vance.

"Count Fleet was the greatest," Longden said. "But that Four-and-Twenty... if he keeps going like he's been going, I don't know. He might be greater."

Does Johnny ever expect to retire?

"Gosh no. I'm not worried about that."

Curling Crowns Are Old Stuff For Reg Stone

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—A familiar name will be carrying British Columbia's hopes when the 1962 Canadian curling finals open next month at Kitchener, Ont.

Smart Upsets Martin

PENTICTON (CP)—Coming to life after dropping her first four games in the women's provincial curling final, Joyce Smart of Kelowna dealt a telling blow to the hopes of Victoria's Flora Martin as she posted a last rock 11-10 win over the Vancouver Island rink Tuesday night.

Tied with Mrs. Martin for first place with a 3-1 record in the double round-robin play-off prior to Tuesday night's draw, Jna Hansen of Kimberley snatched back the lead with a comparatively easy 7-4 win over Joy Mitchell of Kitimat.

With one more draw to go, Hansen loomed as a definite favorite to take the provincial title. Sporting a 4-1 record, she was to play Smart this morning, while Martin, with three wins and two losses, was scheduled to face the tougher competition of Mitchell's northern B.C. rink.

With Mitchell and Smart out of the running, Martin's only remaining hope is a loss by Mrs. Hansen and a victory over Mrs. Mitchell by the Victoria rink would set up a sudden-death playoff between the two rinks later today.

Reg Stone of Trail earned the right to represent B.C. in the Dominion final by scoring a dramatic last-rock 10-9 victory over Howie Christopherson of Vancouver here Tuesday night.

Proven titles are old stuff to Stone. His win over Christopherson in the deciding game of the best-of-three final gave him a record sixth, and proved again that experience is a valuable asset.

After suffering a humiliating 11-4 defeat in Tuesday's opening game, Stone fought back to down Christopherson 12-6 in the afternoon match and force the series to its limit.

The night game, played before a capacity crowd of 2,000 at the North Shore Winter Club, saw Stone refuse to fold after falling behind 4-0 in the first two ends.

RALLIED TO WIN

He rallied to take the lead, watched Christopherson tie it on the 11th end, and then waited to use his last rock advantage in the final end. Christopherson was lying one when Stone calmly drew to the eight-foot circle for the win.

Stone, 47, previously won the B.C. title in 1949, 1952, 1953, 1955 and 1957. Completing the rink are lead Harvey McKay, 39; second, Frenchy d'Amour, and Reg's brother, Roy, 40, who plays third.

The Stone rink will have a good deal of experience going for them in the Canadian finals.

Reg's record speaks for itself while Roy has played on all six of the winning Stone rinks and is considered one of the finest third men in Canada. In addition, d'Amour skipped provincial champions in 1947 and 1948 and his rink was the only B.C. rink ever to win the Canadian title.

In sharp contrast, McKay has been curling for only four years.

Others playing on the Christopherson rink Tuesday were lead Charlie Gardner, second George Ingram and third Roy Vinthers. Christopherson has won most of B.C.'s top honours but was bidding for his first provincial crown.

FIRST GAME: 021 110 011 228-12
Stone 200 001 000 000-4
(Stone conceded after 11 ends).

SECOND GAME: 020 200 010 108-6
Christopherson 102 001 102 028-12

THIRD GAME: 005 004 010 101-10
Stone 220 110 101 010-9

With Mitchell and Smart out of the running, Martin's only remaining hope is a loss by Mrs. Hansen and a victory over Mrs. Mitchell by the Victoria rink would set up a sudden-death playoff between the two rinks later today.

SPORTS SHORTS

Duff Still Sidelined

TORONTO (CP)—Dick Duff skated Tuesday for the first time since he broke a foot bone five weeks ago but the Toronto Maple Leafs' winger is not expected to return to National Hockey League action for another two weeks.

Bamburak Returned

SEATTLE (AP)—Wingman Don Bamburak is being returned to the Vancouver Canucks, the Seattle Times of the Western Hockey League reported Tuesday.

Eagle Day Returns

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders are bringing back Eagle Day for the 1962 football season and count on him as their No. 1 quarterback. Club officials announced Day's signing at a press conference Tuesday.

Corporal Nabs Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Corporal J. D. McDougall Tuesday skipped his Vancouver City police rink to a 12-3 win over the L.A. Little rink of Kamloops to win the B.C. Associated police curling bonspiel.

Oilers Get Pepper

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Pepper Martin, one-time baseball star with St. Louis Cardinals Gas House Gang, has been named coach of Tulsa Oilers in the class AA Texas League.

Wolves Fired Coach

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—The fourth-place Sudbury Wolves of the Eastern Professional Hockey League have dismissed coach Chirp Brenchley, who was immediately replaced by Murph Chamberlain.

TROPHIES FROM LONG CAREER

Celebrating 55th birthday today, Johnny Longden looks over some of trophies he has won in riding career that has made him winningest and possibly richest jockey of all time. Trophies are on display in Longden's Arcadia, Calif., home. See story above. (AP Wirephoto.)

MLA Predicts Boost In Sport Fishing Fees

By AB KENT

The Social Credit government plans to increase sports fishing licence fees, Granbrook member Leo Nimsick predicted in the legislature Tuesday.

The NDP-CCF member noted a budget increase of $175,000 in game resource revenue for 1962-63, yet only a $47,477 increase in spending, which would "only pay for increased wages," the House was told.

He wondered if the government was going to "take another slap at the sportsmen by increasing the fees?"

If this is the case, he said, it would contradict the premier's promises there would be no tax increase this year.

"Let me warn this government that if this is done you will soon reach the point of diminishing returns."

"They'll do it by ordering council," he said in reply to remarks across the floor, "like they conduct the business of this government. They won't bring it up in the House where we can argue against it."

Mr. Nimsick, who comes from a riding rich in game of all kinds, said: "The great natural resource has got to have more fair treatment than it has been getting."

"It has been used like the goose that laid the golden egg and if my observation is correct, I think they are preparing to kill the goose."

Mr. Nimsick said the government had stolen the conservation fund, which by now should amount to nearly $1,000,000, putting it instead into consolidated revenue.

He said sportsmen had contributed in direct taxation over $2,500,000 to consolidated revenue.

Over objections from the government side, the member said: "This is one thing in which this government has not been fair."

The previous government had done more for conservation, he said.

Juniors Doing Best To Provide Thrills

Eliminate the red tape and committee-room bickering, and Vancouver Island's first junior "A" hockey playoff series would head for an interesting windup.

The three-team round-robin series is scheduled to wind up in Nanaimo tonight and it is possible that nobody will recognize a winner until more red tape is dragged into the committee rooms.

But the juniors seem intent on making it interesting despite the bleating of executives.

Esquimalt Bruins assured themselves of no worse than a tie for first place Tuesday night, turning on Nanaimo United for a convincing 8-3 victory at the Sports Centre.

SETTLED TONIGHT?

Tonight, Nanaimo entertains Victoria Cougars. A victory by Cougars would give their cross-town rivals, the Bruins, the series. A Nanaimo victory would force a playoff with Bruins.

Victoria, unless after three games, seems out of the picture. That, however, is something you can't bet upon until after executives of the three teams meet with B.C. Amateur Hockey Association president Ivan Temple of Victoria.

The meeting tonight is expected to clear up eligibility questions concerning both Nanaimo and Esquimalt teams. That could presumably lead to a strange situation in which Cougars could represent the Island in provincial playoffs without the benefit of a victory.

FIRST DEFEAT

There was no disputing Esquimalt's superiority over Nanaimo Tuesday. Shaky in the opening period, Bruins came on with a rush to hand Nanaimo its first loss.

Nanaimo won the first meeting, 9-1, after breaking loose in the third period.

It was the Bruins who pulled away with five goals in the final session.

Bob McNabb and Gord Morris each counted twice for Bruin's while Joe Iannarelli, Doug Couen, Gary DeForge and Claude McKenzie added singles. Bob Wilson, Harvey Thein and Corky Place scored for Nanaimo.

FIREFIGHTERS COMING RIGHT BACK AT UNITED

Victoria United and Vancouver Firefighters, the subject of a B.C. Soccer Commission investigation for their play in a rough Anderson Cup final last Sunday, go right back at it this weekend. They resume regular league play at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday.

United, whacked 5-2 by Firefighters last weekend, had all players turn out for Tuesday's workout. Three, however, remain on the doubtful list for Saturday's game as a result of injuries. They are Volker Földt, Tommy Major and Bob Mars.

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The interprovincial Willingdon Cup golf matches are to be played as part of the Canadian Amateur championships this year. The Royal Canadian Golf Association, despite strong opposition from B.C. delegates, approved the move during a weekend meeting in Toronto.

In the past, the Willingdon Cup was played over 36 holes on the Saturday preceding the week of the Canadian Amateur. Now it is to be played concurrently with the qualifying round of the Amateur, scheduled Aug. 13-18 in London, Ont.

Willingdon Cup scores will be used for those trying to qualify for the 64 berths in the Amateur.

The RCGA, in passing the proposal, seems to be relegating the Willingdon Cup matches to a secondary competition. Selection to a province's Willingdon Cup team has been a badge of distinction carried by golfers for the balance of their lifetime.

The RCGA, by stepping out in an effort to please only a few golfers, will do more harm than good by its action. One of the major reasons for change is to give team members a chance to play in both the Willingdon Cup event and the Amateur in one week. Under the old system, golfers were required to beg off from work the better part of a week and a half.

It was gratifying to learn that B.C.—through representatives Harry Young of Victoria and Vancouver's Hilliard Lyle—objected to the move. I agree with them that the new format is bound to detract from the importance and reduce the prestige of the Willingdon Cup.

That's going to happen when some hot-shot, perhaps a non-Canadian, steps up in the Amateur qualifying rounds to over-shadow the scores of our Willingdon Cuppers. The Willingdon Cup loses something in publicity, and, therefore, prestige.

Those who voted "aye" in Toronto at the weekend should take the wax out of their ears, clean the fog off of their eyeballs, and again consider what they have just done.

After the second of three rounds, Ron MacLeod still shares the lead but at least four golfers stand an excellent chance of stopping the blond-beiter's bid for a third straight victory in the monthly medal series.

Laurie Carroll's fine, one-under-par 68 at Oak Bay Sunday pushed him into a tie for the lead with MacLeod. Both have 142 strokes after 68 holes. MacLeod scored his second straight 71 for his total.

Also moving into the running are Roy Chappell, 74-70-144; Laurie Kerr, 76-70-146, and Dick Munn, 79-73-146. The third round will be played at Colwood next month.

SHORT CHIPS — George Andrews, 71-4-67, edged John Merriman, Boyd Brooks and Vic Lea by one stroke in the hunt for low net honors in Sunday's medal round. Andrews and Kerr defend their open buttons Sunday at Gorge Vale against uplands challenges Gord Fallow and Ken Lawson. Oak Bay's Al Manson and Bruce MacFarlane make their first defence of the junior buttons by playing Gorge Vale's Noel Pumphrey and John McCormick.

First national seniors' golf tournament in Canada will be staged at Winnipeg's St. Charles course July 2-7.

RCGA put a little scare into its possible junior age rule by setting Sept. 15 as the deciding date. In the past, juniors had to be under 19 as of the start of the Canadian junior championships. The date was too flexible.

College Life Takes Kick Out of Kidd

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Fred Foot says runner Bruce Kidd's performances have been off form lately because he is "lonely and homesick."

His coach said that Kidd, attending the University of Toronto while his parents live in Ottawa and his girl friend in Kingston, also has the problems of adjusting to college life "like every other freshman."

In recent American appearances, said the coach, Kidd placed behind runners he should have beaten with ease.

"The simple truth is that Bruce is lonely and homesick."

WORKOUTS GOOD — "I noticed a definite change after he returned from visiting Duncan."

his family in Ottawa over Christmas. Bruce lost some of his aggressiveness and kick, although his workouts have been good.

"Bruce has" become depressed and worried about his showing."

Foot said he is not overly concerned about it. He says Kidd will overcome it and in the meantime he will move into Foot's home to overcome problems of loneliness.

It's a Week Of Reckoning

By PAUL WESTBROOK

LONDON (AP)—This is crisis week for Tottenham Hotspur, England's trophy-chasing soccer champions.

Monday, manager Bill Nicholson shepherded his £300,000 array of talent aboard a Prague-bound plane for today's European Cup clash with Dukla of Czechoslovakia.

Win, lose or draw, Spurs catch the plane back Thursday and travel up to the Midlands for Saturday's important Football Association Cup game with West Bromwich Albion.

TEAM IN A RUSH

This means they will travel nearly 2,000 miles and play two vital games in four days to uphold England's soccer prestige and defend the FA Cup they won last season.

The Dukla game will be tough, so tough in fact that forecasters are leaning towards a win for the powerful Czechoslovakians.

They base their predictions on the absence of star forward Jimmy Greaves, Spurs' recent £90,000 acquisition from Milan. European Cup rules require a player to have been with his club for four months before the match. Greaves joined Spurs last November.

STILL TRYING

An English team has never won the European Cup, the premier team tournament in the world. With Spurs now through to the quarter-finals, many think this may be England's successful year.

But there is a feeling that Spurs are more concerned with Saturday's game than the Dukla match. Even if they lose in Prague they get a second chance in the return match in two weeks' time. European Cup games are played on a home-and-away basis, the aggregate scores deciding who goes into the next round.

The FA Cup is "sudden death" and on home territory West Bromwich Albion is a tough opponent.

Ports, Navy On the Spot In Playdowns

Port Alberni and Navy will be on the spot Thursday night at Memorial Arena. They must win or face the almost impossible task of posting three straight victories if they hope to advance in the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League playoffs.

Whacked 14-0 by Nanaimo in the first game of the best-of-five series, the Ports can get even with a victory over their conquerors whom they meet at 8 p.m.

Navy, 4-2 losers to IAA, get another chance in the semis nightcap at 9:30. Third games of the series will be played here Feb. 24.

ALS SIGN HALFBACK

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League Monday have signed halfback Bobby Lee Thompson from the University of Arizona.

U.S. Fights to Prevent Further Outflow of Gold

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Operation of the Canadian dollar stabilization fund—the means by which Finance Minister Fleming holds the dollar at a discount—is fairly well known to most Canadians.

Not so well known, perhaps, is the fact that the United States, through its Federal Reserve Bank, is also in the business of maintaining the stability of the United States dollar through an operation somewhat similar although considerably more complex.

The United States foreign exchange dealings should be of considerable interest to speculators who seem to be convinced that the United States will be forced in a short time to raise the price of gold from $35 to $45 an ounce or even higher.

If the Federal Reserve is successful in its operations—incidentally, this is the first time the United States has ever gone into the purchase and sale of foreign currencies to influence rates and expectations—the price of gold certainly will not go up for some considerable time and even then by only a modest amount.

ACTS AS 'BUFFER'

Purpose of the United States foreign currency transactions is to act as a "buffer" between the flow of international payments and the gold reserves, to ease speculative pressures against the dollar and to prevent foreign currencies from selling at high forward premiums.

The Federal Reserve co-operates in its dealings with the Bank of International Settlement in Switzerland and it is now known to have been working closely with both Swiss and German bankers in moderating currency fluctuations.

While U.S. Treasury officials concede that there will be continuing pressure on the dollar so long as the seemingly chronic imbalance of trade remains, they are reported to be hopeful that the Federal Reserve currency dealings along with co-operation from foreign central banks will prevent further drastic outflows of gold and minimize the possibility of devaluing the dollar.

Aluminum Ltd. has again taken the lead in knocking down official prices for aluminum with an announcement that it is cutting prices by three-quarters of a cent a pound—to 22½ cents (U.S.)—for overseas customers.

As with its recent price cut in deliveries to the U.S., Aluminum Ltd. states that the move was necessary to meet competition. The company noted that the European price has been well below the official posting, in some cases lower than 22½ cents.

POLITICAL SCANDAL

At the same time as the company announced its overseas price cuts, it was revealed in New Zealand that Alcan Industries Ltd., New Zealand operating division of Aluminum Company of Canada, had been placed in the middle of a political scandal involving an agreement to import its supplies of ingot exclusively from Canada for a 10-year term.

It appeared that the agreement between Alcan and a former N.Z. cabinet minister was kept so secret that no copy could even be found in government files.

The agreement came to light when Alcan Industries raised the matter with the present minister and, upon request, supplied a photostat copy.

Judging from press reports from Auckland, there could be considerable opposition to honoring the present agreement which also seemed to be tied in with an undertaking given by the former government that Alcan would not face competition in New Zealand which might render the operation of its new fabricating plant uneconomical.

AT LONDON

Low profits and a reduced dividend from Monsanto Chemical Company tended to unsettle industrial equities on the stock exchange today.

Prices eased in some places especially gilt-edged securities which had displayed marked firmness during the initial stages.

AT VANCOUVER

Trading was dull with light sales and little change in prices during the morning. Charter moved at $1.66. Bethlehem Copper went at $1.80. General Resources was up to 23. Peel was sold at 44. Western Mines sold at $1.51. Magnum moved at 47. Huestis traded at 25.

AT TORONTO

Base metals saw Falconbridge drop ½ and International Nickel rise ¼. Among speculators, Lake Duff fell 60 cents to $5.65 and Northgate 10 cents at $4.95.

Western oils saw Pacific Petroleum and Home B both dip ¼. Calgary and Edmonton lost ¼, while Home A and Great Plains Development both rose ½.

AT NEW YORK

Minus signs predominated on the Canadian list, where users included McIntyre Porcupine, off ¼, International Nickel and Aluminum Ltd., each down ¼. Hudson Bay Mining and Walker-Gooderham, ½, and Dome Mines, ½.

On a mixed American exchange, Jupiter-Oils was off 3/16 while Canadian Marconi and Scurry Rainbow Oils eased ¼ each.

AT MONTREAL

Stocks remained mixed to lower in afternoon trading.

Life insurance sold by the company in 1961 rose to $1,129,220,000, up from $1,034,745,000 in 1960. The company's life insurance in force at Dec. 31 was $10,385,070,000.

The company's annual report said total income during the year was $408,103,387, a 9.1 per cent increase from $373,965,000 in 1960.

Net earnings from insurance operations were $66,068,947 in 1961, an increase of $3,678,421.

Canada's Ports Handled Record 1961 Tonnage

OTTAWA (CP)—A record tonnage of cargo was shipped last year through Canada's eight federally-administered harbors, the national harbors board has reported.

The ports handled 61,106,769 tons, up 17 per cent from 53,222,526 in 1960.

However, with continuation of the trend to larger ships, there were fewer vessel arrivals—43,632 compared with 47,462 in 1960.

Six of the harbors reported increased cargo tonnage and two—Halifax and Churchill on Hudson Bay—had declines.

HEES PREDICTS

Most Prosperous
Year in History

MONTREAL (UPI)—Trade Minister George Hees predicted today that 1962 will be the most prosperous year in Canadian history.

"All indicators point to an even better year than the one we have just finished and to records being established in many sectors of the economy," he said.

Hees, opening a government-sponsored trade promotion conference, attributed much of the economic upswing in recent months to "a new spirit of co-operation" between industry and government. He said it started more than a year ago when the government called home some 1,300 trade commissioners to launch a new export drive.

Freeze to Death

REYKJAVIK (Reuters)—Two seamen from an Icelandic fishing trawler were found frozen to death Monday after drifting all night in a rubber dinghy off the coast of Iceland. They left the 650-ton trawler Ellidi Saturday after it sprung a leak. Rescue ships answering an SOS arrived in time to save the other 26 crew members, who had stayed aboard, just before the ship sank.

From that start, he said, Canadian exports have increased to the point where this country may have its first trade surplus in nine years in 1961. Overall economic production rose by 4.7 per cent between the first and third quarters last year, a growth rate exceeded only once in 15 years, he said.

NORWAY

OSLO (AP)—The government labor party parliamentary group voted overwhelmingly Tuesday in favor of Norway seeking negotiations for full membership in the European Common Market.

Parliamentary circles considered the vote a decisive move towards negotiations with the Common Market. It came at the end of two days of private deliberations over recommendations from local party groups and unions all over the country.

Drug Kingpins Draw Long Terms

NEW YORK (CP)—Eleven members of a multi-million-dollar international narcotics smuggling ring were sentenced Tuesday to prison terms ranging from five to 25 years following trial that began Oct. 27.

The 11—two of them from Toronto—were among 20 persons indicted nearly a year ago on charges of conspiring to smuggle $150,000,000 worth of narcotics into the United States from Italy and Canada.

Among those sentenced in U.S. federal court by Judge William B. Herlands were Vito Agucel, 41, and Rocco Scopellitti, 26, both Italian citizens whose homes are in Toronto.

Scopellitti was given a 10-year term and Agucel was sentenced to 15 years. They were arrested in Toronto by RCMP narcotics agents after the case was cracked open in October, 1960, when a shipment of heroin was intercepted in nearby Westchester County.

The two, along with Albert Agucel, 39, Vito's brother, were extradited from Canada so that they could stand trial in New York. Albert Agucel skipped $20,000 bail following his indictment and later was found slain near Rochester, N.Y.

The stiffest sentence of 25 years was imposed on Charles

Shifman, 59, who was described by Judge Herlands as "one of the main sources of supply to Chicago."

MURPHY WORRIED

Sidewalk Fund Open to Abuse

Reeve Stanley Murphy fears that a proposed $35,000 sidewalk program for Saanich this year may develop into a "campaign fund" for councillors seeking re-election.

His fears, expressed at a public works committee meeting Tuesday, are based on disagreement among councillors as to where the sidewalks should be built.

NEARER TO HOME

The majority of councillors appeared to be "pulling" for sidewalks nearer home and were not pleased with a priority list prepared by municipal engineer Neville Life.

It resulted in the committee requesting Mr. Life to prepare a revised list of sidewalks giving priority to elementary schools "where all things are equal."

Coun. Robert Chard, who proposed that sidewalks be constructed in the vicinity of elementary schools first, supported the reeve's view to fix a firm policy on sidewalks.

"The worst thing we can possibly do is fail to fix a firm policy on sidewalks," he said. "If we show ourselves to be sensitive to hot little pressure groups we're going to be bullied until time immemorial."

Sentence Commuted

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Governor Edmund G. Brown of California has spared the life of a Negro scheduled to die today in the gas chamber for killing a white co-ed. Brown commuted the death sentence of Bertrand J. Howk Jr., 22, of Long Beach, Calif., to life imprisonment on grounds Howk had a history of mental illness before he shot Sonia Hoff, 21.

Gunfire Over Wall

BERLIN (AP)—East and West German border guards exchanged tommy-gun fire across the Berlin wall Tuesday, but nobody was hit, Western police reported.

Extended Dental Session Proves Fatal to Boy, 3

VANCOUVER (CP)—A three-year-old boy died in a dentist's chair Tuesday during a prolonged session under an anaesthetic.

Christopher N. Tonner was coming out of the anaesthetic when police said he apparently suffered a cardiac failure. He was rushed to hospital but declared dead on arrival.

Police said the youngster was undergoing nine fillings and two extractions by Dr. W. L. Elliott. The lad was under an anaesthetic which was administered by Dr. J. A. McNab to permit the lengthy treatment.

Dr. McNab told police the lad was being given oxygen and being brought out of the anaesthetic when his face turned blue. The doctor said he realized the boy's heart had failed and he massaged it externally and got it going, but it stopped again.

The boy's father, William Tonner, returned to the dentist's office to pick up his son and found he was being given emergency treatment. He said young Christopher had undergone a complete medical examination recently and had been found in good health.

'Play Together, Stay Together' Nimsick's Motto

Citizens of British Columbia should have the legal right to do their laundry and go to a hockey game on Sunday, Opposition member Leo Nimsick said Tuesday in the budget debate in the legislature.

The NDP-CCF member for Cranbrook said the government should bring in Sunday observance legislation that is consistent and not hypocritical.

He called the present legislation archaic, but made clear that what he said was his own opinion.

RIDICULOUS

It seems ridiculous to stop any community from having hockey games on Sunday because there is a charge made for it, and bowling too, he added.

Fire Sweeps Tiny Island

GRINDSTONE, Magdalen Islands (CP)—This tiny island town was helpless Monday as fire fanned by gale-force winds erupted in its downtown section, spread to six buildings and killed a teenage boy.

With no fire department and no water available for a bucket brigade, most of the town's 300 residents stood in a blizzard and prayed against a wind change that would have turned the flames toward most of the houses on this island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

"This is a tragedy," reported merchant J. J. LeBourdais a few hours after the fire burned itself out after causing about $200,000 damage.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan. If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt.

'Fie on the Fiat' Bill Brought in by Liberal

Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane Tuesday introduced a private bill in the legislature which would allow anyone to sue the government.

Aim of the bill, called "An act Respecting Proceedings Against the Crown, is to avoid such cases as refusal of the government to allow B.C. Power Corporation to sue it for better compensation in the B.C. Electric takeover. However, likelihood of the bill being adopted is minute. Private members' bills usually die without even reaching the debating stage in the House.

'WITHOUT FIAT'

Mr. Macfarlane's draft law reads that any person's claim against the Crown—the government—may be enforced as of right and without fiat of the lieutenant-governor.

When B.C. Power tried to win a fiat to sue the government, it was denied by the cabinet, acting as "lieutenant-governor-in-council."

FRIED EGG MISSILE ORBITS PAST KENNEDY

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy talked some more with President Sukarno about Dutch-held West New Guinea today after ducking a fried egg in the first hint of trouble on his goodwill visit to Indonesia.

The egg was thrown at Kennedy as he mounted the stage to address a student assembly at the University of Indonesia. The well-done, cold fried egg sailed out of the crowd. He ducked and the missile plopped behind him.

WITH THIS MAN CAME SECURITY

This man was one of many responsible for more than one billion dollars of Sun Life insurance being sold last year and for Sun Life passing the ten billion dollar mark of life insurance in force. Through his diligence, funds that might not otherwise have been available were provided for widows' livelihoods, for retirement incomes, for advanced education and for emergencies.

Perhaps this man brought security to you and your family.

VOLUNTARY 'BENEFIT ORGANIZATIONS'

Co-Operative Health Plan Works Well in Australia

Canada's royal commission on health services has heard arguments for and against compulsory medical insurance. This story describes the operation of Australia's voluntary scheme.

CANBERRA (CP) — Since the Second World War Australia has evolved a national health scheme based on the principle that the more you help yourself the more the government helps you.

With the exception of pensioners and their dependents, it is a long way short of "everything free for every body."

For example, the government pays eight shillings (96 cents) a day for each hospital patient whether or not he is a member of one of the 114 benefit organizations in the country.

But if he belongs to such an organization, he not only gets extra money from the benefit fund, he also receives more from the government. The total from the fund and government may be as high as $4 ($9.47) a day depending on the rate he pays to the benefit organization.

Membership in any such organization is voluntary but the advantages are obvious and 72 per cent, or about 7,500,000, of the population are covered. Membership fees range from six to 60 cents a week.

Doctor's bills are under a plan that is similar in most respects. The difference is that government doesn't contribute at all unless a patient is paying into a medical benefit fund.

Sixty-eight per cent, or 7,173,000, of the population are provided for under medical benefit schemes, paying 15 to 48 cents weekly.

Another feature of the health plan is that between 70 and 80 per cent of prescriptions for drugs are subsidized so that the patient pays a maximum of 60 cents regardless of how expensive the drugs are. The government pays the rest. And it's not necessary to belong to any organization to qualify for this.

For the country's nearly 800,000 pensioners and dependents, drugs and medical treatment are completely free. The government also subsidizes their hospital costs at a basic rate of $1.44 a day.

DOCTOR OF CHOICE

Treatment is given by private medical practitioners, state, municipal and private hospitals and institutions just as it was before the development of the various plans.

The overall result is that more ailing people get medical advice and treatment promptly; that more of them use private hospitals and medium-level accommodation in public hospitals; and that hospital and doctor fees are met more promptly.

The government asserts that by adopting a plan of mutual co-operation between the government, the citizen and the instrumentalities and professional men who assist in providing the services, the government has achieved a workable system which allows every citizen the maximum of essential protection with the widest possible freedom of choice; yet without imposing a heavy financial burden on any individual or an undue heavy burden on the national treasury itself.

TB CAMPAIGN

For the fiscal year ending June 30, total cost to the federal government various health schemes is $180,414,500. This includes $52,168,500 for hospital benefits; $25,211,000 for medical care; $77,832,000 for prescription drugs; $10,728,000 for pensioners, and $14,475,000 for treatment of tuberculosis, provided free under an agreement with the six states.

It's easy to join one of the 114 benefit organizations. Most will accept anyone as a contributor. New members must wait two months before qualifying for benefits except for accidents (immediate) and pregnancy (40 months). The organizations are non-profit.

FEES ARE LOW

The weekly cost for hospital benefits ranges from six to 30 cents for single persons and 12 to 60 cents for families. For those paying enough to qualify for fund benefits of $1.92 or more a day, the government contributes a total of $2.40. For those making lower contributions, the total government payment daily is $1.44.

Weekly contributions to medical benefit funds range from 15 to 24 cents for single persons and 30 to 48 cents for families. For certain major operations a patient may get as much as $142 towards his surgeon's bill.

ALBERTA DOCTORS:

'Potential Defects' In State-Run System

EDMONTON (CP) — The Hall royal commission on health services has been told that a state-supported medical care plan, covering a majority of the population, would replace existing programs by a system "with a lot of potential defects."

Dr. R. K. C. Thomson, chairman of a medical profession committee which drew up a brief submitted to the commission Tuesday, said government would be invading a field that is "already covered to a large extent."

Answering questions from the commission, Dr. Thomson said he found it difficult to envisage a situation "where we would destroy" existing patterns and bring in the state to fill those needs still outstanding.

He refused point-blank a request by Commissioner O. J. Firestone that he and his medical colleagues study whether they would favor a federally-supported national plan based on a majority of the Canadian population being covered, with the provinces deciding individually whether to make it compulsory.

BACKS THOMSON

Saskatchewan's Chief Justice Emmett Hall, commission chairman, backed Dr. Thomson, telling him that the question implied acceptance of "certain principles that are repugnant to you."

This was an apparent reference to the doctor's stand that government should concern itself only with helping those unable to pay for medical insurance; and that insurance programs should be entirely voluntary.

Dr. Thomson was acting as chief spokesman for the Alberta College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Alberta division of the Canadian Medical Association and the University of Alberta faculty of medicine, which presented a joint brief to the commission.

The brief said 67.5 per cent of Alberta households already have medical insurance coverage, and Dr. Thomson insisted under questioning by Commissioner Firestone that more than half the population has adequate coverage.

A survey carried out by the medical profession had indicated that about 9 per cent of the province's population might require "consideration" for government subsidization if a household income of $2,000 a year or less were established as the criterion.

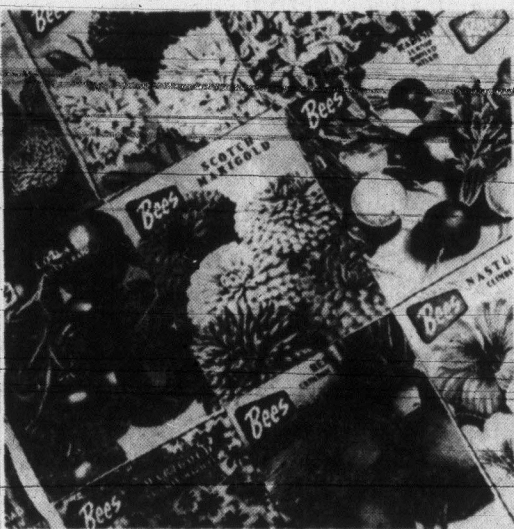

The same survey had found that only 2 per cent of all households in the province refrain from calling a doctor, when illness struck, because "they felt they could not afford to."

MONTE ROBERTS

Citizens, to the ramparts. Down with the government. Off with their heads. Kill the referee. Shoot as soon as you see the whites of their eyes. Dag-nab the torpedoes, full speed ahead. Canada expects each man to do his duty. Tantiy, tantiy, tantiy—CHARGE!

And many other assorted expressions of alarm, dismay, and apprehension.

All of them directed at the C. Beastly C. that rather expensive appendage of the Government of Canada—more formally known as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

You know what this august body, supported as it is by the tax money of all the people in Canada, including the residents of this, the fairest city of them all—you know what the C. Beastly C. is threatening to do?

The CBC is threatening to not televise next season's Western Football League games, that's what; the CBC is threatening to do.

It appears the CBC is miffed because a privately-owned station in Toronto has the rights to the Big Four games, so the CBC says, its collective nostrils flaring, let private stations put on the Western games, too.

Which may be A-okay in some Canadian cities, but not here, where us second class citizens are dependent on the CBC for coverage of Canadian sports.

Up until this moment, I have complained not at all about being nickel-and-dimed by the CBC to support the CBC's ventures into culture.

But if the CBC passes up the WFL, because it is putting at private TV, I am going to do something drastic, such as writing my member of parliament.

Or better still, I am beginning to remember, remember, the fifth of November.

A little gunpowder judiciously placed beneath the CBC board room might emphasize the need for equal rights, right here in Victoria.

Meanwhile, let's all take pen in hand and let our MP's know where we stand.

Which is foursquare against any squares who deprive us of our heritage, namely, the WFL games on TV.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two 12-year-old boys missing from their homes since Monday morning turned up safely Tuesday evening.

Robert Mathews, 2644 Blanshard, and Wayne Coburn, 2646 Blanshard, told their parents they had spent the night "not far from home."

They spent Tuesday at school after being found by the truant officer, they said.

The two were reluctant to return even then but eventually showed up after supper time. They gave no explanation for their night out.

Although the boys spent Tuesday at school, Robert attends St. Louis College and Wayne at North Ward School—their parents didn't know they were safe until they arrived home.

R. B. James, principal of North Ward, and Brother O'Keefe, principal of St. Louis College, both said today they didn't notify the parents because they had no idea the children had been reported missing.

Greater Victoria school board today invited aldermen and city officials to Craigdarroch Castle Thursday at 5 p.m. for annual discussion of the school board's budget proposals.

Reginald A. Cluett, HMCS Beacon Hill, was fined $20 by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Cluett, who is 20, was found to have a 26-ounce bottle of wine in his possession when checked by city police on Hill side.

Thieves who broke into the Duncan office of the Nanaimo Daily Free Press overnight by forcing a back door took $15 from a cash register, then left by the front door.

Jean Bain, a member of the office staff, noted the theft on her arrival at the office this morning.

Duncan Garage Ltd. on Frank Road also was entered, and although it was left in a turmoil, nothing appeared to be missing.

The RCN Pacific Command minesweeper HMCS Miramichi was carrying out firing practice in the Race Rocks-Trial Island area between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. today, and is scheduled for more firing trials during the same hours Friday.

She is on workup following refit.

Monterey PTA will meet on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. E. M. Huber of the teaching staff will explain the Cuisenaire method of arithmetic.

A fire axe and a hammer were used to force open two cash registers in the T. Eaton Warehouse sometime Monday night.

More than $90 was taken. At the same time about $150 in pennies was taken from Deighton's service station, 752 Caledonia.

Thieves also ransacked drawers and an unlocked safe at the car accessory firm of Reynolds, Colgate and Barbour, 1128 Vancouver, but failed to get any money.

A meeting of Lodge 2390, Loyal Order of the Moose, has been changed to Friday at 8 p.m. It was originally scheduled for Thursday.

The St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will meet Thursday at Holyrood House at 8 p.m. A Valentine party will follow initiation of new members.

Thursday Meetings
Victoria Rotary Club: Empress, 12:10 noon; Prof. John B. Wood, "Russian and East German Views of Berlin."

Vic Van Isle Kinsmen Club: Ingraham Hotel, 6:45 p.m.; Mayor R. B. Wilson.

Oak Bay Kiwanis Club: Oak Bay Beach Hotel, 6:15 p.m.; Optimist Club: Yarrow's Building, 12:10 noon.

Beaver Kiwanis Club: Tally Ho Hotel, 7:30 a.m.; W. Ireland, "S.S. Beaver."

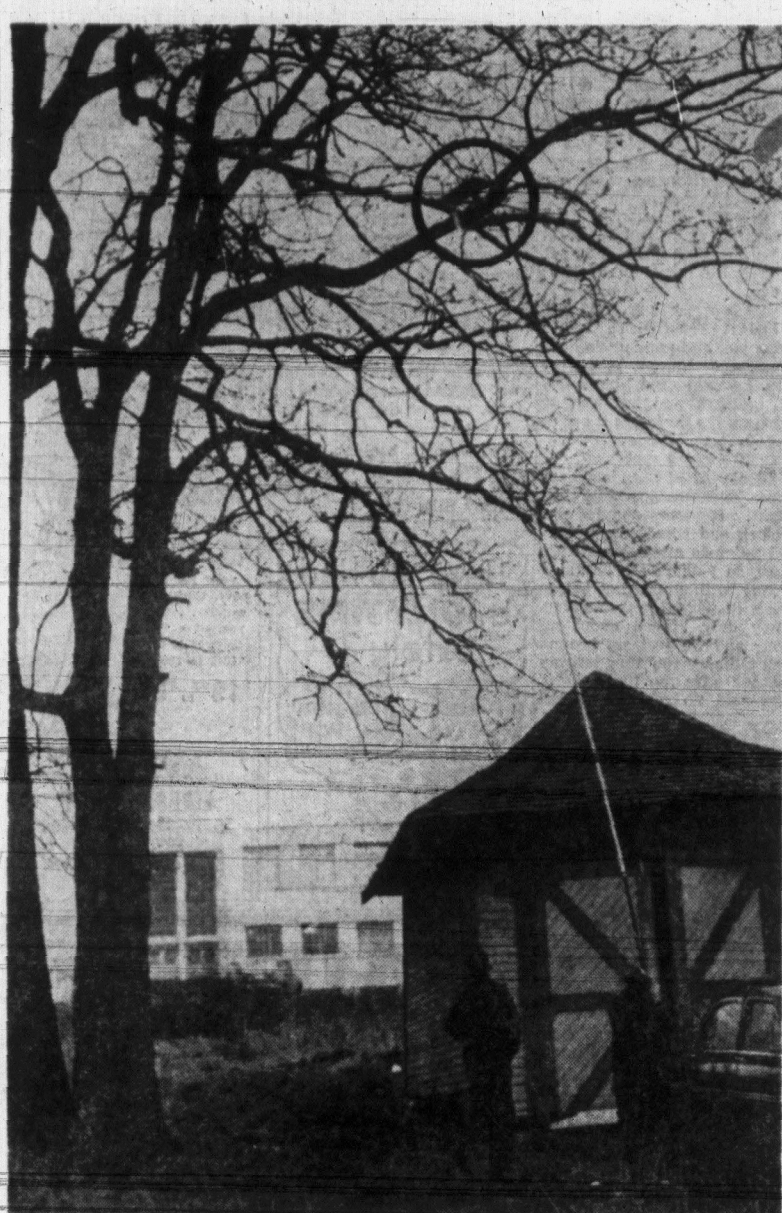

FALLS IN WELL SOUTH END FIRST
Bossy Sprung From Depths By Wrecking Truck, 9 Men

A crew of men from municipal workshops at Duncan acted as angels of mercy Tuesday for a Jersey cow which had grazed not wisely but too well—right down the well, in fact.

The mishap, on the farm of B. Ruffs at The Cliffs, west of Duncan, was discovered by Mrs. Ruffs. Noting that Bossy had fallen south end first down the 20-foot well, she called the men from the shop.

They dropped a noose around her neck to keep her head above water, then pumped the well dry. Employee Sid Carreck entered the well, put ropes around the animal, then with a wrecker pulling on one side and nine men on the other, she came.

She soon was walking around, apparently unharmed.

SO, WHO NEEDS HELP?

After starving for seven days in a tree, grey cat (circle) today brushed aside an offer of assistance from SPCA. She came down on her own steam—just as paraphernalia was raised to catch her. Apparently too frightened to climb down, Tabby had been in the tree at 906 Market Street since last Wednesday. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

College Looks Hard At Peace Corps Plan

Victoria College is studying the possibility of sending students abroad on an all-Canadian "Peace Corps" later this year.

A four-man committee has been set up at the college to study the value of the Canadian University Service Overseas.

STILL WINTER

Look Out For That Sneak Punch

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may, but don't plant them for a while yet.

This was the advice of weatherman Bill Mackie when asked if spring temperatures such as enjoyed lately could be expected to continue.

While there is no immediate prospect of a cold front moving towards Victoria, winter could be far from over, he said. "It has often happened in Victoria that a late February cold spell has come along quite unexpectedly," Mr. Mackie said. "It's still a little early to plant the roses."

Frost has hit the city as late as April 30.

RAIN
Rain is expected to continue tonight followed by slow improvement Thursday.

It will be mainly cloudy and winds will waver between 15 and 25 miles per hour, according to the weatherman.

Temperatures will range from a low of 42 tonight to the mid-fifties Thursday and the usual early morning fog is expected.

CITY POLICE SEND FAMILY MONEY GIFT

The family of Vancouver detective Larry Short who was killed in a gun battle in a Vancouver hotel on Friday will receive nearly $500 from Victoria city policemen.

The city policemen's union here decided to contribute $5 each from their March pay cheques to help Det. Short's widow and three children. The union has some 90 members.

The Vancouver detective was shot when he went to check out a routine complaint at the waterfront Bayshore Inn.

50 TEACHERS
CUSO has been asked by the Nigerian government to assist in recruiting 50 teachers for schools in Nigeria for the 1962-63 academic year.

A final selection committee will visit Canada in March.

Ex-Engineer's Funeral Set For Thursday

Funeral service will be held Thursday for former city engineer Gifford M. Irwin, 2565 Beach Drive, who died Tuesday in hospital after a brief illness.

He was 76.

Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James will officiate at the 1:30 p.m. service in Hayward's funeral home.

Mr. Irwin was born in Minnedosa, Man. He graduated in engineering from McGill University and served as a captain with the Canadian Army overseas during the First World War.

He lived 30 years in Victoria, coming here as assistant engineer. Succeeding to the city engineer's post in 1935, he held it for 15 years until his retirement.

LIFE MEMBER
A member of the Professional Engineers' Association of B.C., he also was a life member of St. Andrew's Lodge No. 49 AF & AM.

Mr. Irwin also held membership in the Victoria Lodge of Perfection A & ASR and the Victoria Chapter of the Rose Croix.

Survivors include the widow, Olive, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Richard Stapells of Penicton; two sons, John and Harold, of Victoria; two brothers, William and Wilfred, of Vancouver; and four grandchildren.

Bonner, Fulton To Meet Friday

Doukhobors, Power On Ottawa Agenda

Attorney-General Robert Bonner will meet federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton in Ottawa Friday to discuss Sons of Freedom Doukhobor problems, and Columbia River power.

The date was arranged for what a government official here described as "informal talks" on a number of problems relating to the Sons of Freedom and outbreaks of bombing and violence in the Kootenays.

However, the subject of power is almost sure to be discussed too.

LOTS TO SAY
"I don't expect either of them will be tongue-tied on the subject," said another top B.C. government official.

He said it would be, only natural for Mr. Bonner and Mr. Fulton to talk power as both had been involved in all the negotiations for a treaty with the U.S., and both have acted as spokesmen for their governments on power policies.

B.C. and Ottawa have held no talks on the Columbia since May 1961, when Premier Bennett had an informal chat with Finance Minister Donald Fleming at a Quebec convention.

NO ANSWER
Mr. Bennett wrote to Mr. Fleming at the start of the current B.C. legislative session asking for another meeting either here or in Ottawa.

But he has received no answer.

Mr. Bennett won't talk to Mr. Fulton at all. However, he may have briefed Mr. Bonner, who left here today, in anticipation of some action on the power impasse.

B.C. wants to sell all the Columbia downstream power benefits to the U.S. on a 20-year contract.

Ottawa is firmly opposed to anything but short-term sale of benefits surplus to B.C. requirements.

On the question of Sons of Freedom, Mr. Bonner is understood to have several proposals to make to Mr. Fulton.

However, a departmental official says there is no plan for dispersal of the Sons of Freedom, as suggested Tuesday by Nelson Mayor Thomas Short.

POLICE COST AID
But Mr. Bonner has said in the past there should be more federal assistance in the problems created by terrorism, particularly aid in extra policing costs.

Currently some 50 members of the Sons of Freedom sect are being tried for acts of terrorism, and the Nelson courthouse where some of the trials are being held was recently bombed.

William Morris, Vancouver executive secretary of the Automotive Transport Association of B.C., said the clauses which force use of the PGE unless alternate means of transport cost less, are discriminatory.

OVERIDDEN
"We've protested when they have done this on previous contracts," he said, "but the protests have been overridden. There's nothing more we can do about it."

Ken Calder, president of a large mainland cartage company, said the clause is irregular. It forces "a shipper to tell the government what price a trucker has given them; then the government (line) will try to meet it."

The Automotive Transport Association directors will discuss the matter at a forthcoming meeting.

Witnesses Report On Fatality
A number of witnesses to Tuesday's fatal accident at Pandora and Cook Street have come forward in response to a police appeal.

Inspector Brooke Douglass of the traffic division said he was receiving their reports later today.

Killed in the car-bicycle collision was 13-year-old Gerald Griffin, 2221 Lydia Street.

An inquest will be held Thursday in McCall's Funeral Chapel at 10 a.m.

Funeral services for the boy will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. at McCall's. Cremation will follow.

NO KNICKERS
Bobby Hats Bid Revived By Edgelow

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow Tuesday revived a request that city police agree to wear the traditional London "bobby" helmets on the Causeway beat during the tourist season.

But he turned down a counter suggestion that he wear knickerbockers all summer to add more color.

Traffic committee agreed to ask the police commission and the police union to seriously consider Ald. Edgelow's suggestion as a centennial year gesture for the tourist trade.

TWO DISAGREE
Ald. Michael Griffin and Ald. A. W. Toone disagreed with the move, pointing out the police union rejected the proposal last year.

"After all this is a tourist town and I don't think it's unreasonable to ask them for co-operation," said Ald. Edgelow, centennial committee chairman.

"Is the chairman of the centennial committee willing to spend the rest of the summer wearing knickerbockers?" queried Ald. Griffin.

MERGER STUDY

City Fears Distortion At Talkfest

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor R. B. Wilson today denied criticism that city council was taking an obstinate stand against a non-government study of amalgamation pros and cons.

He said any impartial and thorough study of the question would be "worthy of serious consideration."

The mayor's comments were seen as a final attempt to spotlight the fact that city council has not slammed any doors on the subject if a genuine study is proposed.

He said the city could not agree to a mere discussion by interested municipal committee delegates as another item on their regular agenda because this could not produce an impartial or thorough survey of such a complex question.

Mayor Wilson emphasized that Victoria's primary concern—when and if a study is made—is only that it be impartial and complete.

That's why the city would ensure that all ratepayers get the unadulterated facts directly so they can make up their minds on whether or not amalgamation would benefit or harm them.

DISTORTION FEARED

City spokesmen have studiously avoided making direct implications, but it's obvious one of the reasons they see no point in a "gab session" by elected officials is that vested interests are involved and might distort facts.

Mayor Wilson added that the city would prefer a study of amalgamation under the Municipal Act because it would guarantee impartiality and thoroughness.

But, he added, the city would certainly consider any expert study by the municipalities if a competent chairman was proposed.

"The essential thing to get from any study is all the facts, and this simply can't be done in an informal discussion," he said.

Mayor Wilson also pointed out critics of the city position glossed over the "our rules or his game" stand taken first by opponents of a thorough study.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me who Viscount Moleworth is or if there is any such person? W.W.

A. Charles Richard Moleworth is 10th Viscount Moleworth and Baron Phillips-town. The title was created in 1716. The first viscount supported William of Orange and was a prominent member of the Irish privy council. The third viscount saved Marlborough's life at Ramillies and rose to the rank of field-marshal.

Q. What is the oldest city in the world? P.R.L.

A. Jericho is considered the oldest. Archaeologists have found evidence of habitation there dating from 7,000 B.C.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Bone China Floral Pins With Earrings . . . Lovely!

By PENNY SAVER

There really is nothing more attractive than delicate, dainty bone china jewelry and I happened across a wonderful supply with an outstanding assortment this morning. Brooches in almost any floral design would gather compliments every time you put one on. They sell for $1.25 as do the earrings to match. Take your choice of pansies, carnations, pinks, roses, poppies, violets or dogwood.

Bone china miniature animals are collectors' items to many women. They're nice for party favors too, or for the little "niche" somewhere in the house that needs just "a little something."

Once I've seen, are cats and kittens, dogs and pups (any kind of dog), owls, donkeys, horses or birds. Set of three or four sells for only 95 cents.

Those ole "puddy tats" are always after the bird or the goldfish it seems, in stories anyway, and this myth holds true with the clinging, china Siamese cats I've seen.

They are designed for the fish bowl and are formed so the front paws hook on the lip of the bowl. The head rests between the paws pensively staring, and definitely sure of where the next meal is coming from.

Attractive and fun this novelty is only 75 cents.

"People watchers" is the name given to the lovely ornamental birds I've seen. They're made to look like miniature copies of real birds and even have real tail feathers.

The vivid colors are perfect to blend with a flower arrangement or plants. Wire feet of the birds are made in such a way that by bending them slightly, they can be attached to most anything. Birds are yours for only 90 cents each.

Wondering where I saw all these lovely novelties? Call me or write and I'll be glad to tell you.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Some Valentine for Hubby—'New' Marathon-Slim Wife!

A lot of women all over the country are giving their husbands a very special valentine this year—'younger' and 'prettier' wives! A 'new' wife is a valentine that is sentimental and nostalgic, just as hearts and red ribbons candy decorated with paper lace are.

I know this to be true because thousands of women joined my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon to see how much they could improve their appearance in that length of time. Many are shooting at a loss of 20 pounds in eight weeks.

The entire eight weeks is not finished yet but enough time has whizzed by for happy results to begin to show. Rolls and pads of fat are melting under the impact of diet and exercise, posture is improving, and seams are being taken in. You also are probably walking and moving about like a woman years younger.

Some of you may already have lost as much weight as you wish to lose, and you may be wondering what to do now. If this is true, or when it is true, do the following:

Add 300 calories to your daily intake. Watch the scales and see what happens. If you begin to gain, cut back. If not, add another 300 calories at the end of a week. By watching the scales you can determine how many calories you need each day in order to maintain your ideal weight.

When you add these calories, don't make them all 'empty' calories, or those which give you no health value. In other words, do not go back to the old eating habits. If you do, it will be only a short time until you regain your weight. Give yourself a once-in-a-while treat. Your craving for rich foods probably has disappeared, but don't become careless.

At the first of each year I offer my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon. If you failed to join and would like to do so, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet which gives you all necessary directions. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Guard Your Hair

This is the age-of-hair coloring. It has burst upon us in full radiance and has offered many women another 10 years of youth.

Small wonder that some women switch hair colors the way they do lipstick shades. They're like children turned loose in a toy store. But one word of caution: if you have hair coloring, professionally or at home, don't forget hair health.

All of the goodies that make your hair look pretty happen also to be drying. So make use of hot oil treatments at home or salon treatments regularly if you want healthy hair.

same tie he had given him for Christmas in 1958. I guess it must have LOOKED like my uncle because I thoughtlessly sent it back to him for Christmas, 1961! I know it was a foolish mistake, but we sent about 100 gifts every year and I honestly forgot the history of this tie. We haven't heard from this uncle and I wonder if we shouldn't write and apologize? He must think we're crazy.

THOUGHTLESS DEAR ABBY: I hope you and your uncle have a sense of humor. If I were you I would send him a box of matches and tell him to burn up the tie to put it out of circulation.

DEAR ABBY: In 1959 I sent a necktie to an elderly uncle for Christmas. I had this tie around the house for some time (still in its original plain white box and tissue), and forgotten where it came from. It looked like an old man's tie and my husband wouldn't wear it.

Well, for Christmas, 1960, this old uncle sent the tie to my husband saying it was the

Italians Have a Knack With Flattering Styles

ROME (UPI) — The leggy look—with short, swinging skirts—dominate the Italian fashion scene this spring and summer.

Hemlines that just cover the knee, an easy silhouette and bright, bold Mediterranean color are the ingredients of the new Italian look.

Italy's high fashion designers open the season's international style previews in Rome recently.

Later, the scene shifted to Florence, where 15 high fashion houses and 31 boutiques presented collections.

Buyers from all over the world were on hand for the new collections. Italian-design-

Privilege of Service Brings Responsibility Council Told

There is a growing tendency today to allow the "sometimes terrifying world situation to dwarf into insignificance the ordinary day to day problems," Mrs. Ralph T. Gilmore, told the Provincial Council of Women this morning.

In her report as provincial president given at opening session of the 43rd annual meeting of the Council in the Empress Hotel, Mrs. Gilmore pointed out the danger of taking a "fatalistic" view of the world today and of sinking into the attitude of "what's the use."

"We have the privilege of being either a doer or an on-looker," she said, "of being either active or passive. But can we afford the luxury of standing in the wings and merely watching the world go by?"

COULD LOSE IT

"Can we afford the luxury of not accepting the responsibility, and opportunity for service to our community and country that is given us in our democracy. If we do not accept we could lose that privilege."

Mrs. Gilmore pointed out that "the Council of Women avail themselves of the opportunity for service."

"We rightly admire and regard with a measure of awe the endurance of our pioneers, but pioneer is a relative term."

Among those planning to attend are former graduates, Mrs. W. G. Flett, president of the Old Girls' Association, and Mrs. R. R. Wilde, secretary; members of the executive of the Parents' Auxiliary to St. Margaret's School, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Overman, Rev. J. A. Roberts and Mrs. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Paynter.

Proceeds from this dance will go to the school magazine, "The Cardinal."

—we are the pioneers of tomorrow.

"Today's rapid methods of communication have the unique power of producing instant history. We have an important part in making that history, just as our founders had."

She spoke with pride of a new council project to be started at this conference in co-operation with the extension department of the University of British Columbia, on the study of all aspects of Indian affairs. "We feel confident that future deliberations will be followed with great interest by many groups to our mutual benefit."

Council sessions continued this afternoon. Tonight A. S. Cormier, senior officer with the citizenship branch for western Canada will speak on "Understanding Indian Affairs."

On Thursday afternoon delegates will attend a sitting of the Legislature and in the evening will meet the Premier and members of the Executive Council at the Parliament Buildings to present resolutions passed at the meeting.

Couple Honeymoon in California

After a honeymoon on Catalina Island, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sidney Provan will make their home at 22 Garden Park Court. They were married in Centennial United Church last Saturday evening with Dr. S. J. Parsons officiating.

The bride, the former Donna Marie Robertson, is the daughter of Mrs. Lucy I. Robertson, 1385 Hillside Avenue. Mrs. Ted Chartres, 1023 Davis Street, is the groom's mother.

White gladioli decorated the church and white satin ribbons formed pew markers.

Brock Robertson gave his niece in marriage. Her classic floor-length gown of delustrated satin had a skirt with a bustle effect that swept back to a chapel train. Seed pearls trimmed the petals of self material that emphasized the waistline of the fitted bodice and edged the scooped neckline. Sleeves ended in lily points. Chapel-length veil of illusion net misted from a coronet of pearls and aurora borealis. Red roses and white hyacinths were in the cascade bouquet.

Sheath gowns of red velvet were worn by the matron of honor, Mrs. Hugh McCoy; maid of honor, Miss Lorraine Pitman and bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Inglis. White fur muffs and headpieces and bouquets of red and white carnations completed their ensembles.

Susan Leibel was flower girl in a red velvet frock that had puffed sleeves and a gathered skirt. She wore a white fur hat and carried a white fur muff.

Twin brothers, Gregory and Grant Barlow, were ring bearers, wearing white satin shirts and black pants and carrying white satin cushions.

David L. Provan, Seattle, was best man for his brother and ushers were Rene Le Beuf and Jack Mahood. Miss Ann Burridge sang "O Lord Most Holy" during the ceremony and Schubert's "Thou Art Repose" during the signing of the register.

Charles Smith, godfather of the bride, proposed the toast at a reception in the Golden Slipper Supper Club. Red roses flanked a three-tier wedding cake that centred the head table.

For her going-away outfit the bride chose a red wool suit topped with a winter white overcoat. Accessories were black and corsage of red and white carnations.

Spadea's INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERN

LACHASSE of London

The popularity of the classic shirt-waist dress continues season after season, and in this charming version by Lachasse of London it attains new heights for spring '62. The easy bodice with inset sleeves features a bias neckband, the ends passing through a loop for softness. A slender skirt, distinguished by its sunburst front, has a low centre back slit for graceful walking. A wonderful go-anywhere dress which you'll find an indispensable addition to your wardrobe, it makes up most effectively in fluid fabrics such as soft silks and rayons (plain or printed), jersey, challis, fine woolsens, crepe, shantung or cotton. From these corresponding body measurements select the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to that used for better ready-to-wear.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips	Length
10	34	24	35	16 1/2 inches
12	35	25	36	16 1/2 inches
14	36 1/2	26 1/2	37 1/2	17 inches
16	38	28	39	17 1/2 inches
18	40	30	41	17 1/2 inches

*From nape of neck to waist.

Size 12 requires three yards of 42" fabric for dress. To order Pattern No. NS-382, state size, send $1.25. For air mail handling add 25c. For Pattern Books Nos. 17 and 19, send $1.25 for each. Consumers' Group Scores in New Development on Retail Market

Consumers' Association of Canada has scored another victory in the announcement that this month consumers will be able to buy children's underwear made to the new Canada standard sizes, for the first time.

Specifications for 19 kinds of garments have been completed and issued by the Canadian Government Specifications Board. These include: Girls' knitted vests and panties, woven pyjamas, knitted ankle-length drawers, knitted bloomers and vests and flat knit polo pyjamas; boys' knitted undershirts, briefs, ankle-length drawers, knitted combinations, pyjamas, woven undershorts, dress and sports shirts, flat knit T-shirts, polo pyjamas and waist-length jackets.

Other specifications are in various stages of work. Authentic CSS mark of measuring tape and two tiny figures of children will be found on the outer package, at present, but within a few months it will appear on the garment itself.

There is no other mark that means Canada Standard Size. And it applies only to the size of the garment when bought, not to standards of material or workmanship or shrinking or stretching or anything else. It does not refer to quality and may appear on a very expensive garment or a very inexpensive one.

It was in 1952 that the government responded to a request from Canadian Consumers' Association of Canada (now Consumers' Association of Canada) and others to set up a committee to end the confusion in sizes of children's clothing.

Under the Canadian Government Specifications Board, representatives of manufacturers, retailers, consumers and government have worked together for standardized sizes based on the actual measurements of thousands of children from walking age into late teens.

Success of the new system will depend, to a large extent, on consumers. Retailers are now waiting for their reaction to these first CSS undergarments before extending the use of these sizes to children's outer garments.

Mrs. A. B. Young, president of the Victoria branch of CAC, is delighted that "a start has been made."

She points out that already one department store in Victoria has a stock of the standard-sized garments and the other is waiting for a stock to come in.

"Both stores have been most co-operative," Mrs. Young says, "even to the point of training staff to measure children for the new standards."

Crutches Provide Motor Power To Make Bed Walk

HAMILTON (CP)—Pretty Audrey Speight, 19, has become an inspiration to other patients in St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Paralyzed from the waist down since her back was broken in an automobile accident last November, she was sure she was doomed to months of inactivity.

But she got an idea from a television program. She noticed that on Route 66, patients in a veterans' hospital were shown using crutches to push their beds around. Now she uses a pair of children's crutches like large poles and wheels up and down the corridors talking to other patients.

Audrey gets an hour's physiotherapy daily and then practises by herself, raising herself from the bed by pulling on an overhead bar to strengthen the back muscles she will need to walk again.

Thor Hansen Here Friday

Thor Hansen, art director of British American Oil Company's public relations department, will be guest speaker at meeting of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club, this Friday afternoon in the Empress Hotel. His subject will be "Canadian Arts and Crafts." Meeting will commence at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. Hansen came from Denmark as a new Canadian in 1928 and spent his first years in Canada on the prairies. He began to specialize as an artist in needlepoint patterns and rug designs, to tell the story of Canada. Recognition came in the form of requests for these designs from all parts of the country.

In 1938 he was named staff artist for the BA Company and when this company erected its new building in Toronto Mr. Hansen did the decorations, using Canadian folk and Indian lore as the motif.

He is in great demand as a speaker and has gained an enviable reputation in this field.

Leaves City — Jaycee-Ette Ben Darnell was presented with a silver spoon at recent dinner meeting of the Victoria Jaycee-Ettes at which Nona Damaske, Times' fashion editor, was guest speaker. Mrs. Darnell is leaving the city to make her home in Winnipeg. At another meeting held at the Maizon George beauty salon, a hair demonstration was given and coffee and donuts served. It was announced that tickets for the Winnifred Mather fashion demonstration at the Oak Bay Junior High School on March 14 may be obtained at Price and Smith or bought at the door.

Fruited Spice Cake Delicious Contrast

Full of delicious and unexpected contrasts, that's this cake!

The topping is a crisp, toasted meringue sprinkled with nuts. It's crunchy and chewy in an offhand, elegant sort of way.

Underneath, the cake itself is so high and light and fluffy you marvel it could even hold up the delicate heft of the topping. But it does... and that's not all. It whiffs the spicy fragrance of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, and tastes of them, too. Best touch of all here and there all through the cake are soft, meaty little pieces of prunes... and these contribute their own special tart-sweet, winy richness to the cake.

This is a cake to serve, barely cooled from the oven, in big generous squares... for coffee-and-dessert occasions... as a family meal dessert... as a teatime treat or for late evening refreshments. If you wish to keep it on hand for a day or two, you must cheerfully can, for it stays moist and tender for three or four days, a delight right down to the final crumb.

To achieve this proud triumph, just follow the simple recipe... but exactly, please. While easy to make, this cake does call for a careful respect for the directions.

MERINGUE FRUITED SPICE CAKE

Two cups unsifted cake flour, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves, 3/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup soft shortening, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs, un-beaten, 3/4 cup ground cooked prunes (about 16 prunes), 2 egg whites, 1 cup sifted brown sugar, firmly packed, 1/4 cup walnuts.

To measure cake flour, spoon flour to overflowing into nested measuring cups, level off with straight-edged spatula.

Sift, or stir to mix thoroughly, flour, sugar, baking powder, soda, salt and spices into mixing bowl. Add shortening, sour milk and vanilla. Beat 200 round-the-bowl strokes or two minutes on electric mixer at low speed. Scrape bowl and spoon or beater. Add eggs and beat 200 round-the-bowl strokes or two minutes on mixer at low speed. Add prunes and beat 40 strokes or about 15 seconds on mixer at low speed until prunes are well mixed in cake batter. Scrape bowl and spoon or beater. Pour batter into greased and floured 8"x12" pan. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes. Meanwhile, make meringue topping by beating egg whites until they hold a stiff peak. Add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Spread meringue on baked cake and sprinkle with nuts. Return to oven and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes or until meringue is well-browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: If cake is baked in glass baking pan, reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees.

Exquisite Bridal Gown Highlighted in Lace

Panels of lace applique highlighted the floor-length gown of white silk organza worn by Geraldine Jo (Jerry) Newby for her marriage to Gary Michael Zwicker in Metropolitan United Church. Gown was styled on princess lines and had a chapel train. An iridescent coronet held the chapel-length veil of French illusion net. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Rapture roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Parents of the principals are Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Newby, 1161 Camrose Crescent, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Zwicker of Page, Arizona. Dr. Newby gave his daughter in marriage.

White calla lilies decorated the church for the candlelight ceremony at which Dr. F. E. H. James officiated. John Dunbar sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love Thee."

Ballerina-length gowns in royal blue delustrated satin with toning flower hats, designed and made by the bride, were worn by maid of honor, Miss Patricia Blake, Kamloops, and bridesmaids, Miss Margo Zwicker, Portland, Ore., sister of the groom; Miss Brenda Kale, Coulee Dam, Wash., and Miss Mary Jo Kershbaum, Blaine, Wash., fellow students of the bride at Washington State University at Pullman.

The maid of honor's cascade bouquet was of white calla lilies, centred with pink roses, while bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of white calla lilies and magnolia leaves.

Guy Tucker, Nogales, Arizona, was best man and ushers were Cordell Newby, Leavenworth, Wash., brother of the bride, Robert Wilson, Pullman, Wash. and Robert Mader, Portland, Ore.

Alfred Atherton proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel. Rose bowls of white spray chrysanthemums and pink Rapture roses and Georgian candelabra flanked the wedding cake that was centred on the head table.

Pink gladioli and white calla lilies decorated the lounge. Len Acres' orchestra played for dancing.

The honeymoon will be spent travelling to Washington State University where the bride is a senior in business administration and her husband a senior in veterinary medicine. Newlyweds plan to tour the United States during the month of June following their graduation.

Leaving on honeymoon the bride wore an American Beauty red suit, white hat with toning flowers, black accessories and orchid corsage.

Gay Princess Twirls Back Into Limelight

LONDON (CP)—Look for an increase in public activities by Princess Margaret in the coming months.

After that long holiday in the Caribbean, which drew unfavorable comments from press and public, the irrepressible princess is buckling down to work.

Her list of engagements, somewhat sparse lately, is beginning to lengthen. Before the month ends, she will open a new chapel in Surrey, inaugurate a church hall in Stepney and attend an exhibition sponsored by the British Color Council.

And one of the bright spots in the diary is a dance given today by an association of Canadian universities in Britain. The ball will be at Quaglin's, a London restaurant, and the princess will be escorted by her husband, the Earl of Snowdon.

Last week Clarence House made a point of announcing that other activities are on tap—a visit to a Kent factory in April and to the Girl Guides in May.

"The princess is beginning to resume her engagements and she will play as full a role as she did before," said the announcement.

Those who like to read between the royal lines will probably leap to the conclusion that somebody has taken the princess aside and given her a gentle lecture. Evidently, there is a desire in court circles to efface the memory of the recent unfavorable press the princess and her husband have received.

It is understood the mailbag at Buckingham Palace has contained more critical letters in recent weeks than at any time since the princess was con-

Combine two cups of cubed cooked chicken with a can of condensed cream of chicken or mushroom soup and one cup of cooked peas. Season with pepper and a little nutmeg. For the tasty topping, trim the crusts from three slices of bread. Toast the bread on one side and cut in half. Arrange, toasted side down, to cover the creamed mixture. Cover with slices of Swiss cheese and bake in a moderate oven, preheated to 350 deg. F., for 30 minutes.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — President Kennedy is "ripe for satire," claims Charlie Manna, the astronaut comedian who would not go into space without his crayons, "because he loves show business and has shows at the White House."

Manna, 37, says, "I imagine the White House having a booking agent to hire him."

Now Sophie Tucker, who did White House parties for President McKinley when it was still called Loew's White House, and who became known as the last of the White House Mamas, comes up for consideration by the booking agent.

Manna, now at the Copacabana, thinks JFK would love being satirized in that way. Manna's devising a satirical TV show hoping it can be as brilliant as Sid Caesar's or Jackie Gleason's. I asked Manna how he gets along with Copacabana Prop. Jules Poldi, who's not notoriously a satire addict.

"Do you talk?" I asked him. "Talk! Certainly!" said Manna. "He says 'Water!' and I say 'Yes, Sir!'"

Rita Hayworth, having dinner at Teddy's, said "Yes," she's still seeing a lot of Gary Merrill with whom she'll co-star in a Broadway show and she'll keep it that way. ask Andy

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Rodger Wehage, age 12, of Portland, Ore., for his question:

Where Do Cosmic Rays Come From?

Our poor old world, it seems, is at war with the entire universe. Day and night it is bombarded with barrages of bullets from outer space. Some of this heavenly artillery is called cosmic rays and may well come from the farthest parts of the Milky Way.

In the language of science, a ray can be a stream of electromagnetic energy, such as a radio wave. A ray is also the name of a stream of electrically charged particles, such as the electrons which draw the picture on a TV screen. Cosmic rays are streams of high speed particles which crash into the lofty atmosphere above the earth.

These bullets from outer space may reach almost the speed of light. They are the cores or nuclei of atoms with the outer electrons stripped away. Such lopsided atoms are charged ions and most of tossing its gases in all directions. Some of these gaseous fragments may get trapped between cosmic magnetic fields, tossed back and forth and whipped to furious speeds. This dramatic event may or may not be the source of our cosmic rays.

We have two good reasons for seeking the truth about these cosmic bullets. Space travelers must cope with primary cosmic rays and secondary cosmic rays bombarding everything on earth. On the spot information is gathered by some of our satellites and sent down to be analyzed. Several satellites are still orbiting after their work is done and Explorer VII is still sending down news.

Andy sends a Hammond's Library World Atlas to Robbie Grigsby, age 12, of Lexington, S.C., for the question:

How big is the Solar System?

It is wonderful to give the old mind some stretching exercises by thinking about the wide reaches of outer space. Compared with our globe, the Solar System is large indeed. Its centre is the blazing sun, its outer rim is the orbit of Pluto. From side to side, the huge system measures more than 6,000,000,000 miles.

This figure is hard to grasp, but we can scale it down to a size our minds can understand. If the planet sun were reduced to a two-foot ball, the outer rim of the Solar System would be more than three miles away from it. From side to side, our small scale Solar System would measure about three and one-quarter miles.

'Bubble Gum King'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—J. Warren Bowman, dubbed the world's bubble gum king in the early part of the last decade, died of a heart attack in hospital last week. He was 67. Bowman started a chewing gum factory in Philadelphia in 1927. In 1929 he came out with a product called "blony" bubble gum and became a millionaire at the age of 40.

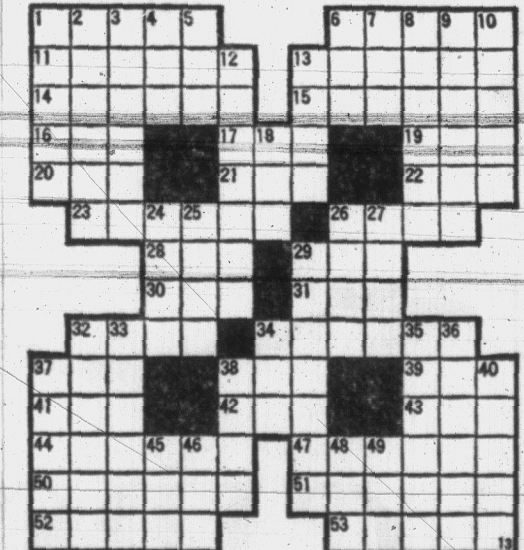

THE MIDNIGHT EARL: Fifth Pla's making records in Paris, but won't work the cafes in '62. Danny Kaye and producer David Merrick are discussing a B'way musical comedy. Connie Francis cancelled her Miami Beach date in March; she'll be movie-making then for MGM. H'wood duo: George Burns' son Ronnie and Sherry Jackson, who was Danny Thomas' TV dtr.

Diamant Carroll will be on the cover of the final Show Business Illustrated. Lucky Luciano's ex-bodyguard, Bill Mancuso, has turned down publishers' bids for a bio of the dead gangster. Mystery author Ian Fleming said at Cavanagh's he gets notes from JFK about his books (which the president enjoys). Actress Ann Francis' baby is due in March and she's reading scripts for a May start.

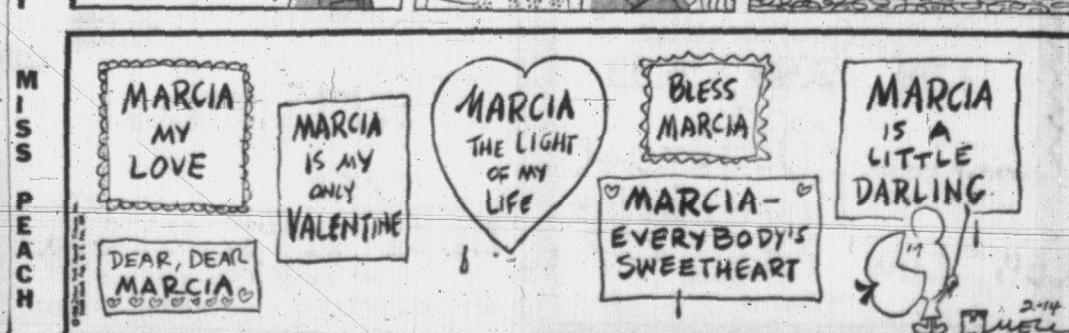

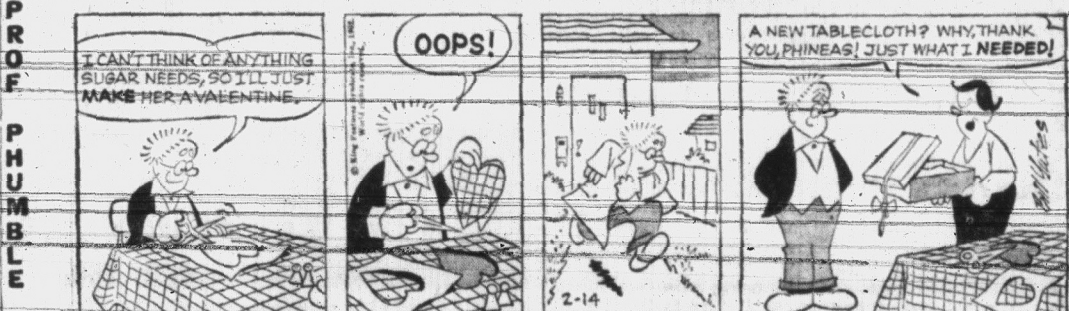

EARL'S PEARLS: Just about the time a woman thinks her work is finally done, her husband asks her to help him with the dishes.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: With the sexy pictures on today's record album covers, a lot of music fans come out of the stores whistling instead of humming.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: An egomaniac is a guy who's quite a bit to the centre of self-centre.

Fooferaw Over Bill for Anthems

NANAIMO — A bill sent to Nanaimo Civic Properties and Recreation Commission, apparently representing royalties for the playing of "God Save the Queen" and "O Canada" at the Civic Arena, was all a misunderstanding.

W. S. Low, Toronto, general manager of the Composers, Authors, and Publishers Association of Canada Ltd., said Tuesday night that "we as an association have not billed, will not bill, and will never bill anybody anywhere at any time for the performance in public of 'God Save the Queen'."

There is a copyright version of "O Canada", he said, "but we don't deal with that either."

An uproar started with the commission here reported having received, on two occasions, bills from CAPAC for $18. It was understood the charge was made for the playing of the anthems at sports events.

Mr. Low said CAPAC never specifies titles, but collects a flat government-approved quarter-annual fee from arenas for copyrighted works, based on seating capacities.

He said it was possible that the Nanaimo commission had received an inquiry from his association field staff as to what music was played at sporting events at the arena.

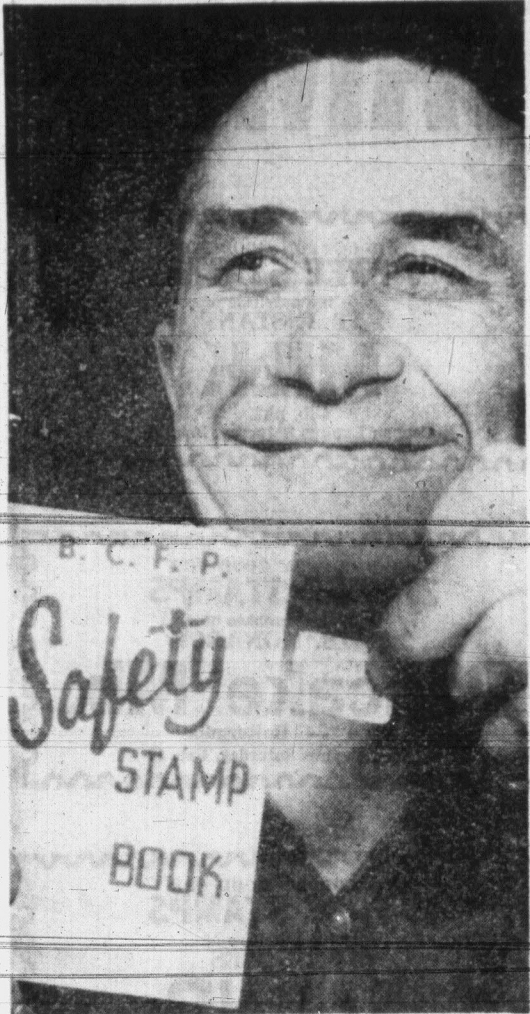

Mr. Low said that if no answer was received from the commission, his field staff might have billed the commission anyway, based on what the association was informed was done.

He said that method was used at times to "flush out" information that was not otherwise forthcoming.

It is possible, he said, that if the commission played only God Save the Queen and O Canada, they assumed that the bill was for those two songs.

He said that if an arena returns an inquiry stating that only God Save the Queen or O Canada is played, no bills are sent.

SAFETY STAMPS are being given away at B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill at Crofton to workers who spend month on job without accident. At year's end they will be exchanged for turkeys and other prizes. Eddie Jones, machine tender, already has started saving. Mill has been proclaimed safest in Canada, and presentation of B.C. Safety Council shield was made this week. (Agnes Flett Photo.)

Loggers Want Cut In Travelling Time

COURTENAY — Local 333 of the IWA has passed a resolution calling for reduced travelling time on company property.

Present contracts allow a maximum of 10 hours' travel for which the worker receives no pay, so that he could spend 18 hours on company property and receive wages for only eight.

Also approved were 20 other resolutions to be presented to the IWA conference in Vancouver in early March. These include reduced working hours and across the board pay increases.

Earl Kemps, Olli Rajala, Nick Chernoff and Jack Mack will attend the IWA conference to present the resolution.

'Other Half' Of Schools Gets Holiday

Southern Vancouver Island school children, who missed a holiday last Friday during the Greater Victoria School Teachers' Convention, will get one this Friday when the South Vancouver Island Teachers' Association opens in Nanaimo.

Some 800 elementary and secondary school teachers from the districts of Sooke, Saanich, Gulf Islands, Cowichan, Lake Cowichan, Ladysmith and Parksville-Qualicum will take part. Teachers from Indian and parochial schools also have been invited.

Guest speaker at the opening session on Friday will be Dr. E. N. Ellis of the Vancouver school system. His address will be entitled "The Assumptions and Consequences of Objective Examinations."

Sectional meetings will take place all day Friday on such topics as: industrial arts changes, Cuisenaire mathematics, the common market and school drama.

Guest speakers from Victoria will include Dr. C. L. Lamberton from the English department at Victoria College; V. E. Rickard, Inspector of technical classes; H. M. Evans, registrar in the department of education, and C. Guiget of the Provincial Museum.

Saturday will be devoted to general business. Speakers at this session will include H. M. Falson, first vice-president, and Stanley Evans, assistant general secretary of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

ISLAND DIGEST

V.I. ROUNDUP

RCAF Moves To Muzzle New Voodoos

COMOX—Preparations are being made here for the arrival in the next few weeks of the first of the CF101B Voodoo aircraft designated for 409 Night Hawk All Weather Fighter Squadron.

The new aircraft, capable of 1,200 miles per hour, will replace the CF100 fighters which have been here for several years.

Because of the afterburners incorporated in the jets for extra thrust, and which provide power equal to that of 10 diesel locomotives, steps are being taken to minimize public discomfort from the greater noise of the Voodoos.

Aircraft departures will be made as often as possible away from built-up areas, and careful selection of ground "run-up" areas now is in progress. Climbing angles of departing aircraft also will be controlled as much as possible.

Sonic "booms" caused by the aircraft passing through the sound barrier will be aimed near areas of minimum population.

COURTENAY — Cumberland Recreational Institute has asked the district school board for a $1,000 increase in rent.

Bill Henderson and James Faulds presented a brief on behalf of the institute in which they asked for an increase in rent for gymnasium facilities. Cumberland High School has no gymnasium and rents facilities in the recreation hall for $2,000 per year.

They pointed out that school activities account for 75 per cent of the total use of the hall.

ALBERNI — James Anthony Bos, 22, was given a two-year suspended sentence Tuesday on a charge of assault causing bodily harm when Magistrate W. E. MacLeod said there could have been provocation.

Charge arose out of a fracas outside the Bos' home when Martin Tremblay was stabbed. He spent 21 days in hospital. Four youths were involved.

"They had all had too much to drink and engaged in a childish argument," the magistrate said.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Tourist and publicity committee of Campbell River Chamber of Commerce has adopted a budget of $3,170 for the current year.

Almost half the budget will be spent on reprinting the Chamber's prize-winning brochure. A total of 10,000 of the full-size brochures and 50,000 "saturation" folders will be printed.

Budget also provides for the renovation, redecoration and staffing of the Chamber's tourist bureau in the old B.C. Forest Service building.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Date for the annual Campbell River Recreation Association gym display has been set for Friday, April 6, in the high school gymnasium.

Gymnasts are being coached in their routines by a large group of instructors.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Contract for clearing the site of the new public health building, to be erected this year adjacent to Campbell River General Hospital, has been awarded to a local firm, Antonelli Custom Mix and Trucking.

Their bid, lowest of three, was for $1,068.

Other bids included H. A. Holland, $1,170, and J. and L. Logging and Construction Co., $1,592.

Tenders for construction of the building have been called, and will be received up to 5 p.m. Feb. 19.

CAMPBELL RIVER — A first prize in the province for promotional work during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8 to 14 last year, has been won by the Campbell River Volunteer Fire Department.

Activities of the department in the local schools, where hundreds of students were made aware of the dangers connected with fire, were judged the best in the province in towns of less than 5,000 population.

DUNCAN — The laying of new sewer pipes in the townsite at the southeast corner of Duncan is complete but members of the city council are having second thoughts about the resurfacing of the streets.

Ald. James Patterson said Monday the level at the corner of Wharncliffe Road and Campbell Street had been raised one foot in the past year. He considered it was too high above the adjoining properties.

Mayor Jack Dobson said council was working toward a permanent surfacing of the streets in the townsite.

Ald. Hamish Mutter criticized Russell Potter, city engineer, saying he was interested only in grades and had no thought for the local householders.

Council will discuss the problem with Mr. Potter next week.

DUNCAN — Branch library here circulated 72,102 books among 2,567 borrowers last year, and of this total 17,813 were loaned to 922 juvenile readers.

These statistics contained in the annual report of the Vancouver Island Regional Library, show that Duncan had the second highest circulation of the area covered by the regional library.

Long Run Ends For 'Fair Lady'

NEW YORK (AP)—A Supreme Court justice Tuesday ordered the end of the record run of "My Fair Lady"—at least, at the Mark Hellinger Theatre.

Violation of a theatre order to halt the sale of "twoers"—two admissions for the price of one—and advertising not approved by the theatre brought about the order to halt the longest run, almost six years, a musical has ever had on Broadway.

The theatre owners are reported to want "My Fair Lady" out to make way for Richard Rodgers' musical "No Strings."

Justice Owen McGivern dismissed producer Herman Levin's request for an injunction against the theatre terminating his contract and ordered the production to vacate the Hellinger by Feb. 22.

Levin told his lawyers to appeal. He did not say whether he would shift to another theatre if the appeal fails.

"My Fair Lady"—based on Shaw's Pygmalion and adapted by Lerner and Loewe—opened March 15, 1956, with Rex Harrison and Julie Andrews in the leading roles.

Despite several cast changes, the production continued to draw crowds and last night's performance was its 2,475th, the record for a musical and third among all productions ever staged on the great white way. Only "Life With Father," 3,213 performances, and "To-bacco Road," 3,182, rank ahead of "My Fair Lady."

TAKING PART in a variety show at Victoria High School's Circus on Friday are (left to right) Judy Roberts, Eleanor Gilstein and Nancy Jones. The circus, which begins at 7.30 p.m., will include midway, puppet show, motion pictures, bowladrome, children's fish pond, art displays and food stalls. The half-hour variety show will be presented four times during the evening. Money raised will go toward new drapes in the assembly hall and travel expenses for athletic teams and band and drama groups.

RISK OF WAR RISING, SAYS SCIENTIST

'A-Bombs for Everybody'

ACTRESS Pier Angeli, 29, was married in London today to Italian band leader and composer Armando Trovajoli, 44. Miss Angeli was formerly married to singer Vic Damone. It is the first marriage for the balding Trovajoli.

First patent for a telephone booth was issued in 1883, seven years after Alexander Graham Bell obtained his first telephone patent.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi, a Nobel prize-winning biologist, said Tuesday night the world is "on the way to doomsday."

He said spending money on fallout shelters is "senseless" and suggested it be used for an international institute for the study of peace.

Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi, whose field is the science of life, said: "Bombs become cheaper by the day. Soon everybody will have them, big and small, be it China, Cuba, Albania, or anyone else... the statistical chances that somewhere someone will fire one, or one will go off by mistake, are gradually increasing to certainty."

Speaking at Harvard University at the founding of a new chapter of the society for social responsibility in science, the Hungarian-born scientist said war cannot be abolished.

"It can only be replaced by something better and more intelligent."

Councils Cool on Cash Aid For Gorge Hospital Wing

Gorge Road Hospital will ask the public to donate $65,000 towards a $200,000 therapy wing, Greater Victoria metro health board learned Tuesday.

The board endorsed the need for the wing and recommended public support for the drive but several members made it clear they did not feel the municipalities should foot the bill.

Hospital administrator Ray Walker told the board the 104-bed chronic care hospital now concentrates its work on active treatment of chronically ill persons with a program aimed at "getting them back on their feet and off the public charge."

He said the average stay is 57 days in which time the patient and his family learn how to cope with his problems.

PROGRAM THREATENED

But the whole program may collapse if adequate therapy facilities are not provided soon, he said. The new wing would permit the hospital to handle 100 out-patients as well as inmates.

Most of the money for the wing would come from senior government grants.

William Hooson, a hospital director, said details of the public campaign for funds have not been completed but the drive would be launched soon.

FORMER PUPILS of James Bay schools, now teaching in them, took part in the annual "Founder's Day" celebration at South Park School on Tuesday night. Cutting the "Founder's Day" cake were (left to right) Miss K. Tobin of James Bay School, and Miss Jean Lorimer, Mrs.

May Davies and Mrs. Edna Berg of South Park. Miss Lorimer gave a history of James Bay schools at the meeting held in preparation for a reunion of all former students and teachers in the district to be held in April.

SKIPPER RETRACTS

Fear of Sea Admission 'Just Jest'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A British sea captain says remarks he made about the hazards of a sailor's life were made in jest and were misconstrued by San Francisco reporters.

As a result, the captain found himself doing some explaining Tuesday.

"I'm very proud of the sea ... of being a sailor, and proud of my job; otherwise I would not have followed the sea for 46 years," said Capt. Geoffrey M. Fletcher, of the liner Andes.

After talking with reporters Monday night Fletcher found himself quoted as saying he "hated" the sea and was "afraid of it."

'REALLY JOKING'
"The sea is a powerful force that I respect and, because of that, have always taken due precautions," the captain said.

"But I really was laughing and joking when I was talking and I didn't intend to be taken in the way my remarks were construed."

The Royal Mail Line, in London, was less than happy about the way Fletcher's remarks were treated and took the view that his humor had been lost on his audience.

This is Fletcher's last voyage before retirement when the Andes returns to Southampton from a round-the-world cruise. He went to sea in 1916.

Snow Hasn't A Chance At Kamloops

The Kamloops area—home of Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi—apparently has more snow than any other district, according to snow removal figures last year.

The observation was made in the legislature, Tuesday, by NDP-CCF member for Cranbrook, Leo Nimsick, who wondered whether the snow-removal allocation was being used for something else.

The allegation was denied by Mr. Gagliardi, who replied, "Kamloops has the most mileage in roads of any district."

"They haven't got more snow," Mr. Nimsick persisted, calling for fair treatment for other areas where snowfall is a serious winter problem.

He pointed out that according to the public accounts for 1960-61, Cranbrook got $48,000 for snow removal while Kamloops got $133,000.

This compared with the nearest figure of $94,000 for Revelstoke, and a low of $38,000 for North Okanagan.

"I wonder whether this is because Kamloops has more snow than any other area or whether it is because the minister represents Kamloops," Mr. Nimsick said.

CANCER SCARE HITS MARKET
LONDON (Reuters)—Fears that a coming report on smoking and lung cancer will scare off some of Britain's smokers hit tobacco shares again on the London Stock Market Tuesday.

The report, from the Royal College of Physicians, is expected early next month.

... impressed

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Leftist Premier Cheddi Jagan's government, in power only five months, was under increasing pressure today from striking workers in Georgetown to resign. But in the countryside, where Jagan draws most of his support from East Indian farm workers, strike calls were generally ignored.

A spreading strike protesting government tax proposals and wage conditions virtually paralyzed commercial and governmental activity in Georgetown Tuesday. Several union leaders vowed to continue the strike until Jagan quits. Civil servants joined thousands of striking store clerks Tuesday in a protest march through the streets of Georgetown. Some carried placards denouncing Jagan as "a brother of Castro."

Rail and river transportation was halted. Postal, telephone and dock services were paralyzed. Skeleton crews maintained electric, water and other essential services.

The government employees originally planned only a two-hour token walkout but later decided to strike indefinitely.

The store clerks have been off the job since Monday. The strikers are seeking higher wages and protesting the government's proposed compulsory savings plan, freeze on vacations and wage arbitration regulations.

Rough-and-Tumble Politics Closeup for B.C.'s Regier

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (CP)—Erhart Regier, a member of the House of Commons for Burnaby-Coquitlam, arrived here Feb. 2 at the invitation of Premier Jagan. They met last fall when the left-leaning premier visited Canada to plead for Canadian assistance in a development program for British Guiana.

The premier asked Mr. Regier to advise the government on the setting up of a taxation system and to explore the possibility of establishing a comprehensive government insurance system for the former colony, now on the road to full independence.

Magistrate Prejudging Says Socred

A Social Credit MLA complained to the legislature Tuesday that the public is being prejudged by magistrates in traffic cases.

Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale) also suggested that people who win appeals should be repaid their legal expenses.

Mr. Corbett said he had won such an appeal (it was against a speeding conviction last year).

When his lawyer sent him the bill, he added, "Justice is expensive."

"He wasn't kidding," said Mr. Corbett.

"There is no compensation for the costs. People who appeal should be reimbursed for their costs."

"There'd be more appeals; there'd be more people getting justice."

In the Commons for his party, also hoped to find ways that the Canadian government and the people of Canada could assist in British Guiana's development.

In an interview here, Mr. Regier said his tour has been financed by his constituents. He has had talks with the premier, several other ministers and leading businessmen.

Mr. Regier said he has been impressed by the friendly attitude of the Guianese people and their almost unbelievable personal cleanliness and neatness.

He suggested there should be some kind of economic union between Canada and what he referred to as the British Caribbean.

"It also appears obvious to me that the many relatively small units existing within the Caribbean region must develop the closest collaboration if not, indeed, political unity. As far as Canada is concerned, I still believe that both we and they have much to gain if we build at least an economic union with one or all of these newly emerging nations in this area."

700 Held on Java

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Some 700 persons have been arrested in Java in connection with the attempt to assassinate President Sukarno last month, reliable sources said Tuesday.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Freedomite Yells Abuse At Trial Judge and Jury

(Compiled from CP)

NELSON—A member of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect, on trial in connection with acts of terrorism in the Kootenays, Tuesday screamed and shouted threats at the jury and called the judge a murderer.

Fred N. Davidoff, 38, born and raised in Pincher Creek, Alta., was ordered from the witness box after Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan, presiding at the special assize, failed to calm him.

Under cross-examination, Davidoff screamed: "Your laws are to kill people. Murderers. That's what you are."

Davidoff turned to the bench and shouted: "You're a murderer, too."

"Your day is numbered too," he yelled at the jury.

Pointing at Crown Attorney T. G. Bowen-Colthurst, he shook his fist and called him a "two-legged animal."

ILLEGAL HAIRCUTS
CHILLIWACK—A Camp Chilliwack soldier has been named in a civil action here for barbering at home during off-duty hours—but without a certificate of qualification.

The action is brought by the Chilliwack Barbers' Action Committee and the B.C. Barbers' Association. They said it's illegal under the provincial Barbers' Act to cut hair without being a qualified barber.

NEW CHAIRMAN
VANCOUVER—Liberal headquarters Tuesday announced appointment of Hugh A. Martin as chairman and J. D. Taggart as co-chairman of the B.C. Liberal campaign committee. They replace J. R. Nicholson who is resigning as chairman to devote his full time to his campaign as Liberal candidate in Vancouver Centre in the next federal election.

SPLIT WITH UNION
VANCOUVER—A group of Vancouver taxi drivers has launched a move to break away from the Teamsters Union.

Edward Sturgeon, 38-year-old driver and spokesman for the group, said Tuesday drivers in five major taxi firms in the city have mailed petitions to the Labor Relations Board in Victoria asking decertification of Cab Drivers Union Local 151, of the Teamsters

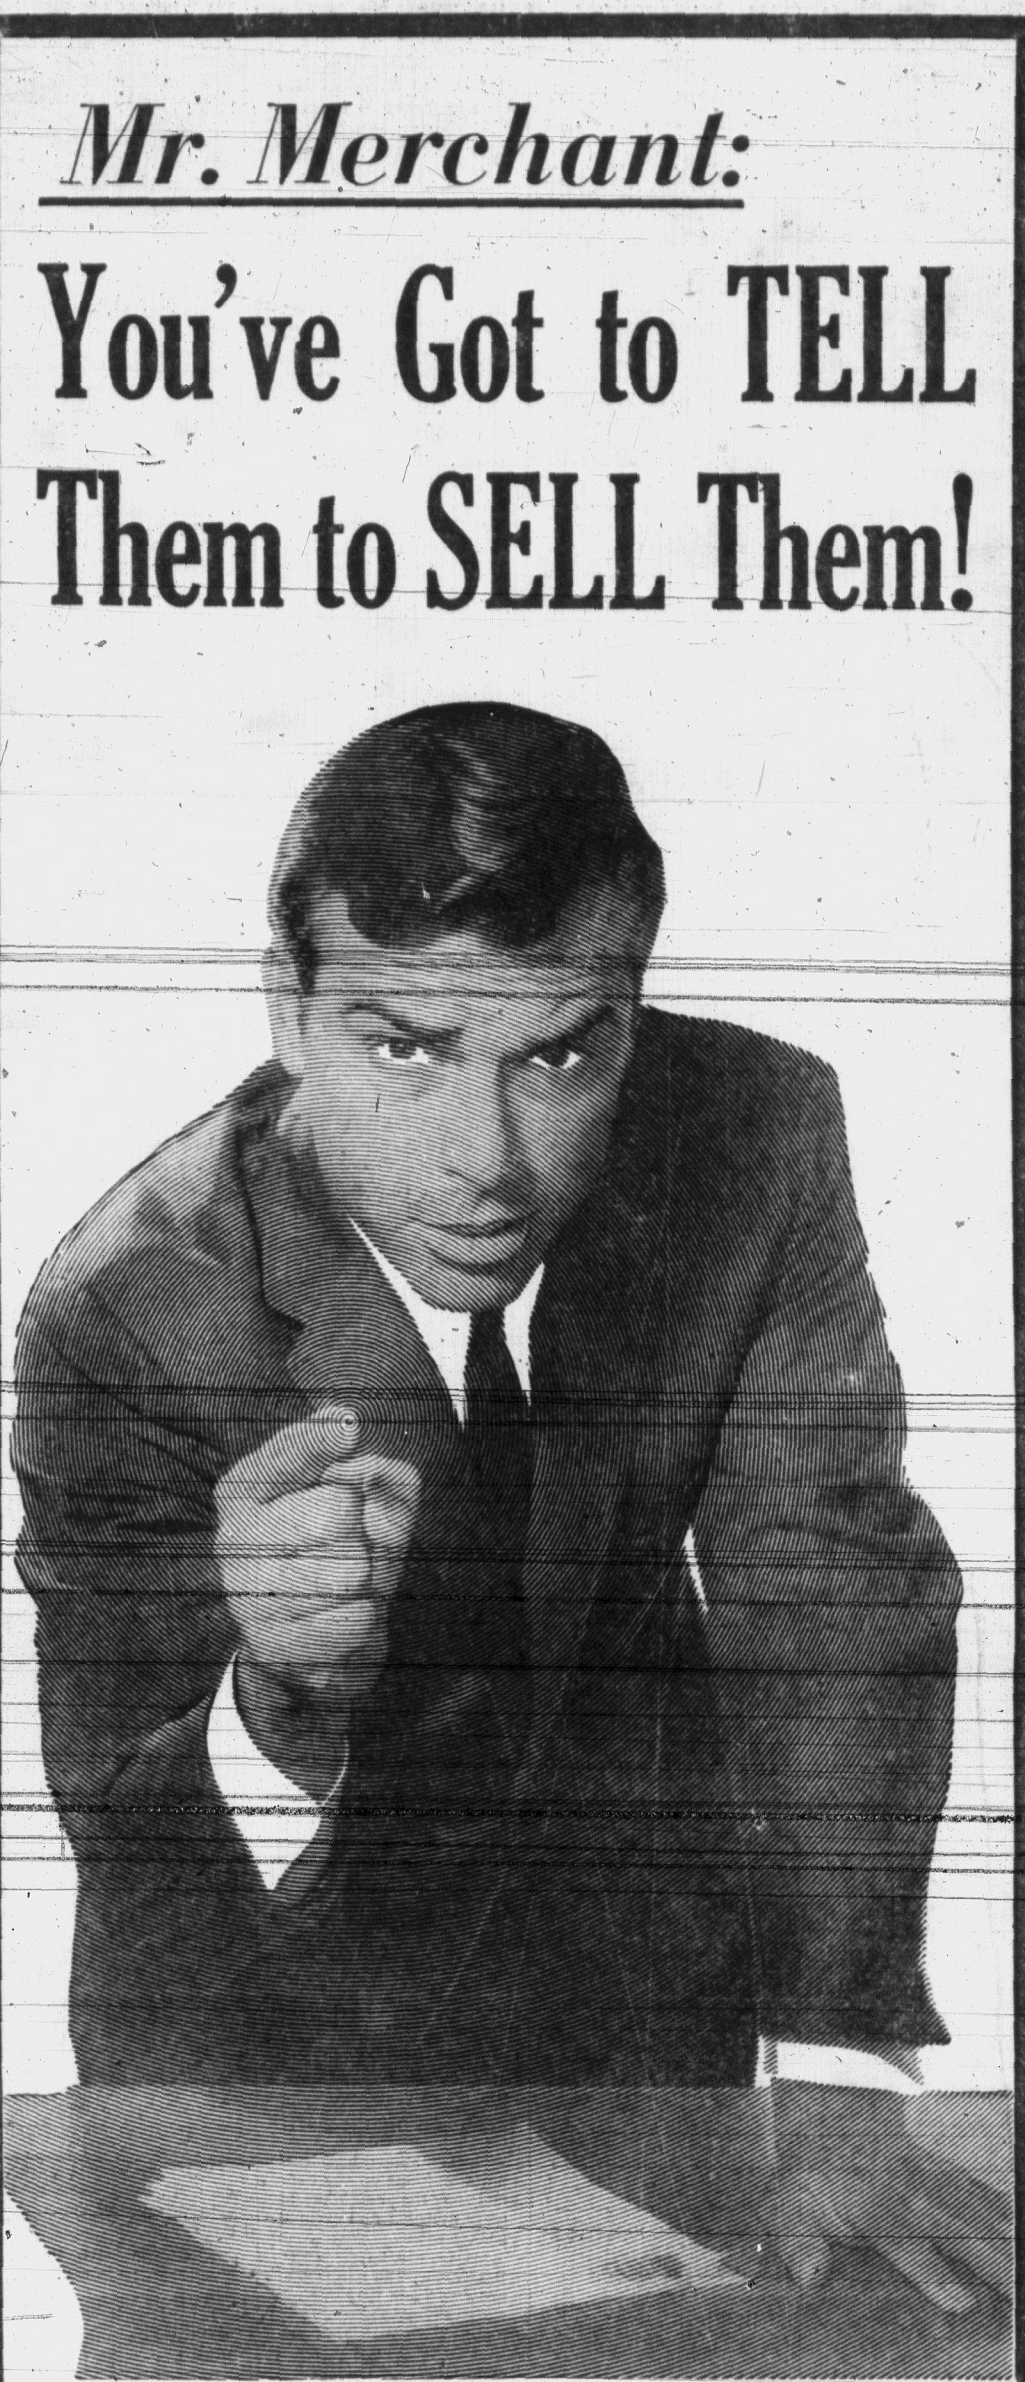

Union as their bargaining agent.

Sturgeon said that he expected a board hearing within two weeks. If the government-supervised secret ballot showed a majority of the 800 drivers want to break away, then the Teamsters could be decertified.

He said the main reason was that the cabbies are dissatisfied with the local leadership of their union. He admitted he had received three anonymous telephone threats since the move began, but put them down to the work of cranks.

NEW RESEARCH CENTRE
VANCOUVER—New research and teaching facilities costing $41,000 have been opened for the University of British Columbia's department of paediatrics at the Vancouver General Hospital. UBC announced Tuesday. The new facilities are designed to provide a more effective research and teaching program and bring together a number of scattered laboratories.

BIG TAX HIKE
VANCOUVER—Vancouver homeowners face the possibility of an average property tax increase of almost $30 in 1962, civic officials said today.

U.S. CAN'T DELAY LONG

SEATTLE (AP) — The United States cannot wait indefinitely for Canada to ratify the Columbia treaty, Charles F. Luce, administrator for Bonneville Power said Tuesday.

Luce, speaking to an area advisory board, said the U.S. is not setting any deadlines, but congress had been asked to authorize several new hydro-electric projects which could provide water storage anticipated in Canada under the treaty.

River Pact Overlooks U.S. Gains

OTTAWA (CP) — The Columbia River development treaty with the United States should be given another serious look to correct some omissions, Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia) said Tuesday.

The treaty signed early last year overlooks the benefits that the U.S. will gain in water for irrigation, the Senator said, and it leaves Canada saddled with $35,000,000 to $50,000,000 costs in relocating 6,000 persons who would be displaced by the High Arrow storage dam.

He said Canada would spend about $450,000,000 on three Columbia River storage dams plus transmission lines and the actual U.S. capital cost would be $150,000,000.

If the U.S. attempted to gain the same hydro and flood-control benefits on its side of the international river, it would cost the U.S. in interest alone close to $900,000,000.

"Is it any wonder that we in B.C. who have looked into this matter believe that the treaty should be re-scanned again in the light of these facts that are coming out?"

Adoula to Visit USSR

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula has accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union in the spring, the semi-official Congolese press agency said Tuesday. No date has been set.

ANKARA (AP) — Turkish police Tuesday started a roundup of former ministers in the cabinet of executed premier Adnan Menderes who served before 1957.

Irregularities Found In Crown Corporations

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Auditor General Maxwell Henderson has uncovered irregularities, including one case of fraud, in some of the 22 Crown corporations whose books he examined in the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The fraud was discovered in an audit of the Export Credits Insurance Corporation and the facts were turned over to the RCMP.

The agent of an exporter, Mr. Henderson records in his annual report, collected $70,000 on fraudulent claims for purported overdue accounts. The discovery was made by noticing a similarity in handwriting in the signatures of different foreign buyers.

Other Crown corporations in which irregularities were found:

Farm Credit Corporation—the Toronto branch of the corporation moved into new and bigger quarters, couldn't terminate the five-year lease on the old premises and so far has paid $10,300 in rent for unused space.

The corporation is not permitted to charge an interest rate higher than five per cent on loans to farmers. It has had to borrow from the government $30,800,000 at 5 1/2 per cent and thus will lose $3,000,000.

National Battlefields Commission—a sum of $27,000 has remained undisturbed in a commission account for 30 years. These funds were contributed by provincial governments, municipalities and others and are held exclusively for the acquisition of land.

The commission has made no provision for a Quebec City snow removal tax, instituted in 1955. The city's charges now amount to $400,000.

Canadian Arsenals Limited—a $46,444 cheque was received in February, 1961, but was not deposited until November because it would have thrown the corporation's books out of balance.

BAD INVESTMENT
Funds "considerably in excess" of operating requirements were deposited in a non-interest-bearing bank account instead of being invested in short-term securities.

National Capital Commission—two capital budgets were not presented to Parliament as required by the Financial Administration Act.

Eldorado Aviation Limited—an amount of $18,379 for aircraft parts was spent without cabinet approval despite a government stipulation that all amounts above $10,000 must be so approved.

National Film Board—more than $11,000 worth of equipment was written off when it couldn't be found during taking of inventory.

ARCTIC SNOW IDEAL BOMB SHELTER?

CHICAGO (AP)—The possibility that the Arctic's deep, hard-packed snows could serve as nuclear bomb shelters to protect food supplies was suggested Tuesday.

A report by the Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology said an on-the-scene study showed that snow is an excellent medium for absorbing or dissipating sudden releases of tremendous energy.

The Children Act of 1948 made it the duty of the British government to care for children under 17 with no parents or guardians.

POWERS 'FREE AGENT' AFTER QUERY

Public to Get U-2 Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers is co-operating voluntarily with government interviewers and eventually will be free to testify to congressional committees and appear at a press conference.

Kennedy opened a press conference with a statement on the case of Powers, who was freed by the Russians Saturday in exchange for United States release of Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

The president declined to say how Powers was brought down while flying a high-altitude U.S. reconnaissance photo plane over Russia on May 1, 1960. He said an answer must await the end of questioning by appropriate government authorities.

There have been numerous demands in Congress for committee interrogation of the pilot.

The president was asked what Powers' status would be after the interrogation. Kennedy said Powers would be a free agent, able to carry on any activity he chose.

'Apartment Slums' Feared in Oak Bay

Multiplicity of small apartment buildings has made an Oak Bay waterfront area a "potential slum," Coun. Fred Robinson said Wednesday night.

The comment came as the lands committee decided to recommend council refuse zoning a Beresford Street site for a three-storey apartment building.

The recommendation follows a public hearing last week in which 12 ratepayers said an apartment in their area would depreciate property values. Apartments six storeys and higher would be better than smaller apartment buildings because there would be more open space between buildings, Coun. Robinson said.

He said the area bounded by Currie, Godwin and Beach Drive was a "potential slum" because of the clutter of small apartment buildings. If high rise structures had been erected there, only two buildings would exist on the property.

LAND REFORM INSTITUTE

Castro Power Reduced As Top Red Takes Job

INTERPRETIVE:

'One-Man Rule Ending'

BY FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
(UPI-Latin American Editor)

Replacement of Fidel Castro as head of Cuba's all-powerful land reform institute presages open Communist assumption of rule in Cuba and a partial political eclipse of the premier.

This does not mean Castro will disappear from the Cuban political picture. It means his one-man rule of Cuba has ended. Henceforth, all state decisions will be made on a collective basis.

Castro himself forecast his political eclipse. In recent speeches he publicly proclaimed belief policy decisions under state socialism could not be taken by one man. Today's announcement was a logical sequence in that political credo.

The development also lent support to those who interpreted his fervent "I am a Marxist-Leninist" announcements of last December as an intended to integrate himself with the hard core Red hierarchy. It also indicated they did not listen.

HAVANA (UPI)—A veteran Communist, Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, was named today to succeed Premier Fidel Castro as president of the all-powerful National Land Reform Institute.

The announcement, made discreetly through a cabinet statement in morning newspapers, created a sensation. Much of Castro's power in Cuba has stemmed from the all-embracing authority vested in him as head of the institute.

The institute, described as a state within a state, controls the Cuban economic machine. Its decisions cannot be challenged. Its powers are exempt from constitutional restrictions.

There was no immediate indication whether the move represented an open government takeover by the Communists or whether it constituted recognition of Rodriguez' work in transforming the Cuban economy from a capitalist to a socialist base.

IN TOP FIVE
Rodriguez is one of the top five members of the Cuban Communist hierarchy in Cuba.

The brief cabinet statement, made without prior fanfare, did not even mention that Rodriguez was taking over a Castro job. The premier has been president of the institute since its organization in 1959, after enactment of Cuba's controversial land reform law.

U.S. HOLDINGS SEIZED
The institute under Castro has ordered and carried out the confiscation of several billion dollars of Cuban and foreign private investment in land and properties. An estimated $1.25 billion in holdings have been confiscated from U.S. corporations or U.S. citizens.

Rodriguez was last seen in public at Punta del Este where he was credited with the overall planning of Cuba's strategy at the Inter-American conference. He has been an open Communist party member since the mid-1950's.

Editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy, Rodriguez also is a professor of culture at Havana University, a leader in the Cuban version of the conform, the integrated revolutionary organizations, and a director of the National Planning Commission.

Rodriguez has been a recent target of rebel assassination attempts. He had his most narrow escape from death last September in a roadside ambush on a highway between Matanzas and Havana. He escaped but one of his assailants was slain by bodyguards.

Reds Buzzing In Corridor
BERLIN (AP)—The Russians tried to reserve space in Berlin's air corridors to West Germany again today and buzzed or approached three Western allied planes when the request was refused.

One of the planes buzzed in the corridors carried Sir Christopher Steele, British ambassador to West Germany, on a visit to Berlin, officials said.

Cuban Walkout From OAS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cuba walked out of the Organization of American States today, saying it was not interested in remaining in the inter-American system.

The Cuban walkout came moments after the president of the OAS council, Alberto Zuleta Angel of Colombia, had recommended that the Punta del Este resolution ousting Cuba from the system be sent to the council's general committee for urgent study.

Cuban delegate Carlos M. Lechuga, who walked out, said the Punta del Este resolution was illegal and that "we are going to retire anyway, we don't want to remain in this organization."

Western sources said no change in the Soviet position emerged from the talks, held at Tsarapkin's invitation.

SIR EDWARD GETS THE MESSAGE

Their Hearts Bleed For Cash, Not Love

LONDON (AP)—More than 1,000 valentine cards poured today into the office of Sir Edward Boyle, financial secretary of the treasury.

The cards came from telephone girls in the government civil service and were not, as the girls made plain, inspired by affection.

Sir Edward is their boss, and they have been dickered with him for months for a pay raise. Said the verses on their Valentines:

Sir Edward, do not make me wait
To ascertain my future date.
You've kept me dangling now for ages
With promises of bliss by stages.

A troth was pledged in your name
To meet my just but modest claim.
But still I languish, hope near faded,
Under-paid and under-graded.

The girls now hold a civil service grade under which the maximum pay is equivalent to $22.40 a week. They want an up-grading which will give them a maximum increase of $1.

Sir Edward said last year he would try to do something for them. Then came a government wage freeze to combat inflation, and the hello girls still are waiting.

Oran Moslems Riot After Bomb Attack

Too Early For Summit—JFK, Mac

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan today turned down Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal for a March summit conference, but held the door open to a top-level meeting on disarmament before June 1.

Immediately after delivery of United States and British notes in Moscow, Kennedy told a press conference that "of course I would go to the summit" if such action offered real hope of getting an effective disarmament treaty.

The president said his general view is that "we should climb the summit after preparation at a lower level." An 18-nation disarmament meeting is scheduled to start at Geneva March 14; a report to the United Nations is due by June 1.

In the message he said he is "quite ready to participate personally" when a summit session might help reach an agreement.

But at the outset of negotiations, to be held at Geneva March 14—the participation of government chiefs "might set back, rather than advance, the prospects for disarmament," the U.S. president said.

Kennedy suggested, however, that a review of progress by the heads of government might be needed before June 1, the date set by the U.N. for a first report on the arms talks.

WANTS SPALEWORK
A similar message sent by Macmillan suggested that a summit conference should be held after some progress in negotiation is made by foreign ministers. He urged that Khrushchev agree to have foreign ministers open the Geneva talks. Kennedy made the same appeal.

This was the third message in one week exchanged between Moscow and the West on how to start the Geneva meeting one month from today.

Meanwhile, the official Soviet press indicated that Khrushchev will attend the opening of the 18-nation disarmament talks.

Soviet Position Remains Same
GENEVA (Reuters)—The leaders of the American and British delegations to the nuclear test-ban conference which broke up in failure last month conferred here for two hours today with Soviet delegation leader Semyon Tsarapkin.

Western sources said no change in the Soviet position emerged from the talks, held at Tsarapkin's invitation.

Argument is waxing again in Greater Victoria over the merits of ensuring that all meat sold in stores is inspected and already confusing side issues have arisen.

The Times today begins on Page 3 a four-part series highlighting some of the fundamental facets of this controversial question.

French Police Open Fire

(Times News Services)

ALGIERS — French troops and riot police fired on rioting Algerian Moslem mobs trying to invade the European sector of Oran today after 44 dawn bomb attacks by terrorists in the Arab quarters.

The security forces also used concussion and tear gas grenades during the series of clashes in the west Algerian port city, a stronghold of the extremist Secret Army Organization which has sworn to keep Algeria French. The bombings were blamed on the OAS.

Shortly after noon, the police chief clamped a strict curfew on the Arab sectors of the city. Only security forces were permitted to move into the districts where intermittent bursts of machine gun fire and exploding grenades could be heard far into the afternoon.

Police said nine Algerians were killed and eight wounded in the shootings. An army lieutenant was killed and another lieutenant and four soldiers injured.

The casualties brought today's toll in Oran and Algiers alone to 15 dead and 23 wounded, and the unofficial 1962 toll to 808 dead and 1,420 wounded. Officials said they believed the secret army staged its "plastic offensive" as an advance warning to Moslems, who were rumored to be planning demonstrations in Oran Thursday.

BLOCK FIREMAN
Moslems poured into the streets of Oran's Moslem quarter when the plastic bombs rocked the area. When firemen arrived to fight blazes in Moslem homes, their way was blocked by crowds of demonstrators egged on by screaming youths.

Telephone communications between Algiers and France were cut for several hours when Europeans went on strike.

The strike by the city's anti-Gaule Europeans began Tuesday to protest the arrest of two members of the secret army earlier this week.

REPORT ON TALKS
Meanwhile, French officials and Algerian nationalists were expected to report to their governments today on the progress of secret negotiations aimed at settling the Algerian war.

The talks were reported today to have reached a show-down phase.

French officials disclosed that Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe and Algerian rebel leaders had reached a crisis in talks at an undisclosed hideout, said to be somewhere in France near the Swiss border.

'High Priority' For Technical Education Plan

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

A catalogue of new school policies for this year based on recommendations of the Chant Royal Commission was outlined Tuesday in the legislature by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

Emphasis is on technical and vocational education, which he said the government has given "high priority."

Plans in this field include:

- A tender call in April for a $5,300,000 B.C. Institute of Technology at Burnaby, and appointment of a principal;
- Additions to Burnaby Vocational School worth $1,700,000;
- A $750,000 building to be added to Nanaimo Vocational School with a tender call in the spring;
- A September opening of a new vocational school at Prince George, worth $2,000,000.

• A construction start "early this year" on new schools worth $2,000,000 in the Kootenay and Okanagan areas;

• Legislation at this session providing vocational program in secondary schools.

The education department is spending a total of $4,905,630, excluding the cost of the buildings, on its tech-voc program, said Mr. Peterson.

Further recommendations of the Chant commission which will go into effect in schools include:

- Legislation changing the present classification of schools from elementary, junior high and senior high units to "elementary" and "secondary," with the split at Grade VIII;
- New "occupational" classes in Grade VIII for students better suited to this type of training than further concentrated academic courses;
- Cuts in the pupil-teacher ratio, allowing provincial salary grants on the basis of one teacher for 38 pupils instead of 35.

• Permanent teaching certificates will not be granted until three years' of training are completed beyond Grade XII;

• Sweeping curriculum changes are gradually being introduced in all grades;

• A study of aims for public schools—a basic policy statement—is being prepared;

• A thorough survey of school libraries will be made by the B.C. Library Association.

Mr. Peterson said Cecil Roper, a business administration teacher at University of British Columbia, will be principal of the new institute of technology, which will house 1,500 students.

It will offer 17 programs of two years' study beyond university-entrance level.

Police Use Tear Gas On Children

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Southern Rhodesian police today tossed tear-gas for the second successive day at Negro children demonstrating against allegedly inadequate classroom space.

The incidents took place at nearby Highfield Negro Township. Some 200 schoolchildren gathered around the school and when a police car went to the scene, police said, it was stoned. Some school windows were smashed by stones.

Police dispersed the children with tear gas, as they had in a similar protest Tuesday night.

K. Gatu, secretary of the Highfield management board, said that more than 1,000 children in the township between the age of four and 15 are without school places.

Heavy Snowfall
TORONTO (CP)—A fast-moving storm piled up to eight inches of snow on southern Ontario overnight and started traffic in all but extreme southwestern parts of the province.

New Storm Threatens Space Trip Thursday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A new storm in the western Atlantic today threatened to force a ninth postponement of the orbital flight of United States astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr., now tentatively set for Thursday morning.

Glenn, a marine lieutenant colonel, had hoped to get off on his long-delayed triple whirl about the world this morning, but a heavy overcast drifting over the boiling Atlantic forced space officials to put it off until 7.30 a.m. EST (4.30 a.m. PST), Thursday, at the earliest. That was the eighth postponement.

However, a weather advisory issued late this morning by the National Space and Aeronautics Administration made it highly uncertain that the flight would go Thursday.

Asked how long the launch could be postponed on a day-to-day basis, a spokesman said: "We can go on this way for four or five days..."

Cuban Seeks Asylum

OTTAWA (UPI)—The immigration department said today a co-pilot who jumped his Cubana Airlines plane at Gander, Nfld., today, has asked for transit privileges in order to join his wife in Bogota, Colombia, and that they probably would be granted. The immigration department identified the man as George Nicholas Leonard.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

A line overheard from a retiring bookkeeper as he delivered a farewell speech — General MacArthur style — to his former workmates.

"Just remember fellas — Old Accountants Never Die, They Just Lose Their Balance."

It appears Dick Wilson is not going to be a kissing mayor, joining the ranks of Toronto's Nathan Phillips.

Speaking to a group Tuesday the mayor described his first month in office and outlined a few of his duties, one being a $60 presentation to Victoria's first 1962 baby.

"When someone asked me if I was going to kiss it," related the mayor, "you'd be surprised how fast I developed a snuffle."

Later the same day Mr. Wilson was visited by Miss Canada and Miss Western Air Lines — former Miss California.

"But," sighed the mayor, "there were a lot of younger fellows in the office to do the honors with them."

San Francisco's beat poet, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, in town recently, liked what he saw of our legislators in action, particularly the "witty debate."

Canadian politicians, he said, don't surround everything they say with "two feet of hot air" as they do in the U.S.

Stick around, Lawrence.

William R. Taggart, former chief librarian of the Vancouver Island Regional Library, now hunts down rare and out-of-print books for the University of Saskatchewan library in Saskatoon.

The university found that with part-timers doing the job, by the time certain books were ordered they were not available.

Mr. Taggart scrutinizes the six catalogues which reach his desk each average day, and orders books which he considers will be useful for students working toward master's and doctor's degrees, or staff members doing particular studies.

A former Winnipegger with a master's degree from McGill, he made his headquarters in Nanaimo before taking the Saskatoon post.

Judy LaMarch, Liberal member of Parliament for Niagara, and outspoken champion for more women in federal government was asked recently how she'd like to sit in Parliament with 265 women.

"A little overpowering," was her answer. Then she explained that she would not like to see women outnumber men in the House of Commons. "All I want is proportionate representation," she said.

And this little jewel, titled "What's the Hurry?" comes from the pen of T. G. Watson, 3455 Richmond Road.

Coming out of the Odeon Theatre after viewing La Dolce Vita many different comments could be heard.

One was particularly apt to Victoria and referred to a scene of a wild and debauched party of effetes held in an old castle somewhere in Rome.

Quipped the unknown critic — "I've often wondered what went on at Craigdarroch Castle, now I know."

Three Chains Won't Take Meat Inspected by B.C.

Reports that Dominion, Loblaw's and Super-Valu chain supermarkets have stopped handling provincially inspected meat are being investigated by the B.C. agriculture department.

"There is simply no indication as to why," said Agriculture Minister Frank Richter Tuesday. "I'm quite anxious about it."

The reports originated with a delegation representing eight Fraser Valley abattoirs that operate under provincial meat inspection services.

Canada Exports Jump To Communist Lands

OTTAWA (CP) — Increased exports to Communist countries, chiefly Communist China, accounted for just over half of the gain in all exports of Canadian products during the first 10 months of last year.

'INSTANT TRAVEL' PHIL'S GOAL

VANCOUVER (CP) — "I'd like to see the time," said Highway Minister Gagliardi Tuesday, "when I can sit in a plane, somebody pulls a lever, and I'm at my destination immediately."

Speaking to the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association annual meeting, the minister, who has often expressed a fondness for high-speed travel, said: "I'll never be satisfied until we can go from here to there without wasting any time."

The minister, who uses a plane often in department business, said he recently had a good trip back here from Hong Kong.

"We left Friday night and were back Friday morning," he said. "But we still had to sit for eight hours in that plane doing nothing."

engineering, electronics, forestry, surveying, marketing and business administration, medical laboratory, mining and hotel administration training.

"B.C. will need an ever-increasing supply of competent and skilled workmen if the products of our industry are to compete on the world market," said Mr. Peterson.

The semi-skilled and unskilled labor force is rapidly diminishing, he said. Now 24 per cent of the total labor force, in 10 years it will comprise only 12 per cent.

OTTAWA PAYS — The federal government pays 75 per cent of construction costs of vocational programs and 50 per cent of the programs themselves for adults.

Mr. Peterson said the construction grants will be cut to 50 per cent after March 31, 1963, but that he was pressing Ottawa strongly to extend the deadline.

To help special committees revising the entire public school curriculum, Mr. Peterson said the education department plans to hire two "outstanding persons" to act as consultants.

FIVE-YEAR TASK — It will take at least five years to complete the curriculum changes, which will be introduced yearly. This year the Grade VIII curriculum is revised, next year it will be Grade IX.

The new Grade VIII occupational or vocational program will start next September and about 10 per cent of B.C.'s students will be channelled into it.

Decision on which pupils will take it will come after a new series of Grade VII examinations this June.

It will be aimed specifically at students who are clearly better suited to early vocational training than continuing specialized academic work.

COMPULSORY FRENCH — Included in the new Grade VIII academic program is compulsory French. Industrial arts and home economics will still be compulsory but class time reduced.

English language and mathematics courses will be revised this year. General science, literature and social studies will be changed later.

Mr. Peterson said teacher-pupil ratio reduction might not seem much. (It was 40 in 1960, and reduced to 39 in 1961.) But "progressive" reductions will be made in the future.

In addition to cutting to 38 the ratio on which salary grants are based, the government is cutting from 71 to 69 the ratio required for a third teacher to be added to two-room schools.

Mr. Peterson said he wanted to answer the question, but Speaker Hugh Shantz said he shouldn't.

"You don't have to speak; just nod your head," taunted Mr. Peterson, as he read out the list of names for the Toll Authority, municipalities, B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric.

Mr. Strachan remained silent but Liberal leader Perrault answered each one with, "It's a deception."

"All they can call out is 'deception,'" said Mr. Peterson.

"They won't go through these individually and say they're direct debt of the province. The fact is we're clear of direct debt."

THOUSANDS OF JOBS — He said that the majority of the guarantees were for power resources "the greatest single potential we have in the province today."

"How many jobs will they provide?" asked Mr. Perrault. "Tens of thousands — directly and indirectly," called back Premier Bennett.

Mr. Peterson accused Mr. Strachan of being against the Peace River power project.

"That's a lie," answered the opposition leader.

"Even though he didn't say it he has demonstrated his party is against the Peace River project," called Mr. Peterson.

He accused Mr. Strachan and the NDPCCF of opposing the High Arrow dam on the Columbia River as well.

"There they are now — the no-river policy."

No Dam Party Challenged By Peterson

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The B.C. government hit back at its critics Tuesday in the hottest cross-debate of the year's legislative session.

The man who did the job was Education Minister Leslie Peterson in a searing counter-attack on budget, debt, power and education policies.

For half an hour the legislature was in bedlam as cries of "deception" and "lies" flew across the floor.

Mr. Peterson, at his fiercest, said there was no deception in his government's budget, and all provinces, including NDP-CCF Saskatchewan, over-estimated expenditures.

Challenged the Opposition to admit provincial guarantees for debts of Crown agencies were direct debt.

Called the NDP the "No Dam Party" because it had a "no-river" power policy. Denied that "Social Credit propaganda" was deliberately packed with school textbooks and that it had been found by a high school principal.

Mr. Peterson started off on the budget, which Opposition leader Robert Strachan Monday called "a massive deception" because it underestimated revenue and overestimated expenditure.

"MASTER OF THE ART" — The minister read from Saskatchewan's public accounts a list of underspending, including $3,850,000 for public works, $1,000,000 for agriculture, $2,247,000 for highways and $1,115,000 for health.

"If the leader of the Opposition wants to talk about massive deception, I say that his party is master of the art," he said.

Then Mr. Peterson turned to debt and Liberal criticisms of massive contingent liabilities. "If they were in power which of these guarantees would be included in the direct debt of the province?"

"We wouldn't go around suggesting we were debt-free," replied Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane.

"Where's the deception; where's the deception?" roared Mr. Peterson. "You're the ones deceiving the public."

He returned to Mr. Strachan: "Which ones would you include?"

"JUST NOD" — Mr. Strachan said he wanted to answer the question, but Speaker Hugh Shantz said he shouldn't.

"You don't have to speak; just nod your head," taunted Mr. Peterson, as he read out the list of names for the Toll Authority, municipalities, B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric.

You're Playing for Stakes By Buying Meat in Victoria

Recent reports of widespread sale of contaminated meat in Ontario have touched off concern across the nation. Efforts in Greater Victoria have resumed to obtain inspection of locally-slaughtered meat. This four-part series outlines the scope of the local problem and some of its other aspects.

By JOHN MIKA

One out of every 10 pounds of meat eaten by greater Victorians is a pure gamble on the honesty of strangers.

That's how many people regard the roughly 50,000 pounds of uninspected meat sold every week in this area.

It represents somewhat more than 10 per cent of the weekly meat sale totalling about 450,000 pounds.

It's purchased by hard-earned cash at good prices. But there's no guarantee that it is even fit for dog food, much less human consumption.

The bulk of this meat, most of it raised and slaughtered locally, is believed to be of good quality. But there's no meat inspection to see that it is.

Some of it could be diseased, tainted, totally unwholesome, and still get on the market because there is no machinery for preventing its sale, to unsuspecting customers.

It is possible for unwholesome meat to look all right to the layman — even to the expert if he doesn't make a thorough inspection at the right time.

Several persons close to the situation believe that a certain amount of bad meat is being sold here.

One man in the meat industry said he has seen meat offered for sale "that you could hold up and actually see through, it was that bad."

An inspector would have rejected it for dog food and consigned it for "tankage" — rendering into soap. Yet it was being peddled for re-sale to humans.

How many Victoria families ate some of it?

A doctor has a legitimate way of salvaging the loss of an animal that dies of disease on old age. Mink farmers will pay 5 cents a pound for carcasses.

But are there any farmers unscrupulous enough to carve up the carcass and then sell it to retailers for the consumer market at 25 cents a pound?

Let's hope not—because there is no inspection here to stop it.

(In Ontario recently an organized ring was uncovered doing this.)

(And, closer to home, a few years ago Surrey health officials was prevented only by a local bylaw's technicalities from prosecuting an outfit that was found offering contaminated meat for the human market. Finally, it condemned 800 tons of frozen meat and 2,000 pounds of meat paste for use only as fox farm feed.)

Even the most scrupulous farmer or cattle dealer might unwittingly sell a diseased animal if it had no obvious symptoms. Only inspection by a trained vet can guard against this.

Locally-slaughtered meat sometimes is seen being transported, unwrapped and uncovered, in open trucks along dusty city streets. But there is no inspection to see if it becomes tainted by dust.

There are more than a score of things that can condemn part or all of a carcass under the provincial meat inspection regulations. These range from tuberculosis in the animal to immaturity.

The supermarket chains and most institutions won't touch any meat that has not passed inspection for these defects.

Yet 10 per cent of all meat consumed here never is officially examined to make sure that it shouldn't be condemned for one or more of the defects.

It's true that cooking will kill bacteria in the meat, and therefore prevent spread of disease to humans.

Even rotten meat is usually safe after cooking.

"But people pay for wholesome meat and they should be assured they aren't paying good money for food they wouldn't serve to their dog," said one official. "That's what inspection is for."

Martin, Starr Clash Over Jobless Figures

OTTAWA (UPI) — Unemployment statistics, always good ammunition for a political fight, set off one of the liveliest skirmishes of the current session in the Commons Tuesday.

Government and opposition front-benchers, both armed with the same Bureau of Statistics survey, clashed for almost an hour over the seriousness of the current jobless situation.

And, as has been the case in recent months, both sides had statistical evidence to support their argument.

Paul Martin (C. Essex East), who led the opposition forces, pointed out that the survey showed unemployment up by 132,000 between December and January to a mid-January level of 545,000. Employment in the same period fell by 218,000.

DEBATE SOUGHT

This, charged Martin, was

"an alarming situation" justifying an immediate Commons debate on the problem.

Labor Minister Starr, on the government's behalf, noted that mid-January jobless figure was down 148,000 from a year ago. Employment was up 161,000 or 2.8 per cent from 1961, he said.

"The fact is that the December-to-January increase in unemployment was smaller than in the comparable period in the past," Starr said.

Ex-Canada Boxing Champ Charged in Swindle Case

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Two men, one of them claiming to be a former Canadian heavy-weight professional boxer, have been arrested in what police described as a swindle of more than $9,000 from a 73-year-old widow.

The men were identified as James A. Parker, 33, who gave a Niagara Falls, Ont., address, and Peter R. Barresi, 25, of Buffalo. Parker was charged with first-degree grand larceny and conspiracy. Barresi was charged with conspiracy.

A third man is being sought, police said.

Parker told police he once fought under the name of James J. Parker and had been matched with world light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore in Toronto in a non-title bout in 1956.

The victim of the alleged swindle was Mrs. Carolyn M. Fox of Buffalo.

Soviet Tanker Buzzed

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said Tuesday a Soviet tanker was buzzed repeatedly by two U.S. planes near Haiti Monday. The broadcast identified the vessel as the Maxim Gorky. It said one plane flew over just above the masts nine times. The Maxim Gorky was bound for Cuba with a cargo of oil.

The two men were arrested Tuesday in a bank parking lot by police assigned to protect Mrs. Fox.

POSE AS EXPERTS

She told police that last month the two men came to her home and, posing as police counterfeit experts, informed her that she had made some recent payments in counterfeit money. She said they ordered her to turn over all the money she had in her home so it could be checked. She said she gave them $3,180 in cash.

A few days later, she told police, the men returned to her home and asked for more money in the investigation. She said she wrote three cheques, totalling $16,000. When they left, she said, she became suspicious and called police.

'Play Together, Stay Together' Nimsick's Motto

Citizens of British Columbia should have the legal right to do their laundry and go to a hockey game on Sunday, Opposition member Leo Nimsick said Tuesday in the budget debate in the legislature.

The NDP-CCF member for Cranbrook said the government should bring in Sunday observance legislation that is consistent and not hypocritical. He called the present legislation archaic, but made clear that what he said was his own opinion.

RIDICULOUS

It seems ridiculous to stop any community from having hockey games on Sunday because there is a charge made for it, and bowing too, he added.

Fire Sweeps Tiny Island

GRINDSTONE, Magdalen Islands (CP)—This tiny island town was "helpless Monday as fire fanned by gale-force winds erupted in its downtown section. Spread to six buildings and killed a teen-age boy.

With no fire department and no water available for a bucket brigade, most of the town's 500 residents stood in a blizzard and prayed against a wind change that would have turned the flames toward most of the houses on this island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

"This is a tragedy," reported merchant J. J. LeBourdais a few hours after the fire burned itself out after causing about $200,000 damage.

Syria Warns Israel

DAMASCUS (AP)—Syria was reported Tuesday to have threatened "immediate preventive retaliation" against any new Israeli attempt to change the course of the River Jordan.

ONLY WOMAN on the five-member National Parole Board, Miss Mary Lynch, will be in Victoria on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 20 and 21, as part of a Western tour. On Tuesday she will visit William Head and address a meeting of the John Howard Society and at Victoria College. On Wednesday she will visit Attorney-General Robert Bonner, address the Canadian Club and appear on a television show. A graduate of the University of New Brunswick law school, Miss Lynch has been a member of the National Parole Board since October, 1960.

Happy Valley PTA

Happy Valley PTA will meet in the school next Monday at 8 p.m. The school curriculum will be the subject of a discussion session.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan. If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt

'Fie on the Fiat' Bill Brought in by Liberal

Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane Tuesday introduced a private bill in the legislature which would allow anyone to sue the government.

Aim of the bill, called "An act Respecting Proceedings Against the Crown, is to avoid such cases as refusal of the government to allow B.C. Power Corporation to sue it for better compensation in the B.C. Electric takeover. However, likelihood of the bill being adopted is minute. Private members' bills usually die without even reaching the debating stage in the House.

'WITHOUT FIAT'

Mr. Macfarlane's draft law reads that any person's claim against the Crown—the government—may be enforced as of right and without a fiat of the lieutenant-governor. When B.C. Power tried to win a fiat to sue the government, it was denied by the cabinet, acting as "lieutenant-governor-in-council."

Choir President

Mrs. E. W. Hanning, 1021 Tattersall, has been elected president of the Metropolitan United Church Choir. Other officers are: Keith Henderson, vice-president; Gail Holloway, secretary; Mrs. W. Esau, treasurer; Mrs. William Muncy, social convener; Ivor Curtis, librarian; Mrs. A. H. Adams, sick visiting, and Mrs. J. Herman, gown steward.

Mr. Macfarlane's bill also says that the Crown would be "subject to all liabilities in tort to which, if it were a private person of full age and capacity, it would be subject." The law would apply to: Ownership, occupation, possession or control of property; Actions of government employees;

Violation of any laws existing on the statute books. It would repeal section 19 of the 'Power Development Act, which achieved the B.C. Electric takeover last August, and which says that written consent of the attorney-general must be obtained before anyone can sue the new public utility itself for damages.

FRIED EGG MISSILE ORBITS PAST KENNEDY

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy talked some more with President Sukarno about Dutch-held West New Guinea today after ducking a fried egg in the first hint of trouble on his goodwill visit to Indonesia.

The egg was thrown at Kennedy as he mounted the stage to address a student assembly at the University of Indonesia. The well-dressed, cold fried egg sailed out of the crowd. He ducked and the missile plopped behind him.

WITH THIS MAN CAME SECURITY

This man was one of many responsible for more than one billion dollars of Sun Life insurance being sold last year and for Sun Life passing the ten billion dollar mark of life insurance in force. Through his diligence, funds that might not otherwise have been available were provided for widows' livelihoods, for retirement incomes, for advanced education and for emergencies.

Perhaps this man brought security to you and your family.

This man is the Sun Life representative in your community.

MONTE ROBERTS

Citizens, to the ramparts.
Down with the government. Off with their heads. Kill the referee. Shoot as soon as you see the whites of their eyes. Dag-nab the torpedoes, full speed ahead. Canada expects each man to do his duty. Tantivy, tantivy, tantivy—CHARGE!

And many other assorted expressions of alarm, dismay, and apprehension.

All of them directed at the C. Beastly C. that rather expensive appendage of the Government of Canada more formally known as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

You know what this august body, supported as it is by the tax money of all the people in Canada, including the residents of this, the fairest city of them all—you know what the C. Beastly C. is threatening to do?

The CBC is threatening to not televise next season's Western Football League games, that's what the CBC is threatening to do.

It appears the CBC is miffed because a privately-owned station in Toronto has the rights to the Big Four games, so the CBC says, its collective nostrils flaring, let private stations put on the Western games, too.

Which may be A-okay in some Canadian cities, but not here, where us second class citizens are dependent on the CBC for coverage of Canadian sports.

Up until this moment, I have complained not at all about being nipped in the tax pocket to support the CBC's ventures into culture.

But if the CBC passes up the WFL because it is pointing at private TV, I am going to do something drastic, such as writing my member of parliament.

Or better still, I am beginning to remember, remember, the fifth of November.

A little gunpowder judiciously placed beneath the CBC board room might emphasize the need for equal rights, right here in Victoria.

Meanwhile, let's all take pen in hand and let our MP's know where we stand.

Which is foursquare against any squares who deprive us of our heritage, namely, the WFL games on TV.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two 12-year-old boys missing from their homes since Monday morning turned up safely Tuesday evening.

Robert Mathews, 2644 Blanshard, and Wayne Coburn, 2646 Blanshard, told their parents they had spent the night "not far from home."

They spent Tuesday at school after being found by the truant officer, they said.

The two were reluctant to return even then but eventually showed up after supper-time. They gave no explanation for their night out.

Although the boys spent Tuesday at school—Robert attends St. Louis College and Wayne at North Ward School—their parents didn't know they were safe until they arrived.

R. B. James, principal of North Ward, and Brother O'Keefe, principal of St. Louis College, both said today they didn't notify the parents because they had no idea the children had been reported missing.

Greater Victoria school board today invited aldermen and city officials to Craigdarroch Castle Thursday at 5 p.m. for annual discussion of the school board's budget proposals.

Reginald A. Cluett, HMCS Beacon Hill, was fined $20 by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Cluett, who is 20, was found to have a 26-ounce bottle of wine in his possession when checked by city police on Hill side.

Thieves who broke into the Duncan office of the Nanaimo Daily Free Press overnight by forcing a back door took $15 from a cash register, then left by the front door.

Jean Bain, a member of the office staff, noted the theft on her arrival at the office this morning.

Duncan Garage Ltd. on Duke Street also was entered and although it was left in a turmoil nothing appeared to be missing.

The RCN Pacific Command minesweeper HMCS Miramichi was carrying out firing practice in the Race Rocks-Trial Island area between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. today, and is scheduled for more firing trials during the same hours Friday.

Following the PTA will meet on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. E. M. Huber of the teaching staff will explain the Cuisenaire method of arithmetic.

A fire axe and a hammer were used to force open two cash registers in the T. Eaton Warehouse sometime Monday night.

More than $90 was taken. At the same time about $150 in pennies was taken from Deighton's service station, 752 Caledonia.

Thieves also ransacked drawers and an unlocked safe at the car accessory firm of Reynolds, Colgate and Barbour, 1128 Vancouver, but failed to get any money.

A meeting of Lodge 1390, Loyal Order of the Moose, has been changed to Friday at 8 p.m. It was originally scheduled for Thursday.

The St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will meet Thursday at Holyrood House at 8 p.m. A Valentine party will follow initiation of new members.

Thursday Meetings
Victoria Rotary Club: Empress, 12:10 noon. Prof. John B. Wood, "Russian and East German Views of Berlin."

FALLS IN WELL SOUTH END FIRST

Bossy Sprung From Depths By Wrecking Truck, 9 Men

A crew of men from municipal workshops at Duncan acted as angels of mercy Tuesday for a Jersey cow which had grazed not wisely but too well—right down the well, in fact.

The mishap, on the farm of B. Ruffs at The Cliffs, west of Duncan, was discovered by Mrs. Ruffs. Noting that Bossy had fallen south end, first down the 20-foot well, she called the men from the shop.

They dropped a noose around her neck to keep her head above water, then pumped the well dry. Employee Sid Carreck entered the well, put ropes around the animal, then with a wrecker pulling on one side and nine men on the other, out she came.

She soon was walking around, apparently unharmed.

SO, WHO NEEDS HELP?

After starving for seven days in a tree, grey cat (circle) today brushed aside an offer of assistance from SPCA. She came down on her own steam just as paraphernalia was raised to catch her. Apparently too frightened to climb down, Tabby had been in the tree at 906 Market Street since last Wednesday. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

College Looks Hard At Peace Corps Plan

A four-man committee has been set up at the college to study the value of the Canadian University Service Overseas program.

STILL WINTER

Look Out For That Sneak Punch

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may, but don't plant them for a while yet.

This was the advice of weatherman Bill Mackie when asked if spring temperatures such as enjoyed lately could be expected to continue.

While there is no immediate prospect of a cold front moving towards Victoria, winter could be far from over, he said.

"It has often happened in Victoria that a late February cold spell has come along quite unexpectedly," Mr. Mackie said. "It's still a little early to plant the roses."

Frost has hit the city as late as April 30.

Rain is expected to continue tonight followed by slow improvement Thursday.

It will be mainly cloudy and winds will waver between 15 and 25 miles per hour, according to the weatherman.

Temperatures will range from a low of 42 tonight to the mid-fifties Thursday and the usual early morning fog is expected.

Ex-Engineer's Funeral Set For Thursday

Funeral service will be held Thursday for former city engineer Gifford M. Irwin, 2565 Beach Drive, who died Tuesday in hospital after a brief illness.

He was 76.

Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James will officiate at the 1:30 p.m. service in Hayward's funeral home.

Mr. Irwin was born in Minnedosa, Man. He graduated in engineering from McGill University and served as a captain with the Canadian Army overseas during the First World War.

He lived 30 years in Victoria, coming here as assistant engineer. Succeeding to the city engineer's post in 1935, he held it for 15 years until his retirement.

A final selection committee will visit Canada in March.

Survivors include the widow, Olive, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Richard Stapells of Penikese; two sons, John and Harold, of Victoria; two brothers, William and Wilfred, of Vancouver; and four grandchildren.

CITY POLICE SEND FAMILY MONEY GIFT

The family of Vancouver detective Larry Short who was killed in a gun battle in a Vancouver hotel on Friday will receive nearly $500 from Victoria city policemen.

The city policemen's union here decided to contribute $5 each from their March pay cheques to help Det. Short's widow and three children. The union has some 90 members.

The Vancouver detective was shot when he went to check out a routine complaint at the waterfront Bayshore Inn.

Ken Calder, president of a large mainland carterage company, said the clause is irregular. It forces a shipper to tell the government what price a trucker has given them; then the government (line) will try to meet it.

The Automotive Transport Association directors will discuss the matter at a forthcoming meeting.

Overridden.

"We've protested when they have done this on previous contracts," he said, "but the protests have been overridden. There's nothing more we can do about it."

Inspector Brooke Douglass of the traffic division said he was receiving their reports later today.

Killed in the car-bicycle collision was 13-year-old Gerald Griffin, 2221 Lydia Street.

An inquest will be held Thursday in McCall's Funeral Chapel at 10 a.m.

Funeral services for the boy will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. at McCall's. Cremation will follow.

A number of witnesses to Tuesday's fatal accident at Pandora and Cook Street have come forward in response to a police appeal.

Bonner, Fulton To Meet Friday

Doukhobors, Power On Ottawa Agenda

Attorney-General Robert Bonner will meet federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton in Ottawa Friday to discuss Sons of Freedom Doukhobor problems, and Columbia River power.

The date was arranged for what a government official here described as "informal talks" on a number of problems relating to the Sons of Freedom and outbreaks of bombing and violence in the Kootenays.

However, the subject of power is almost sure to be discussed too.

LOTS TO SAY

"I don't expect either of them will be longed on the subject," said another top B.C. government official.

He said it would be only natural for Mr. Bonner and Mr. Fulton to talk power as both had been involved in all the negotiations for a treaty with the U.S., and both have acted as spokesmen for their governments on power policies.

B.C. Truckers Fight PGE 'Exclusive'

A spokesman for B.C. truckers today charged the government with discrimination in supplying the giant Peace River power project will be hauled by the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The government disclosed yesterday that the PGE clause is contained in all contracts let for the project by the government-controlled B.C. Electric, which is developing the peace.

William Morris, Vancouver executive secretary of the Automotive Transport Association of B.C., said the clauses which force use of the PGE unless alternate means of transport cost less, are discriminatory.

Overridden.

"We've protested when they have done this on previous contracts," he said, "but the protests have been overridden. There's nothing more we can do about it."

B.C. and Ottawa have held no talks on the Columbia since May 1961, when Premier Bennett had an informal chat with Finance Minister Donald Fleming at a Quebec convention.

NO ANSWER

Mr. Bennett wrote to Mr. Fleming at the start of the current B.C. legislative session asking for another meeting either here or in Ottawa.

But he has received no answer.

Mr. Bennett won't talk to Mr. Fulton at all. However, he may have briefed Mr. Bonner, who left here today, in anticipation of some action on the power impasse.

B.C. wants to sell all the Columbia downstream power benefits to the U.S. on a 20-year contract.

Ottawa is firmly opposed to anything but short-term sale of benefits surplus to B.C. requirements.

On the question of Sons of Freedom, Mr. Bonner is understood to have several proposals to make to Mr. Fulton.

However, a departmental official says there is no plan for dispersal of the Sons of Freedom, as suggested Tuesday by Nelson Mayor Thomas Short.

POLICE COST AID

But Mr. Bonner has said in the past there should be more federal assistance in the problems created by terrorism, particularly aid in extra police costs.

Currently some 50 members of the Sons of Freedom sect are being tried for acts of terrorism, and the Nelson courthouse where some of the trials are being held was recently bombed.

MERGER STUDY

City Fears Distortion At Talkfest

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor R. R. Wilson today denied criticism that city council was taking an obstinate stand against a non-government study of amalgamation prps and cons.

He said any impartial and thorough study of the question would be "worthy of serious consideration."

The mayor's comments were seen as a final attempt to spotlight the fact that city council has not slammed any doors on the subject if a genuine study is proposed.

He said the city could not agree to a mere discussion by intermunicipal committee delegates as another item on their regular agenda because this could not produce an impartial or thorough survey of such a complex question.

Mayor Wilson emphasized that Victoria's primary concern when and if a study is made—is only that it be impartial and complete.

That's the only way to be sure that all ratepayers get the unadulterated facts, directly so they can make up their minds on whether or not amalgamation would benefit or harm them.

DISTORTION FEARED

City spokesmen have studiously avoided making direct implications, but it's obvious one of the reasons they see no point in a "gab session" by elected officials is that vested interests are involved and might distort facts.

Mayor Wilson added that the city would prefer a study of amalgamation under the Municipal Act because it would guarantee impartiality and thoroughness.

But, he added, the city would certainly consider any expert study by the municipalities if a competent chairman was proposed.

"The essential thing to get from any study is all the facts, and this simply can't be done in an informal discussion," he said.

Mayor Wilson also pointed out critics of the city position glossed over the "our rules or no game" stand taken first by opponents of a thorough study.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me who Viscount Molesworth is or if there is any such person? W.W.

A. Charles Richard Molesworth is 10th Viscount Molesworth and Baron Phillips town. The title was created in 1716. The first viscount supported William of Orange and was a prominent member of the Irish privy council. The third viscount saved Marlborough's life at Ramillies and rose to the rank of field-marshal.

Q. What is the oldest cit in the world? P.R.L.

A. Jericho is considered the oldest. Archaeologists have found evidence of habitation there dating from 7,000 B.C.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor, Questions, and answers will be published daily.

'High Priority' For Technical Education Plan

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

A catalogue of new school policies for this year based on recommendations of the Chant Royal Commission was outlined Tuesday in the legislature by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

Emphasis is on technical and vocational education which he said the government has given "high priority."

Plans in this field include:

- A tender call in April for a $5,300,000 B.C. Institute of Technology at Burnaby, and appointment of a principal.
- Additions to Burnaby Vocational School worth $1,700,000.
- A $750,000 building to be added to Nanaimo Vocational School with a tender call in the spring.
- A September opening of a new vocational school at Prince George, worth $2,000,000.
- A construction start "early this year" on new schools worth $2,000,000 in the Kootenay and Okanagan areas.
- Legislation at this session providing vocational program in secondary schools.

The education department is spending a total of $4,905,630, excluding the cost of the buildings, on its tech-voc program, said Mr. Peterson.

Further recommendations of the Chant commission which will go into effect in schools include:

- Legislation changing the present classification of schools from elementary, junior high and senior high units to "elementary" and "secondary" with the split at Grade VIII.

- New "occupational" classes in Grade VIII for students better suited to this type of training than further concentrated academic courses.

- Cuts in the pupil-teacher ratio, allowing provincial salary grants on the basis of one teacher for 38 pupils instead of 30.

- Permanent teaching certificates will not be granted until three years of training are completed beyond Grade XII.

- Sweeping curriculum changes are gradually being introduced in all grades.

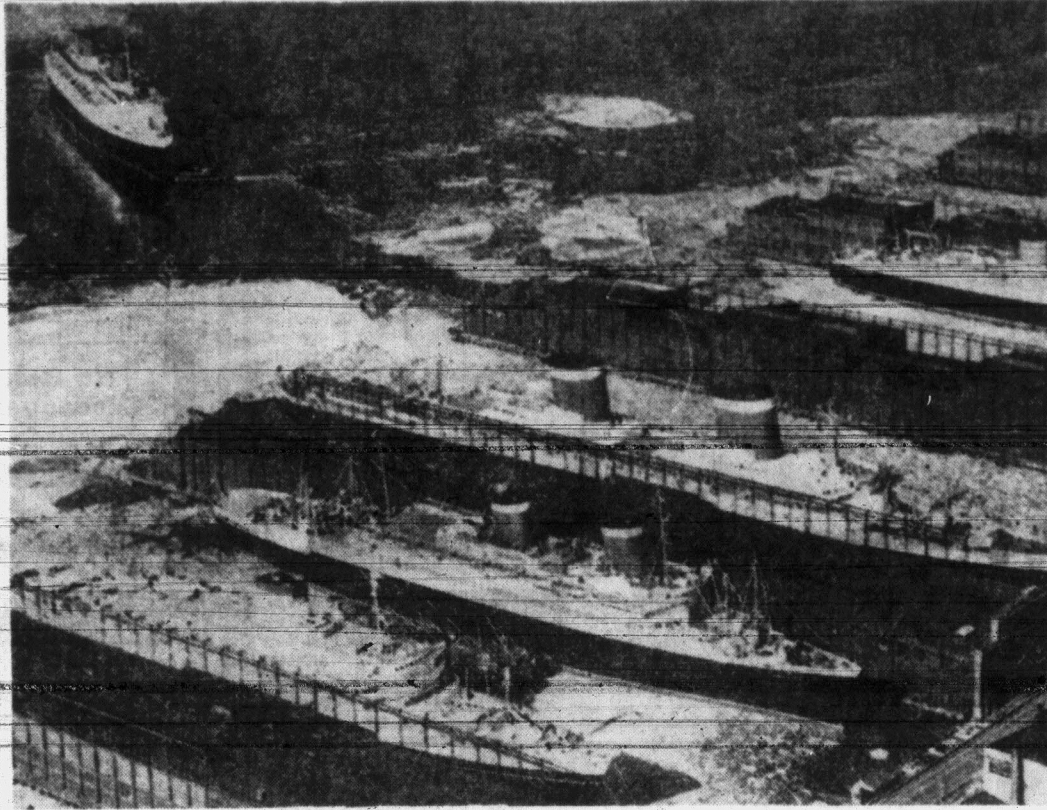

- A "study of aims" for public schools—a basic policy statement—is being prepared.

- A thorough survey of school libraries will be made by the B.C. Library Association.

Mr. Peterson said Cecil Roper, a business administration teacher at University of British Columbia, will be principal of the new institute of technology, which will house 1,500 students.

It will offer 17 programs of two years' study beyond university entrance level. Included are architecture.

Too Early For Summit —JFK, Mac

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan today turned down Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal for a March summit conference, but held the door open to a top-level meeting on disarmament before June 1.

Immediately after delivery of United States and British notes in Moscow, Kennedy told a press conference that "of course I would go to the summit" if such action offered real hope of getting an effective disarmament treaty.

The president said his general view is that "we should climb the summit after preparation at a lower level." An 18-nation disarmament meeting is scheduled to start at Geneva March 14; a report to the United Nations is due by June 1.

In the message he said he is "quite ready to participate personally" when a summit session might help reach an agreement.

But at the outset of negotiations—due to begin at Geneva March 14—the participation of government chiefs "might set back, rather than advance, the cause."

Their Hearts Bleed For Cash, Not Love

LONDON (AP)—More than 1,000 valentine cards poured today into the office of Sir Edward Boyle, financial secretary of the treasury.

The cards came from telephone girls in the government civil service and were not, as the girls made plain, inspired by affection.

Sir Edward is their boss, and they have been dickering with him for months for a pay raise. Said the verses on their valentines:

Sir Edward, do not make me wait
To ascertain my future date.
You've kept me dangling now for ages
With promises of bliss by stages.
A troth was pledged in your name
To meet my just but modest claim.
But still I languish, hope near faded,
Under paid and under graded.

The girls now hold a civil service grade under which the maximum pay is equivalent to $22.40 a week. They want an up-grading which will give them a maximum increase of $1.

Sir Edward said last year he would try to do something for them. Then came a government wage freeze to combat inflation, and the hello girls still are waiting.

New Storm Threatens Space Trip Thursday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A new storm in the western Atlantic today threatened to force a ninth postponement of the orbital flight of United States astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr., now tentatively set for Thursday morning.

Glenn, a marine lieutenant-colonel, had hoped to get off on his long-delayed triple whirl about the world this morning, but a heavy overcast drifting over the boiling Atlantic forced space officials to put it off until 7.30 a.m. EST (4.30 a.m. PST), Thursday, at the earliest. That was the eighth postponement.

However, a weather advisory issued late this morning by the National Space and Aeronautics Administration made about the world this morning, it highly uncertain that the flight would go Thursday.

Rodriguez Heads Reform Institute

HAVANA (UPI)—A veteran Communist, Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, was named today to succeed Premier Fidel Castro as president of the all-powerful National Land Reform Institute.

The announcement, made discreetly through a cabinet statement in morning news papers, created a sensation. Much of Castro's power in Cuba has stemmed from the all-embracing authority vested in him as head of the institute.

The institute, described as a state within a state, controls the Cuban economic machine. Its decisions cannot be challenged. Its powers are exempt from constitutional restrictions.

There was no immediate indication whether the move represented an open government takeover by the Communists or whether it constituted recognition of Rodriguez work in transforming the Cuban economy from a capitalist to a socialist base.

Rodriguez is one of the top five members of the Cuban Communist hierarchy in Cuba. The brief cabinet statement, made without prior fanfare, did not even mention that Rodriguez was taking over a Castro job. The premier has been president of the institute since its organization in 1959, after enactment of Cuba's controversial land reform law.

U.S. HOLDINGS SEIZED
The institute under Castro has ordered and carried out the confiscation of several billion dollars of Cuban and foreign private investment in land and properties. An estimated $1.25 billion in holdings have been confiscated from U.S. corporations or U.S. citizens.

Rodriguez was last seen in public at Punta del Este where he was credited with the overall planning of Cuba's strategy at the Inter-American conference. He has been an open Communist party member since the mid-1930's.

Editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy, Rodriguez also is a professor of culture at Havana University, a leader in the Cuban version of the cominform, the integrated revolutionary organizations, and a director of the National Planning Commission.

Rodriguez has been a recent target of rebel assassination attempts. He had his most narrow escape from death last September in a roadside ambush on a highway between Matanzas and Havana. "He escaped but one of his assailants was slain by bodyguards."

Reds Buzzing In Corridor
BERLIN (AP)—The Russians tried to reserve space in Berlin's air corridors to West Germany again today and buzzed or approached three Western allied planes when the request was refused.

One of the planes buzzed in the corridors carried Sir Christopher Steele, British ambassador to West Germany, on a visit to Berlin, officials said.

'JUDAS' CHARGES JUDGE

(See Earlier Page 34)

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Fred Davidoff, 38-year-old convicted terrorist, was called a "Judas" by special assize court Judge Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan today and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

In all, Davidoff, Sons of Freedom Doukhobor and father of five, will serve 28 years. The 20-year term invoked on Davidoff's conviction in the blowing up of government machinery at Winlaw, will be served consecutively with an eight-year term imposed earlier for bombing a railway track at Thrums in the West Kootenays.

Mr. Justice Sullivan told Davidoff he was a Judas who had betrayed others; that he was a dangerous man and should be isolated in prison and denied all visiting privileges.

The sentencing provoked a noisy demonstration among Sons of Freedom Doukhobors who crowded the courtroom.

Algerian Moslems In Riot

(Times News Services)
ALGIERS — French troops and riot police fired on rioting Algerian Moslem mobs trying to invade the European sector of Oran today after 44 dawn bomb attacks by terrorists in the Arab quarters.

The security forces also used concussion and tear gas grenades during the series of clashes in the west Algerian port city, a stronghold of the extremist Secret Army Organization which has sworn to keep Algeria French. The bombings were blamed on the OAS.

Shortly after noon, the police chief clamped a strict curfew on the Arab sectors of the city. Only security forces were permitted to move into the districts where intermittent bursts of machine gun fire and exploding grenades could be heard far into the afternoon.

Police said nine Algerians were killed and eight wounded in the shootings. An army lieutenant was killed and another lieutenant and four soldiers injured.

The casualties brought the day's toll in Oran and Algiers alone to 15 dead and 23 wounded, and the unofficial 1962 toll to 808 dead and 1,420 wounded.

Officials said they believed the secret army staged its "plastic offensive" as an advance warning to Moslems, who were rumored to be planning demonstrations in Oran Thursday.

FINAL BULLETINS

Glasgow Rangers Knocked Out of Cup

GLASGOW (AP)—Standard Liege, Belgian soccer champions, gained the semifinals of the European Cup today by defeating Glasgow Rangers 4-3 in the aggregate of two matches. Liege won the first leg 4-1 last week and lost the second 2-0 tonight.

Ina Hansen Wins B.C. Curling Crown

PENTICTON (CP)—The Ina Hansen rink of Kimberley today won the British Columbia women's curling championship with a 7-3 victory over Joyce Smart of Kelowna.

Flora Martin of Victoria defeated Joy Mitchell of Kitimat 8-7.

Czechs Beat 'Spurs 1-0 in First Game

PRAGUE (AP)—Dukla of Prague today defeated Tottenham Hotspur of England 1-0 in the first leg of their two-game European Soccer Cup quarter-finals match.

Real Madrid Wins Against Turin

Fire Guts Block in Ontario Town

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Fire licked through a downtown business block today, destroying a drug store, a barber shop and four apartments. Damage was estimated between $75,000 and $100,000. Tenants of the apartments escaped without injury.

Fooferaw Over Bill for Anthems

NANAIMO—A bill sent to Nanaimo Civic Properties and Recreation Commission, apparently representing royalties for the playing of "God Save the Queen" and "O Canada" at the Civic Arena, was all a misunderstanding.

W. S. Low, Toronto, general manager of the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada Ltd., said Tuesday night that "we as an association have not billed, will not bill, and will never bill anybody anywhere at any time for the performance in public of "God Save the Queen."

There is a copyright version of "O Canada," he said, "but we don't deal with that either."

An uproar started with the commission here reported having received, on two occasions, bills from CAPAC for $18. It was understood the charge was made for the playing of the anthems at sports events. Mr. Low said CAPAC never specifies titles, but collects a flat government approved quarter-annual fee from arenas for copyrighted works, based on seating capacities.

He said it was possible that the Nanaimo commission had received an inquiry from his association field staff as to what music was played at sporting events at the arena.

Mr. Low said that if no answer was received from the commission, his field staff might have billed the commission anyway, based on what the association was informed was done.

He said that method was used at times to "flush out" information that was not otherwise forthcoming.

It is possible, he said, that if the commission played only God Save the Queen and O Canada, they assumed that the bill was for those two songs.

He said that if an arena returns an inquiry stating that only God Save the Queen or O Canada is played, no bills are sent.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

FEBRUARY 14

The sneak thief caught in McKay's saloon Jan. 17, and the suspicious character nabbed in the police magistrate's office Feb. 2, were among a small group of convicts released from the chain gang on the understanding they get out of the country.

Means of transportation was provided by the British ship True Briton, which signed the men on as crew, having failed to shanghai anyone from Port Townsend. (See Feb. 13.)

Hibben and Carswell offer a good supply of anonymous love missives appropriate to Valentine's Day.

Preparations got under way for the much-needed dredging of Shoal Point, which has caught so many ships attempting to enter the Inner Harbor.

Safety Stamp Book

SAFETY STAMPS are being given away at B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill at Crofton to workers who spend month on job without accident. At year's end they will be exchanged for turkeys and other prizes. Eddie Jobs, machine tender, already has started saving. Mill has been proclaimed safest in Canada, and presentation of B.C. Safety Council shield was made this week. (Agnes Flett Photo.)

Loggers Want Cut In Travelling Time

Loggers of the IWA have passed a resolution calling for reduced travelling time on company property.

Present contracts allow a maximum of 10 hours' travel for which the worker receives no pay, so that he could spend 18 hours on company property and receive wages for only eight.

Also approved were 20 other resolutions to be presented to the IWA conference in Vancouver in early March. These include reduced working hours and across the board pay increases.

Earl Kemps, Olli Rajala, Nick Chernoff and Jack Mack will attend the IWA conference to present the resolution.

'Other Half' Of Schools Gets Holiday

Southern Vancouver Island school children, who missed a holiday last Friday during the Greater Victoria School Teachers' Convention, will get one this Friday when the South Vancouver Island Teachers' Association two-day convention opens in Nanaimo.

Some 800 elementary and secondary school teachers from the districts of Sooke, Saanich, Gulf Islands, Cowichan, Lake Cowichan, Ladysmith and Parksville-Qualicum will take part. Teachers from Indian and parochial schools also have been invited.

Guest speaker at the opening session on Friday will be Dr. E. N. Ellis of the Vancouver school system. His address will be entitled "The Assumptions and Consequences of Objective Examinations."

Sectional meetings will take place all day Friday on such topics as industrial arts changes, Culinaire mathematics, the common market and school drama.

Guest speakers from Victoria will include Dr. C. L. Lamberton from the English department at Victoria College; V. E. Rikard, inspector of technical classes; H. M. Evans, registrar in the department of education, and C. Gueist of the Provincial Museum.

Saturday will be devoted to general business. Speakers at this session will include H. M. Palsdon, first vice-president, and Stanley Evans, assistant general secretary of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Mr. Salter, president of the IWA, has passed a resolution calling for reduced travelling time on company property.

'He Deserved To Be Shot'

Hunters who dress like deer deserve to be shot, the legislature was told Tuesday.

Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale) related the tale of the complaining buckskin-clad rider he met in the Kootenays.

He and his sons were out hunting when they spotted a moose at a distance.

"One of my boys was anxious to shoot. I sure looked like a moose. But I told him to wait."

"Then this old horse comes trotting along, and the man on his back had a buckskin coat on."

Mr. Corbett said he ticked off the rider, who told him that strangely enough someone had potted a shot at him the day before.

"He should have been shot," said Mr. Corbett.
